BOLD ADVENTURER IN TRAP

Alleged Despoiler of Hearts and Purses Arrested and Held on Bond.

OLIVER PERRY RUNS HIS COURSE AT LAST

On Eve of Marriage to Omaha Girl Self-Styled Soldier is Taken on Charge of Grand Larceny.

Oliver Perry, with about a dozen aliases and as many self-appointed titles, has been arraigned in police court on the charge of grand larceny filed by Assistant County Attorney Magney

Perry waived preliminary examination and was bound over to the district court on a bond of 1800. The information on which Perry was arraigned charged him with the theft of a trunk full of new linen and other articles of the value of $150 from the Schlitz hotel on South Sixteenth street, where the prisoner worked as night clerk for five nights. The plunder was recovered by Dete tives Mitcheil and Davis at the Arcade

Pleasing in address and glib of tongue, Perry had a faculty of pushing his way to Turner of Fremont. The prize of the afterthe front wherever he went. His forte was that of posing as a Beutenant in the United the game was followed by a violet States arm; which racket he worked to luncheon. The guests included: Miss Goff, the limit and for years.

Vainly Courts Miss King.

One of his most daring escapades in Omaha involves the name of Miss Sadie Miss Humphrey of Springfield, O. King of 3028 Half Cass street. Miss King is employed as operator in the Nebraska Telephone office. Mrs. King was seen at her residence and was outspoken in her denunciation of Perry. She said:

"My daughter first met Perry at the Woodmen picule at Blair, August 18. He sard Perry, U. S. A., and cut quite a dash. He was devoted in his attentions to Sadie. On returning to Omaha he made a proposal of marriage to her, but I plainly told him such action was rather hasty and I wanted to know more about him. He continued his attentions and came to the house in khaki and lieutenant's uniforms and showed us all sorts of credentials from the government. On one occasion he brought a "Lieutenant" Whitney. The next time he called he said Whitney had left suddenly, taking with him nearly all of his (Perry's) effects and asked permission to bring some of his things out to our house for safe keeping. The next evening he fell in a faint near the St. John's Collegiate church after leavassistance and the story he told them was South Seventeenth street and took to his place next Tuesday. bed. He sent for me and begged me to let my daughter come to his room and see him, which suggestion I did not think proper, so McShane and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. One of His Smooth Tricks. "One evening he showed us papers purporting to be from the government, ordering to work at the packing houses as a luncheon Tuesday, Mrs. W. H. Burns of strike breaker and to be on the lookout for army deserters. In the descriptions of deserters he showed us was an exact de ALLEGED CRIMINAL CAUGHT scription of my son Harry, who is a deserter from the army. This, of course, led us to think he was connected with the government service. I am glad Perry has been exposed before things went any further."

Mrs. King showed photographs of Perry in the uniform of a lieutenant and also letters from Perry to Miss King. One letter from Perry's father, L. L. Koch of Nashville, Tenn., states Perry, whose right name is A. A. Koch, has a wife who needs his presence. Perry's father is said to be in charge of a detective department at Nashville and has written several fatherly epistles to his wayward son during his last

In September 1901, Perry occupied the center of the stage in Council Bluffs and Omaha for several days. He came to them in full regalia and broke into print with the statement that he was a lieutenant returning from the Philippine service and in quest of a girl he met on the Union Pacific transfer platform when the troops were going through four years before that Some papers hereabouts took up his cause and he even was given 'audiences" at various places where large numbers of girls were employed so he might find the face, the image of which he said had followed him through the Insular battle fields. He then went by the name of Lieutenant Charles A. Barron. It is a matter of record that to facilitate the work of finding the girl, he secured a position as conductor on a Council Bluffs motor line. and while collecting fares would scan every feminine face he met. That was his story at the time.

Man of Many Trades. He also has passed as Lieutenant A. C. Caldwell, U. S. A., and it is believed he has worked at more occupations than any other man who has visited Omaha. The authorities rate bim as one of the most versatile crooks extant. In his effects have been found several military suita, cards of all kinds and letter heads from hotels in every large city in the country. In a letter dated September 29, to Miss King. Perry hinted he would not press a search for her brother, Harry, if she would look kindly on his suit. Perry's last act was to work as night clerk at the Schlitz hotel, where he oper-

Miss King is a highly respected girl and has fived in Omaha many years. Her father is manager at the Windsor stables. While dislikes the publicity the case gives her she is glad Perry has been exposed by the authorities and that at last his lane has come to a turn. Upon investigation it has been learned Perry has not been connected with the government further than serving for a short term some years ago in the militia in his home town in Tennessee.

Although Mrs. King did not state the fact, it is understood Perry and Miss King were to have been married Tuesday, but when Mr. King learned of the man's implicity the nuptials were called off. Another story is told that Perry was around town last Saturday in uniform of a lieutenant and was met by an official from the army headquarters who asked Perry why he had not reported at head-quarters as is the custom. Perry is re-ported as having said he had been belated on the train and was tired.

Nothing Doing Here. No recognition of the launching at Seattle of the battleship Nebrasia is to be formally made in Omana from present indications. I have to see that the season of the city half and no organizations or societies of the city have taken up the matter. The event will take place at 4:15 p. m. Friday in the presence of Governor Mickey, staff and a few pilgrims from the state.

Hillside, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M.

Stafford, was the scene of a pretty wedding ast evening when their daughter, Miss Josephine Stafford, was married to Mr. Harry Herzog, about 150 guests being present. The house throughout was trimmed in pink, white and green, and the marriage service was read by Rev. Newman Hall Burdick under a large wedding bell of flowers suspended in one corner of the parlor. Misses Vera Stafford and Effle Parker preceded the bridal party as they entered the room, stretching the ribbons test formed the aisle through which they passed. Miss Helen Catlin, as ring bearer, came first, and after her Miss Lulu Stafford, sister of the bride, who attended her as maid of honor. Her gown was of light blue gauze over white and she carried red roses. The bride walked last and lone, the wedding gown being of white chiffon cloth and the flowers a shower of bride's roses. Mr. Ed Herzog, a brother of the groom, attended him as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Herzog will be at home after November 1 at 2510 Caldwell street.
