Prices for All Speculative Deliveries a Point Higher-Other Grains Not Materially Changed-Commercial Gossip.

OMAHA, September 27, 1904. OMAHA, September 25, 1904.
At the opening of the speculative market there was a communation of the general selling movement so much in evidence Monday. The bears were encouraged by lower Liverpool cables in response to efforts in that direction yesterday and for a time it looked as if lower prices were within the probabilities. This continued for the first hair hour of the session and then there was another positive change. then there was another positive. The enormous liquidation Monday change. situation very materially, it relieved market of many a long line of wheat it gld more than this for it established and it did more than this for it established a short line of fairly good proportions without which the specuative market is sure to sag. There was yet another factor of considerable importance and that was the tempting of Armour & Co. to cover shorts. The highers of pesterday was the tempter and Armour & Co. bought very heavily. These were the chief influences on the market, but the reported decrase in the Argentine supply, the urgency of the demand from miners and the less favorable weather map also influenced gency of the demand from miliers and the less favorable weather map also influenced values, the latter less that either of the other causes. Wheat that has been coming to Omana indicates that quality is poor, most of the cars grading No. 2 with quite a large percentage of low grade No. 4. In Unicago September opened he lower at $1.0%, and this proved to be the low figure of the wesslor, the recovery consequent on the renewed asmand for December and May carrying this future to $1.0%, and lost a little more after which it advanced sharply to $1.1%, and so it at $1.1% to $1.1%. The strength of the various futures was maintained right up to the close of the session.

was a trifle firmer at one time. Corn was a trifle firmer at one time, but the weather is too good and the crop out of danger, so that it is hard to builthe grain. Late prices showed steady prices on September; slightly easier on December and May.

year. The table phove will show the exact figures.

Only a few cars of corn-fed steers arrived and they met with ready sale at good steady prices. Some of them were of good quality, as will be seen from the rate below. Anything at all destrable changed hands very freely, but, of course, the common kinds were more or less negiccied the common kinds were more or less negiccied. names very freely, but, of course, the common kinds were more or less neglected, the same as usual.

The quality of the western rangers was very common today, so that in spite of the hig receipts there were not many desirable killers on hand. Packers claimed that they were willing to may steady prices for choice grader, but the kinds that arrived were not very desirable, and as a rule were around a dime lower and slow at the decline. It was late before even the bulk of the offerings was disnoved of.

There were fully 100 cars of butcher stock on sale today, so that the supply was sufficient to meet all the requirements of the trade. Packers naturally took advantage of the big run following yesterday's liberal receipts and the market was gen rolly a dime lower than yesterday. Something very choice may not have been off wite that much and in fact it was the medium class of cows that showed the greatest loss.

Fulls, year colves and stage could all be.

HOGS-There was a small run of hogs in sight this morning at all points, but in spite of that fact the feeling was weak. They all seemed to want the hogs, however, and as a result started in and bought the better grades at prices only a shade lower than yesterday, sales going all the way from steady to be lower. Lightweights changed hands freely enough, but the common and heavy kinds were rather slow and showed the greatest decline. Heavy hogs sold largely from $5.50 to $5.50, with some of the common sumf below that. Medium and mixed loads went from $5.50 to $5.50, while choice lights and butcher weights went from $5.50 to $5.50, while choice lights and butcher weights went from $5.50 to $5.50, while choice lights and butcher weights went from $5.50 to $5.50, while choice lights and butcher weights went from $5.50 to $5.50, while choice lights and butcher weights went from $5.50 to $5.50, with a small bunch at $8.

The latter end of the hog market was very slow and mean. Packers seemed to have their more urrent orders filled and as a result pounded the market o nute an extent and at more there were still several loads unsuld and no one seemed to be at all anxious for them. The close could be quoted yer dull and fully a nickel lower. Representative sales: Chicago of the offerings was not very good and as packers all seemed to have liberal orders the market ruled fairly active on anything at all desirable and steady to streng prices were paid. The commoner kinds of killers were not so brisk, but still they sold fully as well as they did vesterday. This was true of both sheep and lambs.

There was also a good demand for feeders of desirable quality and such kinds could be quoted fairly active and steady. Common stuff was more or less neglected in view of the large number on sale and in some cases such kinds may have been a little weak.
