

HAWKEYES EASY AT LINCOLN

Cornhuskers Win from Iowa, but Allow Another Touchdown.

WRETCHED FUMBLING IS AGAIN COSTLY

Booth's Warriors Dreadful in Attack, but Careless Enough to Let Visitors Score First in the Game.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 5.—(Special Telegram.)—Iowa university went down to defeat in the gridiron today before the fierce rushes of the Nebraska Cornhuskers, who fumbled exuberantly at times, but fairly swept the Hawkeyes of their feet by the irresistible attack which they presented. The final score stood 17 to 4.

On the board of comparative gains in advancing the ball, Iowa was badly outclassed, Nebraska's efforts netting 430 yards and Iowa's only seventy. Iowa's defense was surprisingly determined when its goal line was endangered, and in the first half the Hawkeyes balked the Cornhuskers persistently, the Nebraska either fumbling or losing the ball a half dozen times when they had worked it to within a few yards of the Iowa goal.

Nebraska settles to work. After the kickoff in the second half, followed by an exchange of punts, Nebraska secured the ball and did not once relinquish possession of it until Iowa's goal was crossed. Bender skirted one end for fifteen yards and Benedict raced around the other wing for twenty yards. The tackle masses and center buck were then resorted to, Nebraska never faltering until Glenn Mason had been pushed through the center for the touchdown.

With the score a tie, the Cornhuskers bent to their task and again beat their way down the field and across the Iowa goal. A thrilling dash by Bender for forty-five yards on a quarterback run was the feature of Nebraska's advance, which did not cease until Cotton, Nebraska's big tackle, hurdled the Iowa line and scored the touchdown.

The third touchdown was reeled off in as speedy a fashion. Iowa could not gain after Nebraska had kicked off, and was forced to punt, Nebraska taking the ball, with the Hawkeye goal over eighty yards distant. A fake buck at center and a swift dash around the end by Quarterback Bender netted thirteen yards. Eager broke through Iowa's left tackle for twelve yards. Benedict worked the crimsoncross for seventeen yards and a succession of line plunges placed the ball on Iowa's seventeen-yard line. At this juncture Bender passed the ball to Johnson, Nebraska's colored left end. Johnson was equal to the occasion and, behind a solid wall of interference, he raced straight to Iowa's left end for the remaining distance.

Iowa Loses One Goal.

Darkness added to the confusion of the final moments of play and with less than a minute of time, Stotenberg, Iowa's right end, snatched the ball out of Bender's arms, after the latter had been downed, and ran fifty yards for a touchdown. Referee Outland had blown his whistle before Stotenberg had effected his trick, and the ball was dead.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Trouble, by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent eastern cities, by too close attention to business, too little exercise and too many club dinners, finally began to pay nature's tax, in the form of chronic stomach trouble; the failure of his digestion brought about a nervous irritability, making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business, and finally deranging the kidneys and heart.

In his own words he says: "I consulted one physician after another and each one seemed to understand my case, but all the same they each failed to bring about the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another. I gave up smoking, I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, but without any marked improvement.

"Friends had often advised me to try a well known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy, but never took any stock in advertised medicines nor could believe a patent medicine would touch my case.

"To make a long story short, I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drug store and took two or three tablets after each meal, and I occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt any feeling of nausea or discomfort.

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health, and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was going to cure me completely, and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and cigar, and no one would suspect I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia.

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietors of the remedy asking for information as to what the tablets contained, and they replied that the principal ingredients were aseptic pepsin (government test), malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regardless of the condition of the stomach."

The root of the matter is this, the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and the nerves and whole system receive the nourishment which can only come from food; stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give a fictitious strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of blood, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food, and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, you will have no need of nerve tonics and sanitariums.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been in the market only a few years, yet probably every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sells them and considers them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble.
