PLENTY OF TURKEY ON TAB

Supply of Thanksgiving Powl, which threatened to be small, looks better.

You may have turkeys for your Thanksgiving dinner after all. The birds have taken pity on the good appetites of Omaha diners and are coming to the front with good grace to meet their inevitable fate.

"Turkeys will begin making tracks in Omaha with Monday and Tuesday of next week in large numbers," said David Cole, "and no one who has the price need fear that he will have to forego the pleasure of eating the national bird next Thursday. It was doubtful some days ago whether there would be enough to go around, but I have advised of large numbers that will come in for the Thanksgiving market. The weather has been against shipping dressed poultry and the delay has been largely due to this fact. So great was the fear that there would not be any turkeys on the market that the Union Stock Yards company decided to forego its time-honored custom of giving each employe a turkey, and this will leave 50 employes who will have to hustle for their birds. Chickens, ducks and other poultry will be in ample supply and the prices reasonable. Turkeys will be about 20 cents a pound, dressed."

ROBB DIVORCE CASE SOON

Trial to Come Before Judge Troup Involving Prominent Members of Omaha Society.

The divorce case of Clara K. Robb against James W. Robb, which is to come up before Judge Troup in the district court within a few days, promises to furnish entertainment for many of the residents of the fashionable Hanscom park district, wherein the Robbs reside.

Robb is an assistant manager at the Cudahy Packing company and the family lives at 1312 South Twenty-second avenue, there being three small children.

About a year ago Mrs. Robb began proceedings to set her free, with suitable sustenance in the way of alimony, alleging cruelty, nonsupport and minor charges, all of which the husband denies.

Mr. Robb's attorneys assert Mrs. Robb's mother is responsible for the unhappy domestic affairs of the two, who were married in 1896.

COST OF TURKEY IN ALASKA

Only Seventy-Five Cents a Pound and Scarce at that Modest Figure.

Edward C. Brown, a clerk in the general manager's office of the Union Pacific, has received a copy of the Thanksgiving proclamation of Alaska. The circular is sent by a friend, William L. Deth, acting governor and secretary of the district of Alaska. Turkeys in Alaska will be worth 75 cents per pound at Dawson City, and will be a scarce article at that price.

A letter from Mr. Brown's friend says some fowls have been shipped into various parts of Alaska on ice, but the majority of the Alaskan population will celebrate the day by eating slabs of Omaha turkey in the shape of pork and bacon. While many of the luxuries of the states are to be had at the principal points in Alaska, they can be enjoyed only by the very prosperous residents. Moose, caribou, wild sheep and white grouse are to be had by those who handle a rifle and know where to find the game, which abounds in comparative plenty.

HOW RIDGELY TAPS BANKS

One Million, Six Hundred Thousand Dollars Leave Omaha, but Part for Country.

Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely has called for a statement from the national banks of the country at the close of business November 19. Bankers were somewhat surprised at this action, as the last call was made for September 6, or a little more than sixty days ago, but Mr. Ridgely is not following in the beaten paths of former comptrollers, who called generally at regular intervals. ent is the last call for the year, as the banking act authorizes five statements annually.

Omaha banks have lost $1,612,000 in deposits since September 6, but this is not wondered at, for the reason that country banks have been withdrawing balances for the purpose of aiding in the crop movement. The total deposits of the seven national banks November 19 were $7,531,980, as compared with $2,147,222 September 6; loans were $16,713,694, as compared with $16,285,908.

Construction of Northwestern's Wyoming Branch Will Start About First of May.

It is now believed work on the new branch of the Northwestern line between Casper and Lander, Wyo., will be started on the first of May. An army of surveyors is in the field and the active preparations indicate the company expects to push the work with all possible speed. It was stated at headquarters that timber and rails will be hauled to Casper and everything will be ready for the grading to begin as soon as the weather moderate in the spring.

Orders for the rails already have been placed and they will be on the ground when the grading is finished. This work is to be let to several contractors, who will start at different points along the line. Patent track-layers are to be used. These machines, it has been demonstrated, will put down two miles of track daily. Everything in the way of preliminary arrangements will have been completed by spring. Nothing will be known of the difficulties in the way of the project until the surveyors turn in their reports.
