Big Irrigation Project.

Further plans of the irrigation proj ect to be undertaken by the government Nebraska were filed with the State Hoard of Irrigation today. In this state over 150,000 acres can be watered and the canals will be 160 miles in length. The government plans to build a reservoir in the Granite gorge of the North Platte, above Casper, Wyo., at the junction of the North Platte and Sweetwater rivers The dam at the junction of the rivers will be 250 feet wide at the base and 166 at the top and will make a reservoir covering 22,000 acres, with an average depth of 60 feet of water.

The dam will be provided with two immense tunnels at its base to prevent overflow and with a "spill-water" which will carry off any unusual amount of water caused by heavy rains in the moun.a.ns, thus insuring absolute safety from floods and a possible sweeping away of the re-

Son Must Support Mother.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Nov. 20.-(Spe-cial.)-The case of John D. Forguson, guardian, against Thomas Urwin occupied the attention of the district court Tuesday. The evidence disclosed the fact that about ten years ago William Urwin and wife deeded to their son Thomas eighty acres of good land in this county, valued at $3,-000, and in consideration of the same Thomas agreed to pay the sum of $150 per year for the support of his parents so long as either should live. The agreement was not reduced to writing, and Thomas agreed now of Weeping Water, but formerly pastor to comply with his part of it. The father has since passed away and the mother, past 58 years of age, is in a helpless condition. After being out a short time the jury agreed upon a verdict finding in favor of the plaintiff for the full amount.

Tramps Fall on Holdup

ASHLAND, Neb., Nov. 30.-(Special.)-Four tramps were arrested by City Marshal H. H. Biggerstaff and Night Watch Kephart Monday night after attempting to hold up J. A. Cook, a cigarmaker from Fremont, who was in the city enroute tome from a trip to South America, near the depot. Before they could effect their purpose Cook broke away and ran into the depot. Two of the gang stole a pair of pants from J. B. Still's store and were attempting to sell them to the crew of a freight train standing in the yards when the officers arrested them. They were held until last night pending word from the ounty attorney at Wahoo, but Marshal Biggerstaff released them after keeping them in the city jail twenty-four hours.
