(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Oct. 8.-(Bpecial.)-H. Leavitt of Omaha made application today to the State Board of Irrigation for an appropriation of water from the North Platte river for an immense canal project. The application filed is supposed to be a part of an amendment to the rights granted the Farmers' Canal company. In the construction of the canal Mr. Leavitt stated in his application that he expected to spend $1,-548,000 and to irrigate 126,600 acres of land. The headgate will be constructed in Scott's Bluff county, near Mitchell, and the canal will be 150 miles in length, ending near Bayard, Cheyenne county, in Red Willow creek. The canal will go through Scott's Bluff, Sloux and Cheyenne counties and is to be completed by 1914. The new venture is to bear the name of the Union Congregational Association.

The State Association of Congregational Churches is in session here, with a large number of church people in attendance. The meetings began last night, when the visitors were welcomed to the city in an address by S. H. Burnham. This was responded to by L. M. Oberkotter, principal of the Chadron academy. Most of the time today was devoted to a business session, closing with an flustrated address tonight by Rev. William L. Tenney, secretary of the A. M. A.

At the morning session Prof. A. B. Fairchild of Crete was elected moderator for the ensuing year and F. C. Taylor was chosen for state clerk.

Prohibition Ticket Filed. The names of the pronibition national electors were filed with the secretary of state this morning. They are: Charles W. Day, Rising City; Nathaniel S. Wright, Shepherd Pawnee City; John F.

Mr. Bryan, who spoke in the open place will be given to the populist candidates. During the last few years there has been no democratic or populist parties Paderewski, P. E. McKillip, candidate for on the official ballot, the two having been fused, consequently it is not known which party cast the most votes, consequently it is a question as to the order in which they will appear on the ballot. According the woman who held up her baby to touch to law the names of the parties go on the ballot according to the vote received. It is supposed the secretary of state has discretion in the matter and it is not unlikely that between this time and the time for the printing of the ballots his office will be besieged with representatives of these two parties, trying for position. It is taken that when two parties fuse that each casts half the vote received by the fusion candidates and for that reason both o these parties will take precedence over the socialists and prohibitionists. While the secretary of state has not intimated which party he will place in the second position t is a safe guess that this will go to the democrats.

ANDREWS ON NATIONAL ISSUES

Anditor for Treasury Also Defends New Nebraska Revenue Law. WAYNE, Neb., Oct. 8 .- (Special Telegram.)-A large and enthusiastic audience greeted W. E. Andrews, auditor for the Treasury department, at the opera house conight. The speaker gave a clear exposi tion of the past record of the grand old party and his forceful discussion brought out enthusiastic applause time and time again. Clearly did he portray the magnificent work of the republican party, its past history of deeds done and its avowed purpose to continue along the same line. A plain review of the sound money and pro tection issues was made. The address was in deep contrast with the "Chautauqua lecday afternoon, which created much dissatisfaction among his followers because he failed to discuss national issues. Mr Andrews also devoted some time to state issues and clearly demonstrated the assured position of the fusionists on the revenue measure when it is known that a majority of them voted for the bill. The speaker was of the opinion that the dissatisfaction in regard to the new tax law was caused by the failure of the assessors to properly Interpret the law, Mr. Andrews was never saw such corn in my life. The couditions were ideal in Nebraska this year for making corn, the soil in the Platte valley taking up the rainfall and holding it until needed. My impression is that there must be $30,000,000 worth of corn in the Platte valley this year. I never saw such uniformity in stalks nor such uniformity in ears and in view of the fact that the frost has not injured the corn to any extent in Nebraska, I feel sure that when the actual yield is known the corn crop of Nebraska for 1904 will exceed the most sanguine expectations. In Iowa the rainy season continued too long and there were large areas of soft corn left when the frost touched my state, so that I am of the opinion that year is too high, while that of Nebraska is too low.'

ON THE SAFETY OF OVER EATING

The Rule of Choosing the Lesser of Two Evils Applies to the Way You Eat.

I want to know how a man is to know when he has had enough? The Pilgrim Fathers, I believe, had a quaint saying to the effect that you should always rise from the table feeling as if you could cat some more. But the question is, how much more? Just when to stop. That's the point. The rule is wrong, because it's no rule at all. It is inexact and unscientific. It is likely to lead to the dangerous habit of cating too little. And eating too little-or digesting too little, which amounts to the same thing-is the cause of nine-tenths of the diseases from which humanity suffers today. What is disease?

It is simply uneven balance between waste and repair.

Some organ lacks strength to carry or the special work for which it was created. Where shall it find the strength it lacks? In drugs?

Ten thousand times NO! Better die than become a hopeless drug fiend.

No: in food.

"But," you say, "I eat a plenty of good food every day!" True, dear friend, but you don't digest it.

And food, undigested, is mere poison. So, to make food do you good you must take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The great thing about Stuart's Dyspepsis Tablets is that their action does not depend upon stimulative druggery. They cannot create a habit.

They contain no ingredients to "pick you "tone up your nervous system" or furnish whip energy by calling out your vital reserve force. They create new strength, force and energy-out of your food. If taken starving, they will do you no good at all. So, eat to live, and live to eat, with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The curse of our present civilization exhaustion.

And exhaustion, whether of brain, nerves. physical strength or vital force, is caused by starvation.

Of two evils, it is better to overeat (and prevent indigestion with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets) than to rise from the table not having eaten enough to repair the exhaustion of your vital forces.

For exhaustion or starvation leads to the most varied forms of sickness or disease, brought on by inability of the weakened vitality to counteract the disease-poisons and microbes.

Whereas the well fed and well nourished person, without ever feeling the worse for it, can expose himself to dangers, the mere thought of which would drive the weak starving dyspeptic into a panic fit. Good food, well digested, is the great se cret of a healthful existence here on earth. So, eat heartily, every day, of the best food you can get, and regulate the working of your digestive machinery with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

a result, you will be astonished to and how much stronger and livelier you feel, how much more and better work you can do, how much more pleasure you will get out of life, and how your old enemy that chronic trouble which has fastene upon your week spot, whatever it is, will up and away, and ever after leave you in peace, health and comfort. There's more truth than poetry in all this.
