Marolyne Writes Interesting Letter to Evelyn of How Really Smart the Diplomacy of the Auditorium Function Was.

A Mathematical Stunt. One added to one equals one.
But of course the one must be won;
Then add a divorce—
That's easy, of course—
And one minus one equals one.

Now that the Horse Show and the Ak-Bar-Ben ball are over one may expect to hear something of what society expects to do this winter, and the indications are that society will begin doing something worth while before very long. In fact, the season promises to be more than ordinarily gay for there are affairs ahead that must make It so. Among the earlier things that may be counted upon are the functions attending the introduction of the half-dozen young women who will make their debut this winter, all of which will take place before the holidays. And then there are some weddings shead that ought to be announced before long.

This week starts off well with a lot of small affairs and not a few really large ones that will mean entertainment for all. Of course the Martin-McKenna wedding Thursday evening will come first with the fashionable set, but the golden wedding celebration for Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Perine Thursday evening and the Old Settlers' reunion at the home of Mrs. A. J. Poppleton Thursday will be occasions of more than ordinary interest to many who have dropped out of the more active social life. The reception given by the Young Women's Christian association Monday evening will call out the largest gathering of the week, while nearly every afternoon there will be something of a more or less formal nature. It has been prophesied by one young matron that there will be more afternoor gatherings this winter, and smarter ones than for many a season. "Because," she says, "there is such a lot of handsome reception gowns that will have to be worn or go out of style."

home at carnival time. Evelyn, for one is sure to lose a great deal; but those who did not attend the coronation ball Friday evening will never know what they missed-and I greatly doubt, dear, whether all of those who did attend will know all about it, either. Of course the papers told all about the coronation, the crowd and that sort of thing, but there are some things that I can only tell to you, Evelyn. You know the society women were dreadfully worried about the crush that was promised, but again will I doubt the ability of the board of governors to get around an awkward situation. The very large membership this year threatened to-well, it threatened a great many things besides personal discomfort to those who wanted to dance, but the governors adjusted all of that; they society all of the exclusiveness it asked for, and that is where the joke came in, for this very demand enabled the men make special concessions to sensitive feelings of the Four Hundred without giving offense to those who do not happen to long. Really, Evelyn, it was an ingenious bit of management. Of course the court was made up of society-that put it up on the platform and above the common level. and then the board went still further and directed the smart set members to present their cards at the north door, where they would receive badges admitting them to the special rooms. That satisfied them, but you ought to have been there when they arrived. The dressing rooms proved to be the space back behind the bunting at the rear of the throne. It is a series of irregular steps, Evelyn; the floor of the back boxes used at the Horse Show and the only level will direct the giving of the play. where more than four women could stand at a time had to be reached by a walk that one woman declared was too steep to be safe for anything but a goat. There were no check rooms, not even a counter. There was no mirror, no pins, no powder, no hairpins, nothing, and there was only one woman to assist in the removal of wraps. The opera coats had to be deposited on the floor and before long there was not room

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose. Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at recently resigned her position as head of all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onlone or other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexsion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and iminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison catarrh. All druggist sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant Thursday evening, at the home of Mr. tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the ontrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all putients suffering from gas is stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but 25 cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Losenges than in any of the ordinary. charcoal tablota."

SOCIETY AT THE CORONATION for the women to walk about. "The Board Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Eyler of 2116 Binner walk," as they named the steep ascent, street. was the one place where they could stand and that was so full that they literally had Smart Set Gracefully Passes the Climax of to hold on to each other to keep from falling off the sides. Oh, Evelyn, it was richbut it was exclusive. Some of the women would not even try to get in, but went on AK-SAR-BEN BALL ONE BRILLIANT AFFAIR up to the gallery, where they sat with their wraps, and in the meantime there was every convenience and plenty of room down in the big aressing room provided for "the other women" on the ground floor at the west end.

I am told that there was still another dressing room of this sort "up among the of ere in the southeast gallery." One of the girle told me, but I did not try to find andly, givelyn, being exclusive has its parents. disadvantages after all. But the women appreciated the other side of it and each played maid for the other, and finally emerged looking splendidly, though there ere comparatively few really exceptional gowns worn among the society women. Most of them had been worn pefore, but then the Horse Show necessitated so many new reception gowns that not a few had to make the best of what they happened to have in the way of ball gowns. But the coronation ball comes only once a year-and it is well that it does, perhaps, for frequent crushes like that of Friday night would be fatal, I am afraid, even to public spirit such as our women possess. Your devoted.

WOMAN IN CLUB AND CHARITY

The members of the Friday club of Los Angeles, whose handsome club house will be so well remembered by all whose priviege it was to attend the Los Angeles blennial, are having an experience just ow and with that same handsome club ouse, by which other club women may well profit.

When the house was built, the members of the club did not buy up the stock as they might have done and finally, to help them out, two women of the city, neither of them club women, bought the emainder of the controlling amount of stock. The fact that the members themselves did not really own the building. cemed to escape them and they have continued for the last five years to occupy the building at a rental of $125 a month. But now the lease has expired and an awakening has come. They have been informed that owing to a general increase in the value of city real estate, the club Miss Emily Wareham has returned from house property is now worth $28,500, instead Canada and the Thousand Isles, where she of $20,000, the original cost, and they have ever observed in America. The second asthe option of buying the place at the increased figure or renting it at an increased rental.

The women realize they have suffered for their short sightedness, but fortunately. they are better able now to buy the property at the advanced figure than they were when it was built. The club has more than doubled its membership and now includes 800 of the most influential women. socially and financially, of Los Angeles.

AN EXPLANATORY STATEMENT.

Messrs. J. L. Brandels & Sons Issue Special Announcement to Their Patrons.

We desire to express our regret that the inavoidable crowding in our store during Ak-Sar-Ben week may have brought some discomfort to our patrons. Despite our best efforts, the multitudes that thronged our store served to handicap our service and we feel that we owe an apology to our city shoppers and our out-of-town visitors as well for our temporary inability to extend, to them the comfort and attention they have a natural right to expect at Brandels'.

Tomorrow our store will resume its natural course. There will be the same prompt attention, the same roomy accomnodation and the same excellent buying advantages that characterize this establishment. We will be even more eager than usual to satisfy your wants after what may have seemed our neglect of your omfort.

With the occupation of our great new building, which will soon be in course of erection, we enter upon a new era. We will then be able to properly accommodate all crowds, no matter what their size. There will be wider aisles, increased floor space and greater facilities to insure ease in shopping. Our new store will be seven stories high. It will extend from 16th to 17th street and from Douglas to the alley. We beg to thank our out-of-town guests and our city shoppers for their valued
