

CORBIN ON MARRIAGE THEME

Denies Saying Officer Should Refrain Unless on Salary of $2,400.

REITERATES HIS ORIGINAL REPORT ON IT

General and Party Pass Through Omaha Enroute to San Francisco to Sail for Philippine Islands.

"Well, we all feel fine and cheerful," said General Henry C. Corbin as he arrived in Omaha at 1:30 a. m. Monday on his way to the Philippine Islands, where he goes to take command of the forces in place of General Wade.

"Yes," continued the general, "this is indeed a glorious morning, the sun is and pure air—oh! What's that? Did I say American army officers should not marry unless they had an income of $2,400 yearly? No, sir; I never said anything of the kind. The newspapers have misquoted me on this subject. My views and statements on it can be had in my report, which I wish you would publish and put the matter clearly before the public.

And the general then produced this report: "I desire to reiterate, in effect, what I formerly said on this subject, which statement, however, has been misread, misquoted and misunderstood.

Marriage of Provisional Staff.

"Marriage of army officers who have made no proper provision for assuming the responsibilities thereof is hurtful, both to the army and the officers themselves. To this broad statement there are, of course, exceptions, as there are to all broad statements, but the general officer is less valuable if in marrying he has not exercised that prudence which should govern all transactions in life. By this I mean that he should by some means, before assuming the responsibilities of the head of a family, so arrange his pecuniary affairs that the worry and anxiety over possible deficits should not divert his energies and capacities from his military duties.

That a bachelor officer is more valuable to the service than a married officer does not follow, nor do I wish to be understood as so saying, but the married officer is less valuable if in marrying he has not exercised that prudence which should govern all transactions in life.

Good Men Victims of Debt. "In my experience as adjutant general of the army and department commander, there have been very many instances that have come to my attention where officers of the highest character and attainments have become involved financially on account of their families, nor through extravagance or bad management necessarily, and usually refrained from applying any punitive measures, knowing that these officers simply could not help themselves.

"I am firmly of the opinion that no officer should enter the marriage relation, without first getting the authority of the War Department, and that as a necessary condition thereto, he should make it clear that his income after marriage will be sufficient to support himself and family, and above all, if he is to live on his pay he should state on his honor that he is free from debt. Starting in debt he has a fighting chance, but starting in debt he undertakes a well nigh hopeless task; particularly will this prove true if he has frequent change of stations, when all the expenses of travel of his family have to be met by the officer himself."

Will Not Change Policy.

General Corbin said he was in the Philippines three years ago and as far as he knew now did not intend changing the policy laid out by General Wade. The general was accompanied by Mrs. Corbin, Captain J. A. Moss his aide and Colonel Webb C. Hayes who left him at Omaha to go on to St. Louis. The party will leave San Francisco October 13 on the steamship Mongolia and expect to reach Manila November 3, touching at Honolulu, Yokohama and Nagasaki. General Corbin was met at the Burlington depot by General T. J. Wint, commander of the department of the Missouri, General Manderson and a number of the officers from Fort Crook. After taking a walk around the depot the general boarded his special car at the Union depot and left the city over the Union Pacific exactly an hour after his arrival.

FRANCE AND THE VATICAN

On this subject Rt. Rev. Abbot Gasquet will lecture in Creighton Auditorium.

The Right Rev. Abbot Gasquet, head of the Benedictine order in England, who is visiting various houses of the order in the United States and is at present in Omaha, will deliver a free lecture under the auspices of Omaha council, Knights of Columbus, at the Creighton university auditorium, Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. The subject of the lecture is "France and the Vatican."

The reverend lecturer is a man of distinction in the literary world, holding high rank as a historian of the Reformation, and those who are interested in religious changes in England. His searching scholarship was recognized by the late Pope Leo when he appointed him a member of the commission on Anglican orders in 1896. He is a man not yet 60 full of life and vigor, with a fine physique, giving marked evidence of great intellectual power, and his clear, refined tone and accent bespeak the man of culture.

The pending controversy between the French government and the Catholic church gives to Abbot Gasquet's subject a

ROUTE OF NEW MOTOR LINE

Question is Puzzling Councilmen Who Profess to Know Nothing of Plans.

Councilmen are trying to find out what the Omaha, Lincoln & Beatrice Electric railway proposes to do in this city.

"We are a good deal in the dark," said one of the members of the body. "We understand the engineers of the new company have run several lines through the streets. What we are particularly interested in is whether the road proposes to terminate near the outskirts of town or whether it proposes to run into the city and compete with the Omaha & Council Bluffs street railway. From what I gather from the manner in which the new company has proceeded, the latter is the course mapped out. So far as I know no arrangement has been made for a meeting with city officers to ask for a franchise."

DRUNKEN FATHER GOES TO JAIL

Man Sentenced on Testimony of Daughter and Wife, Who Complain of Cruelty.

August Struppert of 137 South Ninth street has been sentenced to thirty days by Judge Herka. Struppert's wife and 16-year-old daughter appeared against the father and husband in police court and the daughter testified that her father had been drunk Saturday evening and demanded the daughter take of his shoes, he being neither in a mental nor physical condition to untie the laces of his shoes, so it is said. The daughter said she refused to do her father's bidding, whereupon he set upon his wife and daughter, blackening the girl's right eye and whipping the wife. When asked by the police judge what he had to say for himself Struppert replied he thought children should mind their parents.

Teles to Draw Sorrows.

Because his wife died a few days ago and his son was at home at the point of death was the reason J. Murphy offered when asked by Police Judge Herka why he became drunk. Murphy said he wanted to drown his sorrows. He appeared much broken in spirit and when discharged stumbled out of the courtroom.

BE'S NEW COLOR MAGAZINE

Late Feature and Ak-Sar-Ben Edition Meet Wave of Commendation.

PRONOUNCED BEST IN ENTIRE WEST

Business and Professional Men Take Occasion to Express Admiration of This New Piece of Enterprise.

The Bee's new color magazine introduced to the thousands of readers Sunday in connection with its special Ak-Sar-Ben edition met with a wave of cordial approval and commendation. Newsboys and newsdealers were unable to supply the demands made upon them for the paper. Orders are still being received for special numbers, as evidence of the paper's reception among prominent Omaha men these expressions heard about town Monday may testify.

Credit to City and State.

Dr. George L. Miller—Splendid! Was a credit to the city and state.

H. J. Penfold, One of the Founders of Ak-Sar-Ben—A magnificent number. The Ak-Sar-Ben write-up is the best I have ever seen.

Councilman D. J. O'Brien—A great issue; it is fine.

Chief of Police Donahue—Fine from start to finish.

George D. Rice, Member of Board of Education—More than good; it is all right, you can bet on that.

Equal to the Best.

Captain H. E. Palmer, Postmaster—The edition is a great one and a credit to Omaha. It is equal to the best of the great dailies. Hope it will continue improving. It deserves all of its success.

Assistant Postmaster J. I. Woodward—It is fine. Equal of any Sunday paper published anywhere. The illustrated is a big improvement over the old illustrated Bee. It is a credit to Omaha and the west.

W. J. Burgess, Manager of Boyd Theater—The best thing that has been done by local journalism. The entire Ak-Sar-Ben number was good. I consider the new Sunday paper a big improvement.

Senator Millard—I consider the Ak-Sar-Ben story a creditable, well-written history of the order.

Vice President McGrew of the Omaha National bank—A step in advance of anything we have ever had in Omaha.

C. B. Horton, Superintendent Western Union Telegraph Company—The Bee has added to its reputation as a cosmopolitan paper, and the best this side of Chicago.

Major R. S. Wilcox, Manager Browning, King & Co.—Certainly fine and an improvement. Good all the way through.

Mayor Praises the Edition.

Mayor Moore—Easter Brown is an old friend of mine. He is about the funniest cartoon character before the people I know. I am glad to see the Bee has annexed young Brown. The new magazine section is commendable. It is a long step forward in local journalism.

A. T. Klopff—Fine. When it comes to a showdown the Bee comes pretty close to always leading in the best things of newspaperdom.

City Treasurer Hennings—I enjoyed the new magazine section and the comic pictures very much. They are the best of their kind yet seen in Omaha. I certainly admire the enterprise of the Bee.

Tax Commissioner Fleming—A big improvement.

Old Good, But New Better.

E. J. Holden—I liked the Ak-Sar-Ben special very much. The new color supplement is fine.

HOME FROM EUROPEAN TRIP Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Greene Return After Pleasant Tour in Old World. Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Greene returned yesterday from their European trip much refreshed by the outing. Mr. Greene said: "Mrs. Greene and I left here the first week in August, proceeding direct to France, where we remained a few days, and then went to Switzerland, where we spent most of our time, visiting at Interlaken, Geneva and Lucerne and that vicinity. A very pleasing feature of our trip was witnessing the performance of 'William Tell' at Atdorf, which is produced by local talent and is somewhat on the order of the 'Fascion Play' at Obermergenz. The Swiss thrive mostly off of tourists. Their general manufactures are jewelry and the like, which is bought in great quantities by the tourists, though much of it is shipped abroad, some coming to America. The French character is one of seeming continental joyousness. No one seems to be
