President Roosevelt Announces Administration Will Take it Up.

CUMMINS THINKS DEMOCRACY IS DEAD

adoption of Biennial Amendment Canses Speculation as to Time of Electing Senator Dolliver's Successor.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Nov. 10 - (Special.)-The information has been brought to Des Moines in the past few days by one who received the same direct from President Roosevelt that the present national administration will begin a vigorous campaign of investigation of the trusts and sults to restrain the wrongful use power by trusts, and in general would prosecute the campaign laid out leng ago with unrelenting vigor from this time forward. President Roosevelt is represented as having stated this some time ago in confidence to a friend who was making inquiry in regard to a federal position which would affect such a program. The investigation of the beef question is to be carried to a finish and the report will soon be ready for the public. Other similar inquiries will be instituted.

Looks for New Party. Governor Cummins is quoted here as predicting that the democratic party as such will not be recognized, but that Bryan and his followers will organize a new party and base it on government ownership of the railroads. "I do not believe that the name 'democrat' has any value left," said the governor. "Mr. Bryan and his friends are more likely to find a new name and to organize along new lines. It looks to me like this is the end of the democratic party, especially in the northwest, and that it will be impossible to revive the party by Mr. Bryan or anybody

Question as to Next Senator. Much difference of opinion has already developed as to how and when the next senator will be elected from Iowa, in view of the adoption of the biennial elections amendment. This requires a session of the present legislature in January, 1906, and then a session by a new legislature in January, 1907. It is contended that there is nothing to prevent the present legislature when it holds its extra from following all precedents and electing the successor to Senator Dolliver, whose term expires March 4, 1907. At the same time there are those who contend that that duty will devolve on the legislature which will be in session at the time of the expiration of his term. There appears to be nothing in the Youstitution

Secretary Leslie M. Shaw and Congressman Lacey held a session with the com plaining stockholders and creditors of the First National bank at Grinnell and explained the whole situation. It is understood that Secretary Shaw took upon himself all responsibility for the selection of G. W. Swords of Iowa City as the receiver. The persons who had petitioned for his removal falled, however, to make any specific charges against him and the secretary announced that there would be no change made as long as matters were running along as smoothly as at present.

State Wins Tax Case. While in Monona county the state lost an important tax case involving the collateral inheritance tax on bank deposits owned by non-residents of the state, in an exactly similar case in Hamilton county the state won the case. The state treascase of the Stafford estate, involving $98,000 worth of property, chiefly bank deposits n Iowa, the lower court there held contrary to Judge Wakefield at Sloux City and decided the state could collect the The Monona county case will be appealed by the state treasurer.

Decide on Ditch Location. Attorneys appeared before the State Railroad Commission today to argue a case involving the application of the new drainage law in a case where the ditch is to cross a railroad right-of-way. The case came from Pocahontas county. The Rock Island company refused to permit the ditch to occupy an under crossing now used for a cattle way and claimed this could not be used for a drain. It was the first case in the state involving this phase of the new drainage law, and the parties to the suit finally agreed to a settlement by allowing the ditch to go through at that place.

PRESIDENT DELIVERS ANNUAL ADDRESS

Touches on the Question of Limiting the Membership of Local Chapters of the Society-Social Features of Meeting.

The auditorium of the First Baptist church was well filled with representative women from all parts of the state when yesterday afternoon Mrs. Marie Purdy Peck of Davenport, state regent, called to order the opening session of the fifth annual conference of the Iowa chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution. About forty delegates from outside towns were present and they were supplemented by the members of the local chapter, making a very flattering and repre-

Mrs. Peck, state regent, in her address

Bluce my report to the state conference a little over one year ago the work of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Iowa has progressed vory satisfactorily and is now in the most encouraging condition. In addition to the gain made by the admission of eight new chapters, the older ones are growing both in membership and interest. The new calendars show marked improvement in the quality of the literary work undertaken. Music the social hour, plenies, colonial teas and receptions still hold their own, but there is also ample evidence of more earnest study of American history. However just the accusation may be generally speaking, that Americans are indifferent to their own history, it certainly does not apply to the Daughters of the American Revolution. The addition of the American Revolution. The addition of the Ancestors names on the membership roil of the Marshalltown chapter is so excellent a feature that I would commend its adoption to other chapters. Looking forward to the time when we will wish to print the names of all Iowa Daughters, I have secured from the national secretary the names of the members all-large living in the state. It has been ascertained too, that there are many living in this state who are affiliated with chapters in other states.

Limiting of Membership. On the question of limiting the member ship of chapters, Mrs. Peck said;

The arguments presented in favor do not seem to proceed from a desire to be exclusive or to bring the number within the compass of a select circle of friends, but rather to make it fit the prescribed dimensions of the average home. In answer to this argument there is nothing to be said. However, on the general proposition I wish to say that I am in favor of the open chapter. No matter how fortunately circumstanced she may be, we cannot confer upon any women the title of Daughter of the American Revolution, and neither can we take it away from the lowliest woman of our land. In either case it is hers by right of inheritance or not at all. All we may do is to say whether she may associate herself with others of her community to further the purposes for which the society is organized or whether we will exclude her from that privilege. Except for very grave reasons no Daughter of Iowa will ignore a just claim to membership in a chapter.

The report of Mrs. Edwards, state sec-

The report of Mrs. Edwards, state secretary, was largely a report of the meeting held in Washington by the Iowa delegates to the thirteenth continental congress of the national society. It showed that the Iowa chapters had contributed $35 toward the Memorial Continental hall fund. Victor E. Bender, regent of the local chapter, made a short address of welcome and expressed the hope that this conference would be the most successful

TURNER MURDER CASE ON TRIAL Jury Secured and Two Witnesses for

The jury which will decide the fate of Robert Turner, the colored man charged with the murder of George Chilson, was secured at noon yesterday. These comprise the jury: Isaac Cherniss, A. A. Prentice, John L Luts, H. S. Terry, L. E. Sinclair A. B. Nicholas, H. A. Dickson, Richard Green, Nels Peterson, Fred Carty, F. Jacobsen, F. B. Patton.

Following the noon adjournment the state commenced the introduction of its testimony, two witnesses, E. P. Woodring and L. Buchanan, being placed on the stand. The cross-examination of the last witness was not completed when court adjourned for the day, Mr. Woodring who was a passenger on the car on which Chilson was shot while returning from the Eagles' carnival on the night of July 14 last, testified that when he fired at Chilson, Turner was standing on the car about two feet away from his victim. He also told of the trouble between Chilson and the negroes. Turner and Hill, which led up to the shooting and how Hill took Turner's revolver from him, but handed it back to him on Turner asking for it. L. Buchanan, the conductor of the car on which the shooting took place, testifled that when the trouble started between Chilson and his companions and the negross he told them that if they had any differences to settle they would have to get off the car and acttle them elsewhere. Near the Illinois Central crossing of Broadway he gave the signal to stop the car and the negroes got off. Buchanar gone ahead of the car when the shooting happened. He testified that he heard the shot and saw Turner standing about three feet from the car with the revolver in his hand. Before the shot was fired he heard one of the negroes

Convention in February.

"Council Bluffs gets the convention," was the short and to the point wording of a telegram received last evening by President John T. Mulqueen of the Council Bluffs Retail Grocers' and Butchers' association. The telegram was from R. H. Huntington, secretary of the local organization, who, with R. E. Daniels, were in Des Moines yesterday attending the meeting of the executive committee of the Iowa State Retail Grocers' association. With them was W. B. Reed, secretary of the Commercial club, who went along to give a "boost" and the result is that Council Bluffs next February with entertain the annual meeting of the state association.

Gives Officials More Time. The adoption of the constitutional amendent providing for biennial elections in this state will prolong the terms of office of County Treasurer Consigny, Sheriff Canning, County Superintendent McManus, County Surveyor Tostevin and Supervisor Brandes one year. Instead of their terms of office expiring January 1, 1906, they will not expire until January 1, 1907. In November, 1906, all county officers will come up for election instead of being divided as heretofore. Under the old system, clerk of the district court, county auditor, recorder, attorney and two members of the board were elected on the even year and county treasurer, sheriff, surveyor and superintendent of schools on the odd years. The biennial election amendment carried in Pottawattamie county by a vote of 6,059 for to 2,748 against, a majority of 3,311 in its favor. The constitutional amendment proposition providing for a reapportionment of legislative representatives carried by a majority of 2,184.
