Northeastern Receipts Large—Boats Find Long Lines Being Liquidated and Break Wheat

Y-So, Corn 1-30—Gossip.

It has been many a day since there was as much activity in the grain market on the Omaha exchange. Sales included over forty cars, largely of wheat, with a fair amount of oats and some little corn. There was also a good business in futures, this end of the trading floor. The market was discounting the great corn crop that Nebraska will soon be gathering in, and the local market was not without considerable activity, but there were numerous orders for outside buyers. Local receipts were about 1,000 bushels at the wide range of 80¢ to 85¢, this being accounted for by the fact that the receipts were not of the quality of the year's crop, but by reason of the quality of the year's crop. Omaha paid best for good wheat—millers were buying a car of No. 2 at 80¢ to 85¢. It required good standard of 80¢ to 85¢ to get outside quotations close to those figures.

There were rather erratic, grading being ignored for weight and extra quality. No. 1 sold higher than No. 2. The prices for the various grades will be seen in the quotations, published elsewhere.

In speculative markets, there was a general tendency to sell for profit, and as a result there was a world of liquidation on Chicago and other markets. The declines, accompanied by spasmodic reactions that could never wholly regain their former level. Notwithstanding the receipts in the southwest are showing some falling off, but in the east and time to come in stocks to accumulate with considerable rapidity. These were the natural inducements to the decline.

The street has about come to the realization that all the forecasts and crop estimates cannot injure the corn crop, and they played for a time to the effect. Then the wheat bears thought that there was a line of long wheat that liquidation and found that a fact, and one yield brought another, even the feverish rallies not destroying the confidence of the bears.
