RUSSIANS EXPECT LITTLE NEWS

Forward Movement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 11.-12:45 p. m. can be expected from the Russian side

An officer of the general staff, speaking of the necessity for secrecy while on the offensive, recalled how a private letter falling into the hands of Napoleon after the battle of Borodino, betrayed the whole plan for Barclay de Tolly's offensive movements and almost led to disaster.

With the curtain down on the war stage many wild rumors may be expected. While the general staff intimates that Kouropatkin is advancing cautiously and entrenching as he goes, most of the military critics hold the opinion that his greatest chance of success is a quick smash at the Japaness positions north of the Taitse river, which ould drive the Japanese back in confusion back upon the river before they had a chance to prepare for their "thdrawal. As Keuropatkin's order of the day was not given out until seven days after the advance began it would not be surprising if heavy fighting was already in progress. Indeed, the latest newspaper dispatches say that an artillery duel lasted throughout Sunday on the center and right flank and that the Japanese are everywhere retiring before the Russian advance.

The statement that Kourspatkin is moving on each side of the railroad in order to have an easy line of communication would indicate his intention to make a frontal attack, with a possible turning movement from the west, where the ground is open, but there the river bars the way and no decisive victory is seemingly possible unless he can reach the Japanese line.

A military expert writes: "It is difficult to say when Field Marshal Oyama will accept battle. Perhaps he will resist the advance at various positions north of the Taltas river and then defend the river, but according to the latest unofficial reports our troops are advancing along the whole line and the cavalry is even across the Taltae river."

OPINION FROM ST. PETERSBURG War Office Does Not Think General Engagement is On.

ST. PETERSBURG. Oct. 12 -2:10 a. Severe fighting north of Yental, resulting in a temporary check of General Kourpat kin's advance guard, of which the Asso clated Press correspondent at Mukden telegraphed the first news, is not regarded at War office indicating a general engagement. The latest official despatches indicating the disposition of the various corps show that the whole army is not yet in line of battle. The present engagement may therefore be regarded as a result of a counter attack which an enterprising foe like the Japanese might be expected to make, but without any calculation to prevent the Russian advance. General Kouro patkin's present superiority in numbers, it is held here, is bound sooner or later to compel the Japanese to fall back upon their strong position within the triangle formed

The general superiority of the Japanese in mountain operations is conceded. The Russian commander undoubtedly, is aware of the difficulties of the task before him, has measured them well and is confident of his ability to overcome them. if General Kouropatkin possessed an army of half a million men, he could leave a sufficient force to attack the triangle, while he moved with the remainder around the eastern and western flanks. This is con- Georgiasidered in the best informed sircles at the War office to be improbable with the numbers now composing General Kouropatkin's army, and a frontal advance is the only alternative. Operations, however, are likely to be marked by feints on the right and left. The Japanese probably will make similar movements until both armies become involved in a death struggle.

Description of Ship. The Georgia is one of the three battleships authorized under an act of congress, approved March 3, 1899, and is also a duplicate of the two authorized and approved June 7, 1900. Blds for these five battleships were opened at the Navy department November 15, 1900, and in February, 1901, the Bath Iron works was the Georgia, a sister ship of the Virginia, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Nebraska, at a contract price of $3,590,000.

The Georgia belongs to the most powerful type of battleship affoat, and also to the largest class. It has a trial displacement of 15,000 tops and is 435 feet long. 76 feet 10 inches beam, and under trial conditions will draw twenty-four feet, six feet when fully loaded and equipped with stores, coal, ammunition, etc.

Both military masts, with fighting tops and signaling gear, are now in position, the Georgia has the distinction of being the first battleship launched with steam up. The Georgia is fitted as a flagship. Quarters are provided for a total of 700 men, consisting of one flag officer, one commanding officer, one chief of staff, twenty wardroom officers, twelve junior officers, ten warrant officers and a crew of 653 men, including marines. The big battleship was gaily decorated with flags and bunting, as were also the office and yard buildings, in honor of the occasion. Excursionists from all sections of Maine had come to witness the launching and the party entertained by the officials of the company included Governor Joseph M. Terrell of Georgia, Mrs. Terrell, Judge and Mrs. Hamilton McWhorter, Miss Camella McWhorter, Congressman F. Carter Tate, Mrs. Tate, Miss Stella Tate and Congressman W. C. Adamson, all of

CREW OF FREIGHT TO BLAME

Coroner Concludes His Investigation of Wreck at Warrensburg, Mo.

CHARGES TRAINMEN WITH GOING TO SLEEP

Two of the Brakemen Arrested or Charge of Steeling $37 from Body of Man Who Was Killed, WARRENSBURG, Mo., Oct, 11.-The crew of the extra freight train which collided with the Missouri Pacific World's fair train resterday, resulting in the death of twentynine persons, is held responsible for the disaster by the coroner's jury, which returned a verdict tonight. The verdict but made no remarks and retired to his car, charges the crew with disobeying orders and with being asleep at their post of duty. No recommendation was made as t the prosecution of the train crew.

County | Prosecuting Attorney Morrow said after the inquest that he would immediately begin the prosecution of the persons charged with the responsibility of the wreck by the coroner's jury.

At the hearing this afternoon Engineer Horton of the extra freight acknowledged that he had mistaken train No. 50 for the second section of No. 30. He was positive that four trains eastbound had passed and if he was asleep at any time while the train was on the siding, he did not know it. "I was drowsy," he said, "but don't think I was asleep. If I was asleep I was sitting straight up in the cab of my en-

Following is a list of the members of the freight crew: John D. Horton of Sedalla, engineer; J. W. Preston of Jefferson City, conductor: R. G. Dawson of Sedalia, fireman; L. A. Haynes and E. Ziegler of Jefferson City, brakemen.

The examination of W. W. McVey, night operator at Montserrat, brought out the fact that the train dispatcher at Sedalia ordered out wrecking crews, section men and doctors before the two trains came together.

Julia A. Wood of Oxford, Kan., who was injured in the wreck, is not expected to live. Others of the injured who were brought to the railway hospital here for treatment are progressing favorably.

The unidentified woman among the dead proves to be Mrs. T. H. Alley of Cedarville. Kan., whose husband also was killed. Brakemen Charged with Theft.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 11 .- E. Ziegler and L. A. Haynes, brakemen on the freight train which crashed into a Missouri Pacific World's fair train near Warrensburg, Mo., yesterday, killing twenty-nine persons, were arrested here to day on warrants charging them with stealing $37 from the body of a fellow brakeman named Seidel, who was killed. A bloodstained railroad ticket, issued to James England of Dexter, Kan., was found in the pocket of one of the men under arrest. Ziegler and Haynes are among those accused by the Warrensburg coroner's jury as responsible for the wreck.

close of his speech and, making his way through the dense crowd, sought out the old gentleman and greeted him heartily, engaging him in conversation while the mit the bottling of whisky in a government train remained. At Iowa Falls Senator Fairbanks dwelt upon the prosperity of the farmers. He said:

Something for Farmers.

An eminent democratic authority some time ago, in the hope of winning the support of the great agricultural vote, asserted that the republican party had done but little for the farmers of the country. He contrasted the expenditure of $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 for the support of the agricultural department with expenditures for the support of other branches of the federal service. The statement was not entirely accurate, though he did not mean that it should fall short of the absolute truth. The republican party has not only appropriated $5,000,000 for the support of that department, at the head of which is the great secretary of agriculture, James Wilson of Iowa, but it appropriated more than $20,000,000 at the last session for the support of the rural free delivery service throughout the United States. That service is one of the fruits of republican administration. More important than these are the benefits coming to the farmers of the United States through the beneficial operation of the policies of the republican party. The fact is that our farmers have been benefited by the operation of these prices during the last seven and a half years more than they have ever been been fedited in all of the history of the republic.

At Waterloo, Senator Allison and former Something for Farmers.

At Waterloo, Senator Allison and forme Speaker Henderson occupied seats on the platform, while Senator Fairbanks spoke and both made speeches there after the vice presidential candidate took his departure. He was accompanied during the day by Governor Cummins and other prominent Iowa republicans. Senator Fairbanks pointed. I am sure that during your presence here you will have the respect and the admiration of all honest minded citizens, and we ail hope that the result of your visit here will benefit the Indians, morally, physically and financially. We all wish to see these Indian citizens, not only in name, but in mind and body, well. And we urgently ask that all the unsavory surroundings which have brought them in body and in mind below the level of the beasts, he removed. Their deplorable condition is a fact which unmistakably exists, and which is testified to by the agent and by overybody in this county. This fact alone proves that there are some that entrap and debauch the Indians, and it is the commissioner's exclusive duty to find it out. It is the shepherd's duty to protect his flock and make war on the wolves and lay conceased and surprise them and not to fire blank shots in the air and scare them away before he goes there in an effort to bill them. would do all he could in the interest of WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Henry G. Davis, democratic candidate for vice president, reached here today from Baltimore over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and left twenty minutes later on his campaigning trip through Maryland and West Virginia. At Brunswick, Md., Senator Daniel, one of the party on the Davis train, was the first to appear, and he was cheered. A minute later Mr. Davis came to the platform and bowed. He was enthusiastically greeted, SCHUYLER, Neb., Oct. 11.-(Special Pelegram.)-Populists and Democrats of

While I am sure that you will do your best to have these Indians protected, I will have to see the results from Washington before I can put my faith in them. But no matter how your investigation is viewed in Washington, if these means will not bring results, stronger means will be employed.

Nicce Wants the Policy.

Elise Zweill of Switzerland has brought a civil suit against the Modern Woodmen of America over the life insurance policy of her late uncle, Christ Marti. She wants the court to order the company to pay the amount of this policy, $2,000, to herself and not to Mrs. Mary Lannan of Columbus, Neb., who also claims it. Mrs. Zweill says she is the only legal heir of Marti, who left his estate to her.

Old Folks Concert.

Last night at the North Side Christian church were heard songs of the old days, the occasion being an old folks concert given by the members of the church. Among those who sang were Miss Burnett, Miss Fannie Baird, Miss C. Robertson, Mrs. Mangum and Messrs, J. Knight, L. R. Smith and O. C. Blandein. The affair was conducted by Mrs. H. C. Kirschstein, the wife of the pastor.
