apparently spontaneous Mayor McClellan of New York originated among a number of up-state delegates. About 11:30 o'clock sixty-five members of the delegations from Erie, Oneida, Onondaga and other counties in the vicinity met and appointed a committee of eight, with Bissell Cary of Buffalo as chairman, to see Mr. Hill and Mr. Sheehan and urge that no candidate be put before the convention of whom it could be said that he had been forced upon it by Mr. Hill. They said that they had reference to no one candidate in particular, but to several that had been named. As a candidate who could be put before the people as absolutely free, as they expressed it, of "Hill influence, they favored Mayor McClellan.

Preliminary Session. The convention today had its preliminary session, heard an extended speech from William B. Hornblower of New York as tem, orazy chairman, in which the republicar national administration was drastic ally arraigned and Governor Odell severely criticised, especially for his acceptance of the dual role of governor of the state and chairman of the republican state committee. CORBIN WOULD RESTRICT MARRIAGE Adjutant General Thinks Army Offi-Cers Should Not Marry on Salary. WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—That no army officer be permitted to marry until he has first secured the permission of the secretary of war and satisfied that official that his income is sufficient to support himself and family and that he is entirely free IMMIGRATION LAW from debt, is the recommendation made by Major General Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general, commanding the Atlantic division and Department of the East, which was issued at the War department today. Regarding marriage in the army, General Corbin says:

I desire to reiterate in effect what I have ment, however, has been misread, misquoted and misunderstood.

Marriage for army officers who have made no proper provision for assuming the responsibility therefore is hurtful both to the army and to the officers themselves. To this broad statement there are, of course, exceptions, as there are to all broad statements, but the general fact remains that our army is over-married. The pay of a subaltern officer is barely enough for his proper support and the expenses of his equipment and uniform. If to this is added the inevitable expenses attached to a family it is not only probable but almost certain that when an officer strikes his balance at the end of the year he will be behind if he has no income but his pay.

That a bachelor officer is more valuable to the service than a married officer does not follow, nor do I wish to be understood as so saying, but the married officer is less valuable if in marrying he has not exercised that prudence which should govern all transactions in life.

Further on in his report General Corbin

Further on in his report General Corbin

I am firmly of the opinion that no officer am army of the opinion that no officer should enter the marriage relation without first getting the authority of the War department and as a necessary condition thereto, that his income after marriage will be sufficient to support himself and family, and, above all, if he is to live on his pay, he should state on honor that he is free from debt.

Does Not Like the Treaty Between Great Britain and Thibet.

DECLARES IT TO CREATE PROTECTORATE

St. Petersburg Press Strongly Intimates that Understanding as to Orient Exists Between Russia and Germany.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 20 .- 1:06 p. m .-

the British treaty with Thibet the irritation of the Russian press at its sweeping character is more pronounced. The Russ. which is now considered to especially reflect the views of the Foreign office, bitterly complains that Great Britain has gone beyond its promise concerning the expedition by acquiring a virtual protectorate over Thibet, whereas it had pledged itself to merely regulate trade relations between and the participation of the fleet under India and Thibet. Instead, the paper de- Admiral Togo is looked for. In conclusion, the Russ says significantly:

The proclamation of the British pro-tectorate must be regarded as an accom-plished fact, but whether it will be real and lasting must depend upon future events in central Asia.

Say Britain Breaks Faith. Russian officials maintains that Great Britain has broken faith in the matter of the Thibetan treaty and Ambassador Benkendorff has been instructed to lodge a general protest at the British foreign office. According to the Russian view, as explained to the Associated Press, Great Britain's pledges to Russia regarding the scope of the expedition only contemplated the regulation of trade between India and Thibet, and it disclaimed the purpose to meddle with the internal or political affairs of the country. Instead of so doing, Russia claims that a treaty was forced upon the Thibetans which goes much further, creating a virtual protectorate over the country. Moreover it is contended that the treaty is a restriction upon the sovereignty of issue. The general feeling is that Great Britain has profited by Russia's preoccupation in the war to make its position in Thibet secure. Therefore the chief importance of the protest at this time is to serve notice that Russie does not acquiesce in it would feel itself at liberty to reopen the question when its hands are again free. German-Russian Understanding.

The sensational articles in the British press about the alleged Russo-German secret understanding regarding the far east have not attracted much attention here. While a feeling exists that Germany is displaying a friendly spirit, it is denied in responsible quarters that it has overstepped the bounds of neutrality in any particular. The existence of a secret treaty between Russia and Germany is attributed here to the memory of the part which Germany, with France and Russia, played in compelling Japan to abandon the Shimonoseki treaty concluded between Japan and China as a result of the war betwen those two countries ten years ago.

The Novoe Vremya this morning, in a sarcastic editorial, expresses surprise at the fact that the British newspaper correspondents have been so slow in discover. ing that Germany is helping Russia, adding. "Both Great Britain and the United States ought to follow the example of Germany, which realized at the outset the identity of its interests in the far east with those of Russia."

The Novosti undertakes the defense of the German shippers who are supplying British coal to Russian warships, without which the Russian Baltic fleet could not go to the far east, pointing out that the rules of neutrality are applicable to states and not to individuals, adding: "We are entitled to expect that individuals will be left free to act as our purveyors."

Arthur. Japanese Make Attack.

CHE FOO, Sept. 20,-5:30 p. m -Authoritative information has been received here of a general attack upon Port Arthur by the Japanese forces which began yesterday before daybreak and continued until dark.

All indications point to an effort to capture certain of the northeast main forts. This is the attack for which the Japanese have been preparing for the past nineteen days, with slight hope of success. As forecasted in these dispatches, the Japanese attack on Port Arthur is directed against the northeast front. The main object is to capture the fortifications on Kikwan mountain, Richlung mountain and the intermediate forts. The foregoing has come from a Russian of standing, whose previous information has been correct. He adds that the attack at the end of August, which was represented as two separate asmanhole when the chamber became sud- saults, really constituted a ten days' battle, the fighting being the heaviest during the

> Although the Japanese retired August 31 along the greater part of their line, they remained in four supplementary forts on the northeast front, which they had captured from the Russians. These include two forts fifty yards from Riblung mountain and two others at a somewhat greater distance. Since August 21 the Japanese have bombarded very slightly, while the Russians have been throwing approximately 1,000 shells daily, chiefly against the four Japanese positions mentioned. Russian Sorties Unsuccessful.

Small storties, as referred to by the Novikral of Port Arthur, in the effort to recapture the positions, have been of almost nightly occurrence and have been uniformly unsuccessful. The Japanese have been taught wholesome respect for the resisting power of the fortress, according to every Japanese who has recently arrived here from Port Dainy. If they succeed in capturing Rihlung mountain or other forts they will realize that this will only be one step, although an important one, toward the capture of Port Arthur. The Russians, who have been observing the new tactics of the Japanese, did not expect another attack before the first week in October. The Japanese are endeavoring to proceed slowly but surely.

During the fighting in August the attempt to capture Kikwan mountain cost the Japanese an entire regiment.

This statement has been confirmed and indicates the monumental proportions of the task which the Japanese have set themselves in attempting to capture the
