At the Playhouses. "Finnigan's Ball" at the Krug. A big company, headed by Edward F. Barrett and J. J. Gallagher, is presenting "Finnigan's Ball" at the Krug for the last half of the week. This well known name is flourished over a lot of new stuff this time, and the stuff is presented by a sprightly lot of comedians, singers and dancers. Miss Mayme Taylor is the prima donna of the troupe, and she sings several songs very well. Fred Wilson and Fannie Trumbull also contribute much to the vocal work, and Wilson gives a monologue that is well received. Several concerted numbers are well put on, among them a song and dance supposed to be juvenile, in which a lot of very mature nether limbs are recklessly exposed by the owners, who appear garbed in white gowns supposed to go with innocent childhood. The large audience that assembled last night was kept in a continuous uproar of laughter by the antics and jokes on the stage. The company will be at the Krug the rest of the week.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Building Boom on Twenty-Sixth Street Started by the Viaduct.

SEVERAL PROPOSITIONS ARE TAKING FORM

Various Interested Are Anxious that Obsolete Structures Be Removed to Lessen the Fire Risk.

Since the completion of the viaduct across the tracks at O street, a number of building projects have been put on foot. A contract was let by S. S. Goldstrom yesterday to Dan Hanson for the grading of the property at the southeast corner of Twenty-sixth and O streets. On this ground three brick store buildings will be constructed. This new building will have a frontage of seventy-five feet on O street and a depth of fifty feet on Twenty-sixth street. The understanding is that grading is to commence at once and be completed as soon as possible, in order that the foundations may be laid before the frost gets into the ground very deep. Plans are being completed for a brick store building to be erected on Twenty-sixth street a short distance north of O street on the east side. This building is to be two stories in height and is to be erected by Otto Stenness of Omaha. As persons have not been secured for either of the buildings mentioned, the cost cannot be given at this time. City Engineer Be A has been requested to set stakes for grading and this is as far as the city officials have any information on the subject.

Those who have purchased property in the vicinity of Twenty-sixth and O streets are already complaining about the frame building on the west side of Twenty-sixth street, between N and O streets. These buildings were put up in early days, and some of them look as if they were almost ready to fall down. A movement is to be made to have the city officials order an inspection of these old buildings with a view to condemnation. "Well, there is no complaint about the tenements in these buildings, those who are building say that insurance rates are higher on account of the proximity of these old frame structures. A number of other property owners on O street are making preparations to build in the spring.

Railroad Avenue Paving. Street car rails, extending from railroad tracks in Alibi right to the new car tracks laid on Blair and avenue have been completed. Over these temporary tracks vitrified brick for the paving of the avenue and South Twenty-fourth street will be hauled direct to the pavers. It is understood that as soon as paving commences 30,000 cubic ft a day can easily be supplied, as the brick for once work is now in the Council Bluffs. By loading from steam cars to motor cars the contractors say that a great deal of time and money can be saved in the handling of the brick. The street railway company expects to complete the laying of its double track from Twenty-fourth and Q streets to the Sargey co. way line by Saturday night. While the track will not be ready for service by this time, the track will be ready for asphalt and concrete.

Bank Secures Property. The Farmers National bank has secured by purchase the property on B street immediately adjoining the bank on the east. The purchase was really made early in the spring, but owing to minor heirs to a small portion of this realty living in the east, it was necessary to appeal to the courts for a property title. This title has been granted and the transfer was made yesterday. As it is getting so late in the season the bank will not attempt at this time to construct an addition to the bank building. While plans are drawn for a new building the present frame building now on the property just acquired will be permitted to remain until spring. Then the bank will construct a brick structure similar to the present bank building. By throwing both buildings together the bank will be given much more room for the transaction of its rapidly increasing business.

Police Men Getting Anxious. Rumors of changes to be made in the regular police department are to be heard on the streets these days. The police commissioners are not giving out any information for publication beyond the fact that some changes are contemplated. In view of the rumors some of the officers now on duty, force have decided to look for other positions. The men who propose quitting about the first of the month, unless they are discharged first, are some of the old men on the force, and have always been considered officers of discretion and nerve.

Police Arrest Deserter. Thursday afternoon Detective Elfelder arrested Ellsworth Dodd, who admits having deserted from the regular army while stationed at Fort Russell, Wyo. At the time of the arrest Dodd was working at the Swift plant and was going under the name of George Smith. When put in the street box at police headquarters last night, the prisoner gave his right name and said that his home was at Greencastle, Ind. He asserts that he was under age when he enlisted and is not yet of age. Officers at Fort Crook have been notified and are expected to take charge of Dodd today.

Doctors Mistaken in Diagnosis. On Tuesday William Wood, employed at the yards, was brought as a patient to Dr. Thomas Kelly and Dr. William Berry. Woods displayed pimples and black spots on his face and he was declared by the two physicians to have the smallpox. At the request of the doctors Woods was sent to the emergency hospital. Yesterday Dr. John Koutsky, the city physician, called at the hospital, and he declared that Woods did not have the smallpox. Dr. Koutsky took Woods in his buggy to his office and summoned Dr. E. R. Towne, of the state health board, and Dr. W. L. Curtis of this city. The three physicians looked the patient over and asserted that he is not afflicted with smallpox. The city physician gave Woods a few pills and told him to go home, as there was no occasion for his having been sent to the emergency hospital.

HIGH WATER AT BROWNSVILLE

Greater Part of the Texas Town Under Water—Damage is Enormous.

LAREDO, Tex., Sept. 16—A prominent railway official in this city states that a private telegram brought by courier and then transmitted by telephone from a town on the line of the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico railroad is to the effect that the high waters of the Rio Grande have played havoc in the vicinity of Brownsville. According to his informant, many houses and buildings along the river bank and in the low-lying territory have been swept away. The yards of the St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico road are covered with water and a train which was standing in the yards over night is submerged to half its height.

The station and yards of the road are located within three blocks of the business part of town, and in view of the information above stated, property has undoubtedly suffered severely and perhaps loss of life has ensued as a result of the flood.

All means of communication with Brownsville is interrupted.

MURDER AT OSKALOOSA, IOWA

Seventeen-Year-Old Boy Shoots a Farmer Twice in the Back.

OSKALOOSA, Ia., Sept. 16—Jimmy Seibert, a 17-year-old farm boy, this evening murdered a man named Nelson near Oskaloosa in a spirit of frenzied determination to avenge an alleged assault upon his sister some months ago by an organ salesman named Charles Carpenter, Carpenter, who was convicted of the assault, is out on bonds pending action of the supreme court in his appeal, drove into Seibert's farm yard this evening, accompanied by Nelson, an innocent farm hand. Women of the Seibert family became hysterical when they saw Carpenter. The father shot a shotgun and began firing at Carpenter, and Jimmy Seibert started after Nelson, who ran down the highway, where Carpenter eluded the father; but the son jumped into a buggy and chased Nelson until he overtook him and shot him in the back twice, killing him. The boy is now under arrest.

WOMAN IN CLUB AND CHARITY

After an investigation of the industrial work and its needs at the Tenth Street City mission by its committee, the local Woman's Christian Temperance union decided on Wednesday afternoon to continue the sewing and boys' classes and mothers' meetings there and an appropriation of $15 a month was made for their support. Miss Nellie Magee is to continue in charge of the classes. Two delegates, Mrs. E. L. Wood and Mrs. Rood, were elected to the state Woman's Christian Temperance union convention to be held at Lincoln, October 19 to 25, and these delegates were instructed to vote against the raising of the state dues to the national organization from 10 to 25 cents per capita. They were also instructed to pledge not more than $50 to the state work from the local union as its year's contribution. No instruction was given regarding the vote for the substitution of the county institute for the district meeting, the delegates to be guided by their own judgment after the discussion.

As the union has not yet made a donation to the World's fair ice water fountain fund, it was voted to pay $10 and also that the union should order year books for all of its members that each may be informed of the work and courses of study of the state organization.

Beginning with the next meeting ten minutes of each session will be devoted to discussion of current temperance events, this plan having been adopted that the members might keep in touch with what is being accomplished generally along temperance lines.

September 23 will be observed by the union as children's harvest home. Exercises will be held at the First Presbyterian church at 4 o'clock and the children of several of the downtown Sunday schools and the Pupils of Central, Farmam, Cass and Leavenworth schools and of Tenth Street mission will be invited to attend. The donations of the children will be sent to the Old People's home. An interesting program is being prepared for the children.

The local Young Women's Christian association will open its gospel meetings for the winter October 2, when it is expected a large meeting will be held. The first of the month will see the opening of all of the work, and there is to be more classes than ever this year. The schedule of the educational committee includes dates for classes in literature, current topics, English, shorthand, German, dress-making, millinery and music. Mrs. Byers' Bible classes will study the history of the Jewish people Tuesday afternoons and Friday evenings, beginning October 11. There will be general committee meetings the second and third weeks of this month. Friday evening there is to be a rally of the members of South branch. A special meeting for planning the winter's work and for special prayer will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Monday evening, September 19, there will be a rally of the gymnasium classes. The annual Bible rally will be held Sunday, October 2, at 4:30 o'clock. October 10 the association will hold its annual opening reception in the school rooms. All of the class work will open Tuesday evening, October 11, and the same date has been set for the formal opening of South branch for the winter.

The probator department of the juvenile court of the city of Denver has issued a booklet entitled, "The Problems of the Children, and How the State of Colorado Cares for Them." In the first four chapters Judge Ben Lindsey of the Denver juvenile court writes of the law governing that court, and of its work. Aside from this, the book includes a general history of the work in Colorado, all of which would be especially helpful to the women of Nebraska in their effort to secure a similar institution for their own state. Judge Lindsey's address at the state federation next month will be among the chief features of the program.

The annual demonstration for peace, appointed annually for May 15, was postponed this year until October 8. A letter has been issued by Mrs. May Wright Sewell, chairman of the peace and arbitration committee of the International Council of Women, in regard to preparation for demonstrations, which it is hoped will be held in every community.

Forty-four patients, 24 visits and nearly 400 spent was the report of the Visiting Nurses for the month ending September 15, made at yesterday afternoon's meeting. In addition to these patients, four have been sent to hospitals and there have been three deaths. Services of extra nurses were required forty-three days of the month.
