NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Twenty-one persons were rescued from the big freight steamer Mohawk of the Central Vermont railroad's fleet, which burned to the water's edge off Horton's Point in Long Island sound early today. The watchman, a Swede named Larson, is believed to have been burned to death. All the others on board, among them were two women, were taken off the burning vessel by the freight boat Boston of the Fall River line shortly after 1 o'clock this morning, and almost immediately afterward there was a heavy explosion. The abandoned freighter which apparently completed the destruction made by the flames.

The charred hull of the Mohawk now lies on the bar west of Peconic and the vessel and cargo are a total loss.

The Mohawk was loaded with general merchandise, which included nearly 1,000 barrels of sugar and considerable oil. The value of the cargo has not been ascertained. The fire was discovered as the vessel was passing Horton's Point on one of its trips from this city to New London, Conn., and a few minutes later its engine framework was exploded. The Boston came up in a short time and went at once to its assistance. The rescue were made with much difficulty, owing to the intense heat. The Mohawk's men say the fire was discovered by those in the pilot house soon after midnight, but its cause is not known.

POSTUM'S TRICK

How it Worked Wonders in One Family.

"While I was a tea and coffee user, about eighteen months ago, I happened to pick up a piece of an old newspaper and saw a letter some one had written about the gains in health by quitting tea and coffee and using Postum, and as I was suffering with indigestion and biliousness I decided perhaps Postum might fit my case, so I had wife get a package next day and make some.

"I had been in the habit of taking cold lunches in a bottle a cold tea, but had become so bad I could not digest them; in fact, I felt miserable after every meal. Well, I quit both tea and coffee and after commencing to use the Postum I began to feel better at once, and I have not had a cold since Postum, and as I was suffering with indigestion and biliousness I decided perhaps Postum might fit my case, so I had wife get a package next day and make some.

"I want to tell you something about my wife's condition.

"She had been a long time coffee drinker and her feet were swollen so badly that she could not have a shoe on one of her feet at all and sometimes not on either of them, and suffered terribly with constipation. She was treated for kidney trouble, but the treatment did her no good at all, and she became perfectly discouraged. In a short while after we began to use Postum and began to quit tea and coffee she began to get better, and now she is as good, healthy and fine looking wife as you will find, and I will leave those who read this letter to judge for themselves what it did. I want to say right here we are often asked what caused my wife's health to improve, and we never fail to tell them that it was using Postum in place of tea and coffee.

"We used to give our boy tea and coffee and he came out with a skin disease until his head was almost a mass of scabs. We took away both tea and coffee and gave him what we drank—Postum—and shortly the trouble left entirely, and all my children, like wife and myself, are healthy and strong, and the best friends of Postum you ever saw."

"Look in each package for the famous little book, 'The Road to Wellville.'"

SEVEN NEW INDICTMENTS

Bills Returned by Grand Jury for Alleged Bootlegging on Reservation.

VICTIMS IN THE DOUGLAS COUNTY JAIL

Two Indians Are Arrested in Omaha for Supplying Their Tribesmen with Liquor While in the City.

The federal grand jury made an additional report last evening, returning seven indictments. Five of them were bootlegging cases and two postoffice embezzlement cases. Those indicted for bootlegging or selling liquor to Indians were Alonzo Shaw, Frank Orr, Joseph Adams, Charley Henry, and Albert Gillman. The other two are from the Winnebago and Omaha Indian reservations. All of the indicted parties are in the Douglas county jail in default of bond.

In the postoffice embezzlement cases neither of the indicted parties has yet been arrested and for this reason their names are suppressed.

It is the intention of the grand jury to clean up the bootlegging cases today if possible, especially those in which the Indians are witnesses, in order to let the Indians get away from the whiskey influence that seem to beset them here.

The four murder cases will come up for investigation early next week, as will the attempted murder case at Fort Robinson. One of the murder cases holds also from Fort Robinson, where a colored woman killed her soldier lover. The others are murders occurring on the Winnebago and Omaha reservations during the past summer as a result of drunken brawls between the Indians.

INDIANS ARE ARRESTED.

Louis Priest and Frank Robinson, Indians, were bound over to the federal grand jury last evening by United States Commissioner Anderson for furnishing liquor to other Indians, whereby Mrs. Louis Priest, Jim Yellowhawk and two of three other Indians got duly drunk. Their bond was fixed at $50 each, and being unable to meet the emergency they will remain in the Douglas county jail until their cases can be reached by the grand jury.

Yellowhawk was released only on condition that he would look after his deformed child who was left to wander about the streets hungry and cold while his father was on a drunk.

Four or five other Indians were arrested in the federal building during the afternoon for drunkenness, but were unable to tell where they got their liquor. They were given a wholesome lecture by Judge Anderson, with the promise that a repetition of the offense would insure their being sent to jail.

TAKES UP ROCHO CASE.

The grand jury took up the investigation of the embezzlement case wherein George W. Rocho, former city order clerk, had been unable to tell where they got their liquor. They were given a wholesome lecture by Judge Anderson, with the promise that a repetition of the offense would insure their being sent to jail.

ENOUGH OR NONE AT ALL

Senator Millard Urges Sufficient Appropriation for the Missouri River Improvement He Made.

Senator Millard has asked the chief engineer in charge of the river and harbor improvement if it is true that the Missouri river is to have but $150,000 appropriated for the coming year, advising him that if such was the case it would be just as well not to make any appropriation, and that "the river needs $1,500,000 a year in order that the engineers might make improvements of this water, and if they are going to do any permanent good they have got to spend the money."
