The sporting tandem class produced Reen Fivnity. The leader of the tandem had to be unbitched and ridden over the jump against time, and the first man over safned five points. This led to the sursuptitious unbuckling of the reins of one Crow and Murry's entitles, which was made plain by the builing of the leader, Timber Topper. Considerable excitement followed until the horse was secured. This tost first for this team which was really the favorite with the crowd for its fine performances in harness. Thistledown, a Element horse, gained popularity, however, for the ment way in which she took the wing first over the jump and was awarded first money. B. 55, Weatherbee of New York and his lender unbitched first, but could not get the horse to take the jump The result of the evening was fairly nutinfantory to Quaha pride. Mr. McCord drew two firsts as against one each for Pepper, Crow-Marry and Rule, the other principal exhibitors. Murry won, however, three seconds and one third and Petwo seconds and two thirds. So the Canadiam horses really won on points.

Three Committees of American Bar Association Report to the Convention.

Majority of One Committee Favors Enforcing Present Anti-Trust Laws Before Passing More Stringent Regulations.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.-With the same gavel which each president of the American Bar association has wisided during the past twenty-seven years, the second day's seasion of the association was called to order today by Sir James Hagerman of St. Louis. After a short executive session the general session was resumed and the annual address of Hon. Amos M. Thayer, United States circuit judge for the Eighth district of St. Louis, was read by Judge Franklin Ferris, also of this city. Judge Thayer was present, but owing to a heavy cold was unable to deliver the address himself. The subject of the address was, "The Louislana Purchase, Its influence and Development Under American Rule." Following Judge Thayer's address the cesion was occupied with the reports of standing committees.

Committee on Jurisprudence. The standing committee on jurisprudence and law reform submitted its report, dealing with sales of honorary degrees and combinations or trusts. The report stated that a careful investigation throughout the country had been made to ascertain how, far the evil of the sale of honorary degrees in law existed and that but a single instance had been discovered-in Tennessee Regarding the subject of combination in the form of trusts, the committee reported that under the clause of the constitution to regulate commerce congress has no power to create corporations, except those which have for their object the carrying on of exclusively interstate business. The report concluded by submitting a resolution:

That 'he bill presented to congress by the Maritime Law Association of the United States, entitled "An act to authorize the maintenance of actions for negli-gence causing death in maritime disasters," is in the opinion of this association one which supplies a defect in the law of the United States, and we earnestly recommend to congress that it should take up and pass this bill.

A lengthy discussion followed the petition of the report of the committee on jurisprudence and law reform. The repor was adopted with the exception of that section concerning the taxation of prop erty, which was referred to the contmittee on uniformity of laws.

The report of the committee on judicial American and remedial procedure was received and laid on the table. On account of the fact that the remainder of the reports would probably produce considerable discussion a recess was taken until 2 o'clock. Two Reports on Trusts.

On reconvening, a resolution was adopted providing that the majority and minority reports of the committee on commercial law be received and filed, and that, inasmuch as the reports of the committee were not printed and distributed fifteen days before the meeting of the convention, their consideration be postponed until the next annual meeting of the association. Leave was given the committee to amend or supplement the report, provided that any amendment or supplemental report be mings; Mrs. W. F. Allen, a brown lace printed and distributed previous to the meeting, as required by by-laws. The reports say in part:

The majority report of the standing full and inset with lace and the high girdle committee on commercial law submitted was of blue peau de cygne; a large blue in pursuance of a resolution adopted at Those who were in the boxes last night the committee be instructed to report specific remedies in legislative form for any unlawful combinations which may threaten commercial intercourse is based on the conclusions that the resolution referred to the federal power to regulate interstate commerce rather than to the state power to control commerce exclusively within the atate.

> The committee is therefore of opinion that until the existing remedies recently provided by law for the protection of commerce against filegal combinations are further invoked and their efficiency fur-of international law, concluding the review by saying: The United States have done much to promote the settlement by arbitration of international disputes. When once our people realize that justice between nations ought to be attained by peaceful means our influence will be exercised in favor of the resort to such means and against the arbitrament of the sword. And that influence, if we are true to our national traditions if we are true to our national traditions, will become more powerful every year. The report then takes up the Russo-Japanese war and discusses it at some length. Briefly, the report states:

It is not for your committee to pass any judgment upon the merits of this war, but we do submit that the Japanese claim is of a character that affords just-ground for mediation under the second title of The Hagus convention. The third article declares that "the signatory powers think it to be useful that one or more powers which have no part in the conflict may offer of their own volition, so far as circumstances. have no part in the conflict may offer of their own volition, so far as circumstances may make it appropriate, their friendly offices or their mediation to the states en-gaged in the conflict."

The United States might, as it seems to your committee, very properly take advan-tage of the provisions of The Hague con-vention and make an endeavor to put an and to the further shedding of blood in Manchuria.

After the report was read the following

After the report was read the following esolution was adopted: Resolved. That the American Bar asso ciation concurs in the resolution adopted by the national arbitration conference at Washington, January 16, 1994. Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the secretary of state. At the conclusion of the reports a recess was taken. When the association again assembled Benjamin F. Abbott of Georgia was introduced and made an address on the question, "To What Extent Will a Nation" Protect its Citizens in Foreign Countries?" The association then listened to reports of special committees.

Representatives from thirty-three states. of eight foreign governments and the leading manufacturing interests of the country were present today at the day's session of the Intersecond holding a week's convention at the World's fair. The addresses delivered were a general review of food inspection in foreign countries. Later a conference was held with fruit and vegetable dealers relative to the use of antiseptics and colors. The opening address was delivered by the

REPORTS who defined the purpose of the congress as a meeting to have the food and drink which go into gallons and pounds measure up to the uniform standard of purity. Addresses were also made by Chevaller G. Rossatti of the Italian ministry of agriculture, Dr. William M. Berkley, director of the laboratory of the Superior Board of CONSIDER TRUSTS, SHIPPING AND FAKES Health of Porto Rico; Benjamin Bidaure of Nicaragua, Hon. J. B. "Interstate Laws" were discussed by Rufus L. Weaver of New York city, Scott Bonham, Cincinnati, addressed the meeting on "Constitutionality of Food Control

A conference was then held with the manufacturers on the use of antiseptics in the preservation of food. Among those ned in the conference were Sebastian Mueller, Pittaburg, and State Chemtets E. F. Ladd of Fargo, N. D., William Barnard of Concord, N. H., and Julius Hortvet of St. Paul, Minn.

Reports of Standing Committees. The reports of the three following standng committees were received and adopted: Grievances, law reporting and digesting and obituaries. The latter report showed that eighteen members had died since the last meeting, a year ago. The remaining reports, which were to have been submitted today, were held over until tomorrow. A letter was read from Sir Robert B.

Finley, attorney general of England, who was to have delivered an address, expressing his regret that he was unable to attend the convention. The general council recommended that F. M. Huffaker of Nevada be elected a member of that body to represent Nevada. that state not having been represented in the council for twenty years. The association ratified the selection of Mr. Huffaker.

from the office. The association then adjourned until tomorrow, when the convention will conclude. Farmers' National Congress Meets. The twenty-fourth annual Farmers' National congress opened today at the World's fair grounds. The meeting was called to order by Harvie Jordon of Monticello, Ga. F. W. Taylor, chief of the agricultural section of the World's fair, delivered the welcoming adress, to which B. Cameron of Stagville, N. C., and Joshua Strange of Marion, Ind., responded. A minority report was submitted by Waiter S. Logan stating that he was unable to agree entirely with the conclusions of the other members of the committee on commercial law. His report concludes:

I know of no better weapon that the waspon of taxation. I am more convinced as to the effectiveness of this method of regulating large combinations and corporations when I see the opposition to it that is made by the combinations and corporations affected. The passage of such legislation would, itself, go a long way towards settling in the interest of the people the important and vexatious trust question.

SPREE COMES HIGH TO IOWAN First Friend He Meets Steals His Diamond, Which is Recovered by Police.

John Hutchison, a gorgeously dressed inlividual from Clarinda, In., while walking the streets Monday night was attracted by the appearances of Marie Hirschman of a north end hotel, and the woman herself was astracted by a $75 diamond tie pin which Hutchison sported. The mutual sttraction led to a mutual introduction at Eleventh and Farnam streets, and on Hutchison asking Miss Hirschman whether she would object to a little supper, she said she would not, but that he would have so hurry as "her people did not like her to stay out late at night." The supper finished. Miss Hirschman was surprised to find that it was only 1 a. m. She explained that her people were attending the horse show, in fact were the leading lights of the place and that they would ot arrive home till 3 o'clock.

Hutchison was overloyed. Beer was ordered and though the damsel said she 'really could not drink a drop and really, vell, if you insist-" more beer was or dered. At parting she put her rosy lips to his and said:

"I have been a very, very naughty girl, out you won't tell anyone, will you?" "Never." quoth he from Clarinda.

But he broke his promise when he went o arrange his tie and found the pin gone. The deceiving Marie was found drinking another man's beer at the Midland hotel and the pin tucked away under the carpet. She was charged with larceny from the person. The police believe they have a "good" person in the woman, for on examining her room they found a bottle of chloroform and other material for the undoing of simple-minded men with a taste for high life.

I used four boxes of Cuticura Olutment, two cakes of Cuticura Sos, and gave her the Cutlcura Resolvent, and she was cured, and I see no traces of the humour left.
