ALLY TWO MORE FOR PAPA

Rourke Rangers Jerk Double-Header Away from St. Joe.

JACK PFEISTER PITCHES NO-HIT GAME

Lets Saints Down Without Anything, and Quick Serves Them Little Better in the Second Spasm.

Once more Pa wins twice! 8 to 0 and 7 to 1.

And Jack Pfeister laid down a new record for the modern Western league—a no hit, shutout game.

It happened yesterday afternoon on the Vinton street base ball grounds, where the Omaha and St. Joseph teams met and had it out with Mr. Kelly of Samokin as moderator. And such a time as Pa's kids did have. It made glad the hearts of the 8,000 fans who had congregated to see Pa make a few more grabs for the pennant and it caused the little boy on the center field fence to run home and tell his mamma that Pa Rourke and his cannibals were the best ever. The Igorrotes, he said, are not in it. It was two fine shows for one price of admission and every one went home feeling life was worth living after all.

The first game was a personal triumph for Jack Pfeister, the Saints failing to make even one hit. Even the oldest inhabitant, who was in the grand stand with his family, could not remember the last time he had seen a game of base ball played in Omaha when one of the teams did not make one hit. But yesterday afternoon he said his declining years had been cheered by the peerless Pfeister, who pitched a no-hit game. And although four men did walk to first, one went on an error and another by being hit by a pitched ball, they all were left on bases, making a complete shutout for Pa's boys.

Quick King in Second Game.

The second game, which Umpire Kelly called at the end of the seventh inning, out of the fullness of his heart, to suspend the agony, yielded but three hits and one run for the men from Missouri.

Eleven hits, three sacrifices, three walks and an occasional lift along the way by six errors made by Captain Webster's warriors, is the way the Rangers made eight runs in the first game. For the first three innings Pa received horse collars in the run column, but in the fourth the little boy on the fence put a bug in Pa's left ear and then the fur began to fly with every Omaha player to bat in the inning, although Pfeister did not have his bat out, Gonding making the third out while trying to steal second.

Thiel began the bombardment by picking his way to first on McBride's error, and going to second on an error by Garvin. Nick Carter gave the ball a jolt and was next seen on first base. Thiel scored on a hit by Howard, and Welch, the patriotic boy that he is, sacrificed himself for his country's sake. A single by Dolan brought in Carter and Howard. Then Schipke walked, Gonding hit and Dolan scored. In the fifth Thiel made a hit, pilfered a base and scored on Howard's hit. The sixth and seventh was a little breathing spell for the Rourke comedians, but in the eighth they took on a new lease of life and made it eight runs just for old time's sake or to please the little boy on the fence. In the eighth Dolan walked and ran in when Schipke made a hit. Schipke crossed the plate on a home run by Gonding, who sent the ball out into center field. Several of the Saints made a sprint for the ball, which rolled to the fence. There was some difficulty in finding the ball in a crevice near the fence and Gonding managed to leave the third base before the ball was on its way to the plate.

Gonding Gets the Glad Hand.

Johnny Gonding ran the bases as if he had ahead-of-time orders in his pocket. When he touched the plate he was greeted with the wildest kind of enthusiasm and the little boy wanted his autograph.

Belden, the first man up in the first game, struck out and "sassed" Umpire Kelly. Belden sat on the bench for the rest of the game and his place in left field was taken by Weisser.

The Webster soldiers started the second game in a manner that suggested some firm intention by sending out two hits and bringing in one run. One hit was their record for the rest of the game. Their day-dream was short lived. The first inning of the second game was nearly a repetition of the fourth of the first game for the Rangers, who went to bat eight strong, taking four runs from the pie counter. Carter caused the people to ask what kind of breakfast food he ate by stealing four bases in the second game. Nick also touched the ball for three safe hits in the second and ran to the plate twice with impunity.

In short the second game showed that Mr. Quick was too much like his name, for the visitors and that Elder Clark, who did the work in the box for the Saints, was being touched with regularity, so Umpire Kelly, who has a heart as large as a bass drum, called the game at the end of the seventh and told the boys to come back this afternoon and play again.

Apropos of the opening of the local vaudeville season the St. Joseph players and Umpire Kelly performed a neat little stunt in the first inning, when the Omaha team was making such a showing. Carter had just made a hit on which Thiel ran to the plate and was called safe by Kelly. At this decision all the St. Joseph players threw their caps in the air and danced a can-can, Kelly joining in by tossing his broom nearly to the clouds. It was a pretty sight.

During the second game Umpire Kelly announced that Denver had lost a game to Des Moines during the afternoon, which announcement caused a great burst of applause from the fans, knowing that Den-

LAZY COFFEE

Another Name for the "Sloppy" Sort.

Postum Coffee is not made like ordinary coffee, for it takes at least 25 minutes' cooking to bring out the heavy food value of Postum. It requires some effort for those things which are really worth while—making Postum requires a little care.

The grocer is in a position to hear of those lazy ones who will not take the trouble to make Postum correctly. "I am well acquainted indeed with Postum," says a grocer of Camden, N. J., "for I meet it not only at my breakfast table, but I am also associated with it daily in my business.

"Coffee drinking used to affect my nerves and stomach, but since we have been using Postum in our family in place of coffee the bloated feeling after eating has disappeared and my head is now clear and stomach and nerves all right. We all feel better in every way and find Postum just as satisfactory to our palates.

"I have met customers who complained that Postum was not good, but we always found this due to the fact that they tried to make it as they used to make coffee. Of course we set them right by pointing out the reasons, telling them they must boil Postum 15 or 20 minutes after boiling commences, then they get fine, choice and delicious Postum." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There has been so much controversy over the standing of the various teams The Bee wired President Sexton of the Western league for the correct standing of all the teams. Below are the figures furnished by him with yesterday's games added. The different columns balance and the table is undoubtedly correct:

OMAHA IN FIRST PLACE AT LAST

President Sexton's Figures Land the Rourke Family on Top.

President Sexton has wired to President Rourke that, no matter what else is wrong, his figures as to the standing of the Omaha team are absolutely correct. If this is true, the Rourke family is in first place in the Western league pennant race this morning, and will undoubtedly remain there.

The record kept by The Bee still shows one game difference with that of Mr. Sexton. Without laying claims to infallibility, The Bee has tried to keep its figures accurate, but it is willing to concede the point in this instance. Mr. Sexton's figures are the basis for awarding the pennant, after all. But the next task that will present itself to Mr. Sexton for adjustment is to convince the Denver papers that they have been wrong, for their record of Denver and Omaha is the same as that which has appeared in The Bee.

When it was announced yesterday afternoon that Denver had lost to Des Moines, the great crowd at Vinton park stood up and cheered heartily, not at Denver's downfall, but because that defeat made the certainty of Omaha's winning first place all the more certain. It seems now absolutely sure that Omaha will win the pennant. If the figures of the president are correct as he has furnished them to The Bee, the pennant is already won for the Rourkes, and all they have to do is to hold it.
