Great Western Adds More Leavenworth Street Buildings to Purchases.

WILL EXTEND TRACT OF TERMINALS

Houses Just Bought Are Being Removed at Once and New Ones Built When Grade is Made.

The Chicago Great Western is acquiring additional ground for its terminal south of Leavenworth street. In the last day or two five frame houses have been bought from Richard and W. W. Bingham and Charles Callahan, this being the property of the railway company to fifty feet of Leavenworth street for the entire distance from Sixteenth to Seventeenth streets. The object of this move is to give the company free access to Sixteenth and to Leavenworth streets without making necessary the use of the viaduct.

The remaining strip of Leavenworth street frontage, with the one and two-story buildings which stand there, is the property of Theodore Stindl, and it is understood the corporation has offered him $3,000 for the saloon, a two-story frame building, at the Sixteenth street corner. Mr. Stindl is said to have made a return proposition of $4,000. He declined to affirm or deny this rumor, but seemed to think the company would be unwilling to pay his valuation for the property, at least, for the present.

The houses will be sold and removed within a week or ten days by the McCaskey Investment company, local agents for the Great Western, and the graders are preparing to begin work at once in extending the filling and bringing the new strip up to the level of the company's tract south of it.

One Colored Strike Breaker Beats Another One Out of All His Earnings.

Harry Wellmaker, a colored strike breaker from the south, says he has met with nothing but trouble since he came north to find employment in a packing house. During his service in the abattoir he sought the companionship of one William Jameson, another man of color, also from the southland and a strike breaker. Wellmaker says he placed the fullest confidence in Jameson, even sharing his room at night and sleeping with him with the lamp extinguished. Jameson, he thought, was the embodiment of all that was upright and good. But now Wellmaker would not trust Jameson further than he could throw an elephant by the tail. Wellmaker told his story at the police station.

Wellmaker said by dint of frugality he managed to save up $30, which he entrusted to Jameson, whom he thought better able than himself to guard money. Thursday afternoon, while Wellmaker was working on a beef in the packing plant, a messenger boy came to him with a telegram which read:

"Harry: Come home at once. Aunt Polly low. Fred."

Polly was an aunt of Wellmaker's and had raised him from infancy. Wellmaker was anxious to return and so told Jameson, who said he would go to his room and get the $30 and return instant. Meanwhile Wellmaker quit his job and waited for Jameson to return, but Jameson did not return. Wellmaker waited long and finally concluded Jameson had lost himself in the underbrush somewhere. Wellmaker then notified the police, who now are looking for Jameson. Meanwhile Wellmaker's aunt is dying and he is anxious to get back to the scenes of his childhood.

PEABODY PIVOT OF STRIKE

Governor's Re-Election or Defeat Will Fix Course in Colorado, Says Representative Harmon.

"Upon the coming election in Colorado depends the future peace and quiet of the state."

This is in substance the assertion made by State Representative W. J. Harmon of Saunders county at the Murray hotel this morning. Mr. Harmon has a mine near the scene of the recent disturbances and makes frequent trips to Colorado to look after the property. When asked regarding the present situation in the west he said:

"Everything depends upon the election. If Governor Peabody is re-elected the strike is settled for all time and unionism is blotted out of the state; if his opponent is successful the strike will be prolonged and the troubles in Colorado probably will continue indefinitely. I was in Independence at the time of the explosion of a train there, and I tell you it was pretty bad. The hole which the explosive made in the ground was as big as the building which it wrecked and thirteen people were torn to fragments by the dynamite."

"Who was responsible for that disaster?" "Well, the mine owners charge the work to the strikers and the strikers declare it was done by the other side to create sympathy against the men."

"How do people look upon the action of Governor Peabody?" "Some think he went farther than was necessary and used drastic measures, but the people knew that something had to be done, and they have generally upheld his course of action."

"What is the sentiment regarding the prospects of Peabody's re-election?" "It depends upon the locality. Outside of Denver there is a sentiment that he will be elected by an overwhelming majority. In Denver he has pitted against him Senator Patterson, who controls two of the newspapers there, and he also has been the attorney for the federation. Naturally the sentiments of the miners are with Hughes, the democratic candidate, who is making a strong run."

When asked if he would be a candidate for re-election from Saunders county, Mr. Harmon said:

"I am not a candidate for re-election. I have told my constituents that I do not want the office another term, but I have been informed by my friends that they want me to run."

PALACES RUN ON WHEELS

Senator Clark Says He Will Startle West with His New Trains.

Eight or nine trains of palatial coaches, rivaling in splendor the equipment of anything now operated between Chicago and the coast, is soon to become a feature of the railroad service east and west of Omaha.

This is one of the plans of Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, who is building the line known as the Salt Lake route. The line will be ready for through trains in a few months and it is the boast of Senator Clark that he will introduce a system of through trains which, in point of elegance, will surpass anything of the kind now in the west.

Senator Clark is on his way to the east and passed through Omaha. He has been in conference at Salt Lake with officials and stockholders of the new road, and as the result of that meeting it was decided to buy at once the equipment necessary to put on a through service between Chicago and Los Angeles.

"While it will be two years before the trains of the San Pedro can reach the coast over its own tracks, connections will be completed in about two months with the Santa Fe at Dargert and these tracks will be used until the new line is completed," said the senator. "The senator said he expected to close contracts in the east for equipping the road. When asked if it were true that the Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line and the Northwestern would handle the trains between Chicago and the coast, he said the matter was not definitely settled, but that negotiations were pending with this end in view. He added: "The coaches will be the finest ever run

OMNIBUS CENSUS REPORT

New System Got Up by Uncle Sam to Include About Every Thing.

George H. Oiler, a special agent of the United States census bureau at Washington, is in the city collecting statistics for a new kind of report hereafter to be issued annually, the first number to appear this fall. The report is to include statistics of every character, from all cities of any considerable size in the United States. The matter of population, of course, is not gone into further than the last general census, but figures concerning finances, births, deaths, marriages, divorces, and social statistics of all kinds; concerning municipal improvements, such as paving, sewers, sidewalks, buildings, etc.; municipal utilities, fire and police departments and the like, are to be gone into fully. The work began August 15, when twenty-seven agents were sent out to different parts of the country to gather the information for 1903.

TRUANT PIGS CAUSE THE FUSS

Swine Refuse to Stay at Home and Neighbors Are Involved in Federal Court Trial.

James Millray was dismissed in United States Commissioner Anderson's court from the charge of interfering with one of the packing house employes in violation of the injunction order issued out of the United States circuit court. Millray was arrested on the charge of assaulting one William Gibson, it being alleged in the complaint that the assault grew out of the fact that Gibson remained in the employ of the packers.

BURLESQUE ON THE PIKE

Show to Be Given by Omaha Girl, Imitating Her Observations at St. Louis.

Miss Nannie Christensen, an Omaha girl, spent two weeks at the St. Louis fair and on returning home has put her observations to good use. She devised an entertainment for the Christian Endeavor society of the Clifton Hill Presbyterian church for last night at 1622 Military avenue. The program was in the nature of a burlesque on the Pike at the fair and was prepared with great skill. Various amusements and tribes and races were represented, all with the idea of creating laughs.

TRICK OF THE INDEPENDENTS

Telephone Rate Ordinance Arouses Suspicion of Huntington, Who Opposes Dual System.

Councilman Huntington is authority for the statement that the telephone rate reduction ordinance is being used as a maneuver by one or more of the independent telephone companies seeking franchises in the city.

"If you will watch developments you will see that this is the case," says Huntington. "I, for one, stand flatly against another telephone system. I think, however, that the whole matter will be worked out all right."

As to the details of the final conclusions Mr. Huntington was reticent.
