

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Cash Wheat in Omaha Up as High as $1.07 1-2; Great Milling Demand.

SPECULATIVE MARKETS HAVE SHARP RALLY

December Wheat Up 2 1-2 - May 15-50 - Corn Firm - Shorts Nervous Over Situation - Budget of Gossip.

OMAHA, Oct. 18, 1904.

Conditions in the wheat market tend to the belief that the liquidation of the long legs of the closing days of last week have not cleared the market of speculative movement in the interest of higher prices.

The situation is made to appear this way because of the fact that the price of wheat, which has forced prices above the option market and in doing this has given rise to the current case of light.

As in Omaha this morning a hard wheat sold at $1.07, which is quite a satisfactory price to the growers.

Wheat sold at $1.06, which is a case of a satisfactory price to the growers.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Well Controlled Reaction Due to Selling to Take Profits on Rise.

SUPPORTERS OF THE MARKET UNLOAD

Stocks Pass from Promoters of the Bull Movement to the Hands of Speculators, Attracted by the Advance.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.

A well-controlled reaction was seen in today's stock market, due to the selling to take profits on the rise.

The market was kept irregular, rather than the weaker hands of the new class of the advances on sentiment was not so effectively as yesterday.

The reaction of yesterday's late trading was predicted by the market.

The result was a general conviction this morning that a general distribution of holdings had been effected yesterday.

The absorption of Missouri Pacific was the chief feature of the day.

The profit taking was not precipitate, and was not carried far at the expense of the market.

The policy was reverted to of shifting operating from one prominent stock to another to support the market.
