JULYSTRONG ON DROUTH AND BUG STORIES

Corn Weak; Break of About One Cen a Bushel-Oats Very Steady -Gossip of the Pits.

OMAHA. Nov. 18, 1994.

It was a case of liquidation all along the line again today, Chicago, St. Louis and Minneapolis leading the way with breaks of about a point on the average. The pressure from the bears did not meet with much opposition, although in the latter houses there was some buying from parties who believed that the situation did not warrant such a severe break as values have custained in the last few days. The stories from the wheat fields do not show anything out bullish news, the drouth being unbroken and the bug at his work. Liverpool started the break with a decline there of $4d. Easier conditions exist abroad generally. The ability of Europe to get wheat has been evidence for some time and the large world's shipments are causing a lack of faith in stories of damage to Argentine crops. If was natural after the sick closs yesterday that there should be some further recessions, but the speculators on the bearing, the waying their inning for the first time in weeks, when they were really strong, may and very probably will, oversell themselves and be brought up one of these days with a round turn when they least expect it. It is apparent, however, that the fighting spirit of the bulls has lost some of its sharpness and they now lag when there is a chance to boost values.

In Omaha cash prices were somewhat lower, as might have been expected, and unless there is a decided change the bids sent out tonight will reflect it materially. No. 5 wheat side at $1,000;10; No. 4 at $6c. In Chicago December wheat dropped to $1.00, a loss of $6c, but this was recovered repovered considerable part of the loss. Northwestern markets were the weakest; millers were indifferent.

The bears were very active in corn and pressed their advantage for breaks of over a point in December, with a slight recovery on shorts covering before the close. May was $4c off.

During the last half hour of the session the market turned much firmer and railled until the entire decline in speculative pits at Chicago were wholly recovered an OMAHA, Nov. 18, 1904.

Financial Gossip. In response to a call from Comptroller of the Currency Ridgley. Omaha banks have responded with a statement of their condition at the close of business November 10. The call was entirely unexpected, as the last previous statement was made September 6. The present comptroller has not been at all as regular in his calls as have his predecessors. This is the last call for the year, the five as provided by law having been made.

Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Relterated reports of damage in the southwest caused active covering of wheat today, resulting in a firm market. At the close both the December and May deliveries were up 1/2c. Corn is down 1/261c. Oats are up a shade. Provisions are practically unchanged.

Sentiment in the wheat pit at the opening was bearish. Contributing to the depression were lower cables and a report of liberal shipments from Argentine. Northwestern receipts, which for some time past have been smaller than for the corresponding days a year ago, were somewhat in excess today. Opening quotations on December were off 1/25/2c, at $1.104/50 t.109/2. During the first hour selling was quite general, commission houses and pit traders having plenty of offerings on the market. The demand, however, was comparatively light and in consequence, prices declined still further. December selling off to $1.10. May reacted to $1.102. Later sentiment in the pit became builtsh and on active covering by shorts the market experienced a substantial rally. One cause of the improved demand was a report from Minneapolis, claiming sales of 60.000 barrels of flour there today. On the advance December sold up to $1.114 and May to $1.124. The market closed firm with December at $1.114. May closed at $1.114.02 1.114. The market closed firm with December at $1.114. May closed at $1.114.02 1.114. Large receipts and better grading induced free selling of December corn and in consequence the price of that delivery declined over a cent. Lower cables and clear weather were additional bear features. December opened \(\frac{1}{2}\) factor \(\frac{1}{2}\) factor \(\frac{1}{2}\) constant \(\frac{1}{2}\) constant \(\frac{1}{2}\) declined at 49\(\frac{1}{2}\) c. The trading in oats was exceedingly quiet and prices held steady. December opened a shade lower at 28\(\frac{1}{2}\) c, sold between 28\(\frac{1}{2}\) c and closed at 28\(\frac{1}{2}\) c. May ranged between 31\(\frac{1}{2}\) c and closed at 28\(\frac{1}{2}\) c. Local receipts were 82 cars.

Frovisions were easy as a result of liberal receipts of hogs and lower prices at the yards. The volume of business was very light. At the close January pork was off 24,60c at $12.60. Lard and ribs were each down 24c at $7.024 and $5.50.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 15,000 head.
The leading futures ranged at 50.00c. The leading futures ranged as follows:

Buyers went around and picked out the kinds they wanted amb picked out the kinds they wanted amb paid Just about steady prices for them but for the remainder their bids in most cases were weak to a dime lower. The market was not very brisk on any kind, and it was a little late before a clearance was made. Receipts of Khiers included both western grassers and corn feds. A string of western grass ewes and wethers sold for 44.5 and some fed native ewes brough 44.5 and fed western ewes 44.9 itange lambs sold up to $5.25. No choice fed lambs were offered.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

DEEDS filed November 18, as furnished by

Few well informed traders will dispute the fact that we have raised a large crop of corn. J. J. Hill estimated the yield some time since at less than 2,000,000,000 bushels, while the Department of Agriculture's estimate, based on authoritative returns, make it 2,453,000,000 bushels, the difference in the two estimates being equal to an amount that would provide for a vast army for a long time. Looking over the records, it is discovered that this year's crop has been exceeded in only two years, 1899 and 1902, in the country's history. Along with this, it is important to note that the quality of the new crop is excellent-86.2 compared with 83.1 last year, 80.7 in 1902 and 73.7 in 1901. So it is safe to say the present yield is the largest of good corn on record, and figured on from any possible standpoint, will require an enormous consumption and much more than the usual help from abroad to dispose of it at anything like prevailing prices, or those that have prevailed during the last four sea-

Before going further with this review, let us see what our prospects are for export this year. Last year we exported 56,000,000 bushels, and for the year previous to that about 72,000,000 bushels. Broomhall, of the Liverpool Corn Trade News says, that on account of the failure of the foddercrops of Europe, the continent will want 180,000,000 bushels of American corn during the crop year of 1904-1905—a nice increase, it is true, and yet only .07 per cent of our total production.

Here at home we have for convenience divided our consumption as follows: 90 per cent to cattle and hogs and 10 per cent among distillery interest and manufacturers of other products. It is a fact that when the price was showing an annual fluctuation of only 5c or 10c, or from 20c to 30c per bushel, there was a reasonable margin of profit in feeding corn to Cattle and Hogs, but prospects for feeding the coming winter are not at all bright, for, according to information by a Chicago authority, on the distribution of Corn for feeding purposes, the number of cattle that will be fed for market in the following surplus Corn states compares as follows with last season; Missouri 52.5 per cent; Kansas 66.66; Nebraska 70.2 South Dakota 100; Iowa 56.75; Illinois 75.25; Indiana 78; Ohio 70.5; and Michigan 67.5. It is very evident from these figures that feeders have not realized much profit from their money and labor during the last few years, and when one considers how many extra million bushels this means will be forced into the channels of trade other than for feeding purposes because of reduced feeding demands, the purchase of a small part of the crop, which at some time might represent a few million bushels, by some bull leader orpool, it is going to be a different task to hold the price up, and as we find the situation, there is nothing in sight to assure the grower this year that he will secure any higher price than the present level for his crop.

The present dry, cool weather is doing much to improve the quality, and every day it continues is a great thing for the crop, not to the extent of making more bushels but putting it in shape for early marketing. Consignments are already more free, and this week's receipts are for the first time in almost two months equal to a year ago. The increase has had some effect on the price, but only the beginning of what is likely to happen when Chicago receipts are averaging 500 to 1,000 cars daily.

Hence, it is clear to us that we are to havve a market that can have only small temporary swells The advances will not be sufficient to scare shorts to cover, and on the hard spots insiders will be sure to make sales. The strngth of today's cash and shipping situation will disappear. December, however, may not decline very much, owing to the nearness to delivery and small stocks, but those who will sell May have the biggest and best yields in years back of them and something like five months in which to locate Corn for delivery, Cash Corn should reach May price and under, and before the big movement has culminated large stocks will have been accumulated, sufficient we think, to account for a material decline from this level, as well as bear us out in our contention, as stated above, that May Corn under present conditions and at these prices is a sale.
