Leaders. TEBEAU'S PETS DO NOT GET A LOOK IN

Maupin, McNeeley, Villeman, Hostetter, Kenna, Vollendorf, Cable and Pop Eyler Are Easy Marks for Rangers.

Colorado Springs may now return the hoots which arose from Denver when the Millionaires dropped those five straight games in Omaha a few weeks ago, for Denver, the leaders at present, has re peated the act.

The little boy on the center field fance says it's as easy for Omaha to knock the out of a ball team from Colo- played rado as it is for a bird to fly and it must so, for out of the last eighteen games played in Omaha with these two teams Omaha won fifteen of them. This leaves the series of thirty games for the season between Omaha and Denver-that outfit was going to make Omaha look like thirty cents-18 to 12 in favor of Omaha.

Pa's achievement in these last five games looms up all the more brilliantly when those eight star twirlers his team vanquished pin, Villeman, Kenna, McNeeley, Cable, Vollendorf, Hostetter and old Pop Eyleronce Omaha's jonah, now its biggest snap, At the close of the same yesterday afternoon, when the little boy on the center field fence told Pa to jot it down. Pa felt as happy as a 12-year-old boy with a new pair of stilts. And over in one of the

These have been glad days for Pa Rourke and when he got down to the store last evening the boys made him get up on a molasses barrel and say a few words befitting the occasion. And the little boy on the fence brought his sister down to the store to have a look at Pa and his

The Omaha players jumped in at the start and landed on Pop Eyler for three hits and as many runs. Buck Thiel opened the fifth prize package received from Denver by sending a two-bagger right over third base, reached third on Eyler's wild pitch and scored when Howard made a three-base hit. Then Welch walked the primrose path to first, Dolan-made a bunt ift, but beat it to first, Braun falling down on his way to get the bunt. While Dolan was getting to first Howard scored and Welch reached third. Thomas went out at first and Welch ran to the plate on the play. In the second iming Thiel, Carter and Sanders made hits, but failed to cash them in.

That Lucky Seventh.

The score stood three to nothing until the lucky seventh inning, when Pa told obedient ones to make a few more fust to rub it in a bit. Thiel made a hit that carried him to first. Carter followed with a bunt which was fielded by Lucia, who hesitated with the ball, not knowing whether to catch Carter at first or Thiel who was then stealing third base, with Kelly looking at him, too. Lucia threw the ball to third, but Thiel, as usual, eached third two hours before the ball. Carter ran to second on that play. This looked well to Pa and Hallman chewed some more cud and Howard was equal to the emergency and sent one out to right field, reaching first and bringing in Thiel and Carter. Welch then sacrificed and Howard was caught trying to steal third

The Denver bunch made one run, in this wise: Braun came to bat in the eighth inhit for his team. Smith followed with a fly that dropped into Welch's hands and down to the ground. Smith made first on the error and Braun traveled from second to third. White followed with a hit and Braun scored. That is the story of how Denver escaped another shutout at the hands of Omaha. Howard shut off a second run in the eighth by a fine double play, catching White running between first and second and throwing the ball to Thomas, who caught Ketcham, making the third out and shutting out a run for Smith, who went in on the play. Thomas figured in a little circus act in the seventh inning. Hayes went to first on an error by Schipke, who threw wild to Thomas. The ball rolled away from first base and Hayes was about to take advantage of the error by raising the dust n the direction of second base, but stumbled about twenty feet from first. Thomas was on his way for the ball. He turned around and, seeing Hayes on the ground, made a feint to throw the ball to first, although he had not yet found the little sphere. The ruse worked like a charm, for Hayes picked himself up with neatness and dispatch and hiked back to first. Meanwhile Thomas had the ball on its way to the front, Carter having sneaked down and got it. Hayes could have reached third on the error had he just kept on Yesterday's crowd was an unusually enthusiastic one, even for ladies' day. Manager Hallman of Denver had for his guests Harry Ferguson and Harry Elvin Mack of the "Finnegan's Ball" company and J. F. McCabe of the Orpheum circuit.

This afternoon the St. Joseph team will appear on the Vinton street grounds and will play a double-header for one admission and also on Sunday afternoon, the firsa game to be called at 2:30 p. m. Attendance, 2,000. The score:

training school for the Cornhuskers, and out of the two dosen men in the squad yesterday more than hair played originally at that institution. Three of the new men from the high school, Barwick, Kimmeli and Munn, are exhibiting form that is especially promising, and Barwick already is a formidable candidate for quarterback, which position he filled at the high school for three years.

Booth brought no candidates with him from the east, as some of the rectors had anticipated. He is a strong opponent of the policy of drumming up foot ball players from the academies and preparatory schools, declaring that new men should come up to the higher institutions of their own accord and that any other system tends to degrade foot ball and place it on the plane of horse racing and other questionable sports. Grand Island Wins Two. Grand Island Wins Two.

NORTH LOUP, Neb., Sept. 18.—(Special Telegram.)—On Monday and Tuesday two fast games of base ball were played here between the Grand Island and North Loup teams, and although the home team lost both games ,the visitors had a hard earned victory. Tuesday's game was nearly a shutout for the visitors, but in the eighth inning a lucky hit sent the ball out in the field and it was lost among the weeds, thus making one home run. Squad.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 16.—(Special.)—
"Bummy" Booth, Nebraska's foot ball
coach, strode onto the Nebraska campus yesterday and took active charge of the Cornhuskers' practice. It was Booth's initial appearance of the season. Booth does all of his coaching attired in regulation foot ball togs and there is nothing fancy about his course of instruction.
Players whose form does not suit the coach
are taken in hand and given a practical illustration of what their tutor desires;
mere theory has no part in his curriculum.
Booth found that his assistant, ex-Captain Westover, had been drilling the squad in the usual preliminary stunts and he followed the same program, only lengthening the cross country run at the end of practice until it mensured three miles.
Scrimmage work will not be attempted until next week, as most of the players are still soft of muscle and short of wind.
The first game, that against Grand Isiand, will not be played until a week from Saturday, and Booth will delay scrimmaging until the last possible moment. Grand Island is considered an easy proposition and if his pupils are able to run four or five touchdowns in two short halves Booth
will be satisfied.

Twenty-five men were out when Booth took charge and this number, according to the estimate of Manager Davis, should be doubled by the first of next week when registration begins in earnest at the university. So far only four veterans of last year's aggregation have appeared for practice, but two or three and possibly four,
will likely be added to the roll within a -few days. Booth was well impressed by the form shown by several of the green men.

Captain Benedict's punting was of such a high class that Booth was enthused and hastened to extend his congratulations and approval of Benedict's zeal by practicing so assiduously during the summer vacation. On his present form Benedict should have a strong edge over almost every ficker he opposes during the season.

One feature of the practice was particularly pleasing to the coach. This was the showing of Mills, the 250-pound giant, who is the biggest man ever donning a foot ball suit on the Nebraska campus. The giant was given a workout at the center position. Booth had Mills snap the ball, while the coach charged into Mills as if he were in the opposing lineup. Booth's object was to test how solidly Mills stood on his feet and whether the new man was as capable of resisting a charge as his tremendous frame would indicate. Booth can play center some, as that was his position on two of Princeton's championship teams, but the coach found the new man a hard nut to crack. Mills stood his ground splendidly and he slammed Booth back as if the latter were a mere plaything. Mills' showing tickied Booth immensely and if the newcomer can but imaster the tricks of the position he should make a formidable center.

Lincoin High school, winner of the Nebraska interscholastic championship for the past several seasons, has sent its usual quota of players to the 'varsity this season, and practically every man is considered good material by Booth. Lincoin High school is becoming a tremendous aid as a Healan Third race, class C, pacing: Mary Mon-day, s. m., J. Hishop; Robert, b. g., O. S. Milligan; Dandy Sim, s. g., O. H. P.
