

FIRST BAPTIST DEDICATED

New Building is Formally Consecrated as House of Worship.

DR. M. W. HAYNES OF CHICAGO PREACHES

Services Installing New Pipe Organ Are Held in the Evening and Special Music is Great Treat.

The beautiful new First Baptist church building at Park avenue and Harney street was dedicated Sunday morning, Dr. M. W. Haynes of Chicago preaching the sermon.

The general dedicatory ceremonies began with an organ prelude by the organist and choir director, Miss Margaret Boulter, followed by the singing of the doxology.

The pastor, Rev. J. W. Conley, pronounced an invocation. Rev. C. W. Brinard read Psalm 84. A double quartet, composed of Mrs. L. T. Sunderland, Miss Alma L. Schmidt, L. C. Huxson, Will G. Manchester, Mrs. A. H. Allen, Miss Ella Clark, A. C. Stewart and E. E. Gray, sang Dudley Buck's "Festival Te Deum."

Cost of the Edifice. The statement of the building committee presented by its chairman, J. A. Sunderland, showed the building and furnishings, exclusive of the organ, had cost $44,233, the ground being valued at $8,500 and the organ at $7,500, the total value of the property being $60,233.

In the evening organ installation services were held, with the following program: Organ Prelude—Festival March—Reverie. Doxology. Hymn No. 211. Prayer by pastor. Scripture—Psalm 46.

Dr. Haynes took for his text the words: "For I have learned in whatsoever state I am to be content." He said the real meaning of the text was to be sufficient unto any condition.

"Whatever difference there is between success and failure, between high and low position, between wealth and poverty," said Dr. Haynes, "is the difference between being satisfied or dissatisfied for the situation. The man who is satisfied unto the situation owns the man who is not. This is true in all walks of life, politics, commerce, letters—the church of Jesus Christ."

GREATEST QUESTION IN REALM God: What is He? First in All Religions Thought.

"God: What is He Like?" was the theme of the sermon by Rev. S. D. Dutcher at the First Christian church yesterday morning. His text was from the first book of Corinthians, VIII, 3: "To us there is but one God, the Father."

UNION OF FOUR GREAT CHURCHES Joining of Bodies Predicted by Dr. Herring.

At the First Congregational church Sunday morning Rev. Hubert C. Herring suggested a story of the doings of the recent council of the Congregational church at Des Moines.

There were four prime considerations before the council: First, union. I can see just over the horizon the answer to the prayer of the Savior, "that they may be all one."

The plan for union came from the efforts of the United Brethren and the Protestant Methodists, and the Congregationalists made application to be taken in. Then the Free Methodists came in and asked for consideration in the matter of union.

"Every one was not in favor of the move, but no one opposed it. The Free Baptists said there was no serious obstacle in their way of union and the chances are the four bodies eventually will come together. We need no popes, no bishops, and when if nothing else comes of it I have had the joy of anticipation."

NEED OF SAVING THE CHILDREN Efforts Launched by Rector Beecher to Interest Young People.

An effort is being made among the Episcopal churches of the city to more strongly interest the children of the parishes in the church home. Among other means to this end the churches will join in a field day Saturday afternoon at the new playground for the children, the sports to begin at 2 o'clock. In the evening at Germania hall will be an informal concert, which is to be a children's frolic.

The rector explained how the writer had foreseen the danger of contact to the Jews from the strange peoples among whom they were going and how he saw the deep religious thought of the nation weakened by "knowing the future strength and character of the nation depended on the education and training of the children."

When we see in the very streets of the city the hand of the evil one working his ugly finger forces on our young manhood and young womanhood? We say, "It is not my son." But they are our sons and daughters. Indeed, if we measure the fatherhood and motherhood of the needs of the time in which we live the hopeless, friendless little wanderers of the world need our Christian prayers. It is not enough to house and clothe and educate our own offspring alone. We hold a stewardship from God in which we will be made accountable.

TRAIN CHILD FROM THE BIBLE Rev. A. S. Clark Emphasizes Need of Religion in Home.

Rev. A. S. Clark of Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church preached yesterday from the text Proverbs xxix, 17: "Train up a child he way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

There is a tremendous latent possibility bound up in a boy. Parents often look back to the time that has forever passed, all too soon, when the opportunity should have been taken for the training of youth of material things as well as in spiritual things, and as these youthful years are moulded, so will they continue for life.

FROM OUR LETTER BOX

Bourke Cockran as a Prophet. OMAHA, Oct. 23.—To the Editor of The Bee: I see by this morning's dispatches that Bourke Cockran has promised the workmen of Chicago that if the tariff laws are amended in accordance with his ideas there will be peace, happiness and prosperity all over the land. You remember when the Wilson bill was before congress he promised the workmen that after its passage there would be two jobs hunting every man that wanted to work. That was a prophecy that was a prophecy. And an Irishman I am very proud of Bourke Cockran, the greatest orator living; but as a political prophet he is not a success.

The Genealogy of Kennedys. P. L. Forgan, secretary-treasurer of this city and county, has written an interesting and valuable genealogy of the name Kennedy, which in present day republican has an enviable prominence in our city and state. Mr. Forgan sends us the following his authority in being a book on "Scottish Armorial Bearings and Derivations of Surnames."

It is a general opinion that the Kennedys had an Irish origin, and that they sprang from the old thanes of Carrick long before the Bruce (from whom sprang the conqueror of Annabrook) held the title of earl thereof. The name Kenneth, the ancestor of the noble Ayshire family of Cassillis (now Ailsa) in the thirteenth century was Roland de Carrick, chief of his name, and his great-grandson, Sir John Kennedy of Cassillis, was the first to assume that surname, instead of Carrick.

Davenport, cloudy. 50 52.00. Denver, cloudy. 48 50.00. Helena, partly cloudy. 50 52.00. Galveston, clear. 70 72.00.

The Panama Question. OMAHA, Oct. 23.—To the Editor of The Bee: Much has been spoken and written pro and con concerning the Panama canal treaty, in which several parties have severely censured the administration at Washington for recognizing the Republic of Panama as one of the nations of the earth. There has been and still is loud grating about what some call a violation of international law by our government because of the prompt and early recognition of the young republic.

NEW HOMES ON THE UNION PACIFIC Here are all the advantages of rail-ways, markets, schools, churches, society and neighbors, that can be found in an old settled country. To the man who is a possessor of a few hundreds of dollars the territory on and tributary to the Union Pacific presents better opportunities for producing a home and a competency than any other part of the globe.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Little Has Been Learned About Matthew Jensen, Found Drowned. NEW RULE SAVING FOR COMMISSION MEN

Few Men to Be Thrown Out of Employment by Abolition of Solicitors, but Expense Bills Will Be Reduced. Information is meager concerning the death of Matthew Jensen of Millard, whose body was found on a sandbar near the edge of the river at the foot of O street yesterday.

How Jensen came to lose his life at the river is perplexing to the police, who think he would have taken other and more ready means to have committed suicide. When found the body of Jensen was partially covered by water, the head and shoulders being out on the sand.

Saving for Commission Men. Every commission man in South Omaha will experience a considerable saving in expense from the order promulgated by the Live Stock association at St. Louis Friday, discontinuing the practice of sending out solicitors for business. But on the other hand will see some firms experience a decline in live stock receipts. This question is being asked by some and answered by the great majority in the negative. The theory is the stock that must come to market will come, solicitors or not, the only difference being that the new order may take the sharp edge off competition to some extent.

Special Council Meeting. A special meeting of the city council was held Saturday night, when a considerable amount of routine work was disposed of. Following the meeting Councilmen Adkins, McCraith, Dworak and Kelwit packed their grips and started for a week's hunt in Polk county. They were accompanied by City Engineer Beal, President Dana Morrill of the Board of Education and Chief of Police Briggs.

Will Finish November 10. Contractor Dan Hannon says that he expects to complete the paving of South Twenty-fourth street before November 10. The west side is now finished and traffic is better on South Twenty-fourth street than ever before. In fact, it is the first time in the history of the city that people of the south side could drive with safety or comfort on that thoroughfare during rainy weather.

Quiet in Police Circles. Affairs in police circles are very quiet. There are no arrests for serious offenses and the police are having their first breathing spell since the strike. Complaints of petty thieving, especially from the railroad cars, still continue, but not so many. The police have been especially vigilant in these matters, and they believe that thefts from the railroads have about been stopped.
