Over Better Road.

All government supplies now going to Fort Washakis, Wyo, are shipped by way of Casper instead of Rawlins, as heretofore. A quartermaster's depot has been established at Casper and the supplies are transported from there by team. The abandonment of Rawlins as a transfer shipping point was owing to the rough roads through a mountainous section. Casper, though a greater distance from Fort Washakie than Rawlins, affords a much better road to the fort, hence the change in transfer stations.

of Procedure Under Scavenger Law Discussed at Court House.

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICIALS TAKE PART

W. T. Graham Contends Connell's Plan of Scaling Percentages is Impracticable and Would Kill Competition.

The county commissioners, President Zimman of the city council, County Assessor Harry Reed, City Tax Commissioner Fleming, Assistant City Attorney Herdman and County Attorney English had a consultation yesterday at the court house over the protection of the city and county interests in the scavenger law tax sales. Considerable heat was developed in the clash of ideas. The representatives of the city were present to support the plan adopted by the council Tuesday evening of a sliding percentage to be bid by the government to protect its interests. W. T. Graham, who was present, contended the idea was impracticable, as it would kill competition and leave a great amount of property on the hands of the city. The council had announced the scale to be bid was 40 per cent on $100, 50 per cent up to $500, 60 per cent up to $1,000, 70 per cent up to $2,500, and 75 per cent above that figure on the assessed valuation

Mr. Graham said while Mr. Fleming was one of the best commissioners the city Butler. had ever had, he had made some takes in assessing value. He cited cases where lots were assessed at twice the price for which they recently had sold. In such cases the city, by following the per cent scale, would pay much more than the lots were worth. He said:

"If the real estate men knew in advancthe percentages mentioned must be allowed for in bidding, they would not touch the three principle rivals for admiration on the

Said Mr. Graham: "Bonding companies do not often go above 40 per cent of the den, who is presenting her "Cycle of Love," value where the transaction is of a and Edna Tempest, the athletic girl. All friendly nature. That per cent would be three display stunning gowns with grace. much harder to reach in a tax suit where only a tax title was gained with chances of depreciation and other draw backs."

Some Other Ideas. Mr. Graham thought in place of a fixed ratio the city and county officials should be present and in a case where the taxes would be lost, then they should bid what was necessary to protect the interests of he public.

It was asked what the city and county has allowed the virtue and admirable qualiild do if they became possessed of a the of the virtue and admirable qualilarge amount of property under these ratios. Mr. Herdman thought the properties need not be taxed, but in reply the argument was advanced by Messrs. Graham and T. P. Havens that the scavenger law had been designed to clean up these old tax liens and by sale, if in no other way, put the land in hands from which taxes could be raised. If the city and county became possessed of these lands to considerable extent the property would not be taxable and the idea of the law would be to a certain extent defeated.

Mr. Zimman thought the percentages named by the council had perhaps been too high on county property, but held they were all right for city lots. The meeting adjourned without adopting any policy or without naming any persons to represent the government at the sales.

No Delirium Tremens. The coroner's jury yesterday afternoon re-turned a verdict in the case of Charles Anderson, found dead last week on the railroad tracks with both limbs cut off and whose death at St. Joseph's hospital was attributed to delirium tremens, to the effect that Anderson came to his death at St. Joseph's hospital from injuries sus-tained on the Armour sidetrack and by heing run over by a Union Pacific switch wagine about 1:30 last Wednesday morning.

Ordinance to Submit Municipal Lighting Plant Bond to People Passes.

O'BRIEN AND NICHOLSON AGAINST IT

Proposition is to Let Voters Decide at the Polls Whether Omaha Shall Build Electric Light

The ordinance authorizing the submis sion to popular vote of the question of issuing $500,000 bonds for the construction, appropriation of purchase of conduits, sub ways and an electric street lighting plant was passed by the council Tuesday night by a vote of 7 to 2.

Mayor Moores is on record as strongly favoring the proceeding and nothing stands in the way from the incorporation of the question in the ballots at the election November 8.

The action was a surprise, as it was understood nothing would be done until later in the week at a special meeting. The proposition from the Omaha Electric Light and Power company for street lamps at $75 a year was received previous to the vote on the bond ordinance and re ferred to the street and lighting commit-

Nicholson and O'Brien were the members who voted against the bond ordinance. "I don't see the wisdom of voting $500,000 Burkely had sent in positive declinations for an electric light plant that cannot produce light as cheap as prices offered by the lighting company," said Nicholson in explaining his vote.

O'Brien said he thought it better to get through with the waterworks acquirement before attempting any more municipal ownership projects. No other talk was had about the measure.

Whether or not this means the offer of cheaper street lighting will be withdrawn is problematical

Other Bond Propositions. Other bond propositions also were authorized for submission to the voters. One calls for $100,000 in sewer bonds and the other for $60,000 for the construction of three new fire engine houses at the following locations: Twenty-fourth, near Cuming street, where the present house has nearly collapsed; Nineteenth and Lake, and in the rear of the high school on a site yet to be determined.

Mayor's Veto Sustained. A veto from Mayor Moores to the resolution directing the dog catcher to continue work until further orders was sustained. The mayor said Poundmaster Laughland has continued catching dogs regardless of orders from himself and the council to stop, and upon the police interwomen to the Orpheum bill this week, and fering had threatened to sue the chief of police, city, mayor and their bondsmen to obtain redress. The mayor stated, also the theaters today a larger audience than that he did not consider the city has the money to spend for the 300 or more dogs that would be impounded during October and that the question had been to quit the work on the first of each October. The presentation of a bouquet of roses to the mayor from the council last Thursday night, when the executive was prevented from welcoming King Ak-Sar-Ben, was remembered in a neatly worded letter of thanks and appreciation.

To Attend Tax Sales.

By resolution the city attorney was authorized to attend tax sales under the scavenger law which begin November 2 ten the play around the central figure of a be sold for certain percentages of the 1901 assessment valuation. Beeson Wants Information. A letter from A. G. Beeson, local representataive of the National Board of Fire Underwriters asked what action, if any, be taken upon the report of Electrical Inspector Boyd of September 16 wherein improvement in outside electrical comedy, by Leo Ditrichstein, in which wiring was demanded under a threat of indians will begin a four nights' engagement creased fire insurance rates. Mr. Beeson at the Boyd, beginning Sunday night, said no acknowledgment of the communichiefly concerns Vivian Rogers (Blanche cation had been received and he wished to Ring), a beautiful and fascinating show know at once what is proposed to be done. On the motion of Councilman Evans the pagne agent and who amuses herself at the letter was referred to the city electrician, who has nothing whatever to do with the answering of it, the matter being now out of his hands and up to the council. Zimman's Car Fare Ordinance

The Zimman ordinance proposing 3-cent street car fares during the rush hours of the morning and evening was placed on file upon the recommendation of the committee on rallways, telegraphs and telephones. No reasons were given for the summary disposal of the measure and no objection raised to its death. Hoye, O'Brien and Zimman voted against the adoption of the report. Hoye demanding roll call in order to get himself right on the record.

Railronds Get Rights. An ordinance giving the Union Pacific and Burlington railroads the right to traverse the following streets with tracks and closing the streets was passed: Railroad street from Marths to Vinton, Castellar, Arbor, Elm, Oak and Spring. The portions closed are stub ends abutting on the raffroad property. The additional room is desired to increase the yards. Railroad street is not used as a thoroughfare. The ordinances arranging to furnish steady heat to the new Creighton Law school for $25 a month was passed. The arrangement will necessitate the use of ar extra boiler at the city hall.

NASH NOT CERTAIN AS TO PLAN

May or May Not Withdraw His Own Proposition.

"I do not know whether I shall withdraw the proposition for cheaper street lighting until after the people have voted on the municipal plant bond issue," said President F. A. Nash of the Omaha Electric Light and Power company, in reference to the passage of the ordinance Tuesday night by the council. "I may let the proposition remain up to the city until the election is held as an argument against the propose municipal plant. But on this I am not So far as I can see the city is still at perfect liberty to extend the lighting contract, regardless of the bond or dinance, or the way the people vote. Personally. I think the people do not wish to attempt further municipalization of public utilities for the present. With a municip lighting plant will come a demand and political pressure for more lights, that will bring the total number from 529 up to. I

"One of the chief reasons why I was defeated in the council was the fact that the other members of the council feit that Zimman was endeavoring to make political capital for himself at their expense, and, rather than do the wise and practical thing. they made up their minds they would vote for the ordinance, to play even with Zimman. That was the inner influence that prevented a consideration of the proposition on its merits."

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Perine Are Remembered by Their Many Friends.

The lecture room of the First Presbyterian church at Dodge and Seventeenth streets, was thronged last evening from 8 to Il o'clock by friends and church assoclates of Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Perine, in ommemoration of their golden wedding anniversary and to extend to the venerable couple their sincere congratulations over the auspicious event. In fact, during the entire afternoon of yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Perine were the recipients of congratulations and testimonials from those who would be unable to attend the evening reception at the church. Chief among these mementoes were letters from old time church friends and from associates of their early married life in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Perine occupied a positio at the west side of the lecture room, and, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ken nedy, received the friends as they passed by. Among them were many of the leading citizens of Omaha. Following the reception a platform was placed in the center of the room, and Mr. and Mrs. Perine were given the seats of honor upon it. Mr. Howard Kennedy, as master of ceremonies, called the gathering to order and Rev. M. B Lowry, president of the Presbyterian Theological seminary, delivered the invocation. Mr. Kennedy then addressed the venerable couple, congratulating them upon their years and good works.

Congratulatory letters were read from Rev. E. B. Parsons, a former pastor of the church, now secretary of Williams' college at Williamstown, Mass.; Rev. W. J Harsher, another former pastor, now of Denver; Dr. S. B. McCormick, now chancellor of the Western University of Pennsylvania, at Allegheny, Pa., also former pastors, and from Rev. E. H. Mr. C. K. Coutant, one of the pioneers of the church, and an associate for years of Mr. and Mrs. Perine in the upbuilding of the church, in a feeling and eloquent address recounted the early struggles of the church and the part that the guests of honor of the evening had taken in its upbuilding and their faithful devotion to its interests. He then, in behalf of the church members, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Perine each a purse of $50 in gold. Just prior to the presentation, a poen written in honor of the occasion by Mrs. Ethelwynne Gregor was read. In a brief address, recounting the services of Mr. and Mrs. Perine in behalf of the missionary work of the church, Mrs. W. R.

Adams on behalf of the Women's Missionary society, presented them with a purse of $25 in gold, and to Mrs. Perine a life membership in Woman's Board of Home Mr. Kennedy followed with a brief ad-

P. E. Her aroused the enthusiasm of the Real Estate exchange yesterday when he referred to the Omaha building projects of the Lincoln, Beatrice & Omaha Electric

"I have options on considerable property upon which these gentlemen propose to expend $500,000 to $1,000,000 in Improvements." he said, "and they not only promise to in crease your retail trade, but to show their confidence in the future of Omaha by investing of their surplus capital within its limits. The kindliest feeling prevails between the local street railroad and the proposed interurban electric. Details regarding the entrance into the city of the latter ment reached in many points, but no signed contract has been entered into."

and they expected to have it in operation within one year. Dr. George L. Miller spoke at some length on the value of electric interurban lines, having been in the east for the express purpose of becoming acquainted with their business, and he marveled at what they "had accomplished and not at the expense of the steam roads."

The matter of approving or disapproving the plan to issue bonds for the inauguration of a municipal electric light and power plant was discussed and made the special order for the next meeting of the exchange At the same time a committee, consisting of W. T. Graham, E. A. Benson and A. P. Tukey, was appointed to investigate the matter and report next Wednesday to the full meeting of the exchange. W. G. Ure led a lengthy debate on the council decision to bid on scavenger taxes. The position was taken that the city would become the owner of many pieces of property on which 50 or 75 per cent of the assessed valuation would be 25 to 80 per cent in excess of actual worth.

ORDERS FOR SIGNAL CORPS

Instructions from Washington Authorise Immediate Work at Fort Omaha.

COLONEL SAWYER WILL ACT AT ONCE

Expects Operations to Follow Hi Recommendations and Estimates, but Not Completion for This Winter.

Instructions were received as anticipated by Lieutenant Colonel J. Escrourt Sawyer, chief quartermaster of the Department of the Missouri, from Quartermaster General Humphreys Tuesday evening directing him to make an immediate inspection of the condition of the barracks and administration building at old Fort Omaha, and their availability for quartering two companies of the United States Signal service. Colonel Sawyer is directed to make the necessary estimates for repairs as expeditiously as possible and he will go to Fort Omaha tomorrow with the superintendent of construction to make the necessary plans.

"If necessary," said Colonel Sawyer, "we will take two superintendents of construction with us in order to hurry the matter as much as possible. The buildings are in such shape that many repairs may be needed, as they have not been occupied since the Spanish-American war, when the Third regiment of Nebraska volunteers was quartered there. I think work will begin immediately after the submission of our report to the quartermaster general, I scarcely think the work can be finished in time for the signal companies to take possession this winter, as there is much to be done, but at all events the work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as pos-
