

HOUSE PASSES MEASURE

Legislative, Executive and Judicial Bill is Approved Without Amendment.

ATTEMPTS TO INCREASE SALARIES FAIL

Move to Cut Off Appropriation for Civil Service Commission Voted Down—Will Adjourn January 4.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The house today passed the executive, legislative and judicial appropriation bill, almost as it came from the committee, and adjourned until Monday. The civil service committee provisions disposed of, there was no long debate on any item today. Throughout the policy of entrenchment held full sway and all attempts to increase salaries failed.

The house passed a resolution to adjourn on December 21 until January 4, 1905, for the usual Christmas holidays.

When the house met today a concurrent resolution was taken providing that when the house and senate adjourn on Wednesday, December 21, it be until January 4, 1905.

The house then in committee of the whole further considered the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. When adjournment was taken yesterday the discussion was on the amendment of Mr. Hepburn (La.) cutting off appropriations for the Civil Service commission. By a viva voce vote the amendment was lost.

On a point of order by Mr. Perkins (N. Y.) the provision appropriating $10,000 for compensation of the expenses of specialists to make investigations into the Department of Commerce and Labor with the object of securing uniform, economical and businesslike methods, was stricken out.

Criticism by Mr. Baker. In criticizing the paragraph relating to the bureau of corporations, Mr. Baker (N. Y.) said that his complaint was not that too much money had been appropriated for the pay of special attorneys, special examiners and special agents, but that no use had been made of the money. There had been, he said, a demand to investigate what came to be known as "the trusts."

"What is the result? Absolutely nothing." He had been assured by a friend in the department that an investigation had been made of one corporation, whose books were so kept that it could not be ascertained whether that corporation had made $100,000.00 or $1,000,000. It was, he said, a notorious fact that a steel rail association existed, and yet he had been informed that the house judiciary committee would report adversely on his resolution to investigate that association or the ground that it was a rumor. In stentorian tones he declared, amid democratic applause, that it "was a rumor so strenuous, so terrible, that it can take the American people by the throat and exact an undue tribute of $300,000.00."

He ridiculed the idea that anyone did not know of such an association.

"I never heard of it until the gentleman mentioned it," interjected Mr. Olmsted (Pa.). "I am surprised," retorted Mr. Baker, "that such ignorance is displayed by the gentleman from Harrisburg, when Pennsylvania gave $50,000 plurality for a man who is supposed to be a 'trust buster.'"

On a point of order by Mr. Maddox (Ga.) the salary for the position of chief of the bureau of manufactures of the Department of Commerce and Labor was cut out.

Bill Reported to the House. The bill and the several amendments were reported to the house. Mr. Bingham demanded a separate vote on the amendment reducing the compensation of committee stenographers from $5,000 to $3,000. By a vote of 45 to 63 the house restored the amount as originally fixed. As amended the bill then passed.

Mr. Palmer (Pa.) from the committee on the judiciary submitted the supplemental report of the majority of the committee on the Swatze impeachment case. The house adjourned until Monday.

CONFESSION OF SASONEFF

Details of the Plot Resulting in the Murder of Von Plehve.

PLANNED BY SOCIAL REVOLUTIONARIES

Same Society is Held Responsible for Death of Minister Seapaguine and Governor General Roddanovitch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 9.—The indictment on which Sasoneff, the assassin of Minister of the Interior von Plehve, and Sikorsky, his accomplice, will be tried on December 13 is a formidable document, reciting the history of the assassination plot and details of the crime and revealing for the first time interesting facts about their confessions and winding up with the formal charge. The document, which has been shown to the Associated Press, states that both Sasoneff and Sikorsky belonged to a fighting organization of social revolutionaries, the central committee of which was organized abroad in 1902 and the organ of which was Revolutionary Russia.

The object of the organization was to overthrow the autocracy and replace it with a republican socialistic regime. The document describes the manner in which the party organized secret circles for the distribution of proclamations among the peasants, stirring up university students, fomenting agrarian disturbances, inciting students to rioting and also plotting terrorism and the murder of statesmen who sustained the autocracy and took steps to suppress political disturbances.

It lays the murders of Sinapius, von Plehve's predecessor in the office of minister of the interior, to Roddanovitch, governor general of Ufa, and the attempt on the lives of Prince John Obolensky, governor general of Finland, and Pobedonostz, procurator general of the holy synod, at the door of the fighting organization, which the document says, condemned von Plehve to death soon after his appointment. The first attempt on von Plehve's life was frustrated by the accidental explosion on April 13 at the Hotel Du Nord by which Pokatloff was blown up with a bomb similar to the one that killed Von Plehve.

Details of the Conspiracy.

The execution of Von Plehve's death sentence, the indictment says, was planned and taken by Sasoneff, aged 25, formerly a student at the Moscow university and the son of a merchant of Borsk, and Sammel Nevisforaki, aged 20, a leather worker of Knyabin, in the province of Grodno. Sasoneff had been twice tried for treasonable offenses, first in 1900 and again in 1902. On the latter occasion he was exiled to Siberia for five years, but escaped abroad on his way into exile. The movements of both the accused showed that the murder was planned for the occasion of one of Minister von Plehve's weekly journeys, on Thursdays, to the railway station on the way to Peterhof, to report to the emperor. Sikorsky had previously made two trips to St. Petersburg on Wednesday, Oct. 27, the day before the murder, he went to Ostroff, a station on the St. Petersburg-Warsaw railway, having provided himself at Vilna with a cloak of the naval pattern, where he left a handbag containing his linen and fifteen revolver cartridges.

The morning of the murder, Sasoneff and Sikorsky met on a bridge over the canal near the Warsaw station, each being armed with an infernal machine, the ineptitude of which is minutely described. Enclosed in tin was an explosively magnetic dynamite. The detonation apparatus consisted of brass tubes filled with sulphuric acid, the glass tubes being attached to lead weights so arranged that the tubes would break whichever way the bomb fell. Outside the acid tubes were large tubes filled with chlorate of potash and sugar, which would be ignited by the acid and in turn fire fulminate of mercury, which would detonate the dynamite. Tubes constructed on exactly the same principle were found in Pokatloff's baggage.

ANTICIPATE THE TESTIMONY OF STERN

Report to Effect that Pawnbroker is Not as Positive as Prosecution is Led to Believe.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The testimony of the several witnesses who were today examined at the trial of Nan Patterson for the murder of Caesar Young, in the criminal branch of the supreme court, was substantially the same as that given by the same persons at the mi-trial. Much speculation has followed some of the statements made by the prosecuting attorney in his opening argument and the report was freely circulated today that the testimony of Hyman Stern, the pawnbroker, may not be as important for the prosecution as the district attorney's office has been led to believe. It has been said that the state believed Stern to be one of its most important witnesses and that the district attorney's office was enforced hardship to them during the first trial. It was understood that he had positively identified a photograph of J. Morgan Smith, Miss Patterson's brother-in-law, as a likeness of the man who purchased the revolver with which Caesar Young was shot. Stern has been rigidly enforced upon the case in now being presented.

Larger crowds gather around the doors of the court room every day, but the ruling of Justice Davis, that only those having some connection with the case be permitted, has been rigidly enforced up to this time. Many of the curious ones have not permitted themselves to become discouraged, however, and many remain in the corridors through a greater part of the day, apparently with the expectation that the ban finally will be raised.

Rapid progress was made when the hearing was begun today in the examination of witnesses whose testimony had to do with the usual routine which always marks the early stages of a trial. Policeman William J. Junior described, as he did at the previous trial, the scene in the cab just after the fatal shot was fired, the hurried drive to the hospital and the subsequent arrest of Miss Patterson. Several other policemen gave testimony that did not vary from that submitted in the first trial. Other previous testimony was reiterated.

STRAIGHT TALK TO MOTHERS

The First Duty of Every Mother is to Fit Her Girl to be a Mother.

THE VALUE OF VITALITY

How to Guard Against the Exhausting Strain of Study, Over-Excitement and Other Drains on a Girl's Vitality.

Every mother should study her daughter's health.

Not merely from the outside, but also from the inside.

A girl, however, does not always realize there is something the matter with her, when she is merely listless, colorless and appetiteless.

But you, as a mother, should. You should understand that these seemingly slight symptoms are signs of an alarming condition of your daughter's health.

She lacks vitality. She is losing her hold on life.

The flame of her lamp is burning low. The least little disease, cold, measles, scarlet fever, typhoid, appendicitis, may extinguish it.

Only one thing to do. Supply fresh fuel for her vital flame by giving her Wine of Cardui.

You can depend upon it, that this medicinal, vitalizing tonic, will do her nothing but good, however young she may be.

It is a pure, pleasant preparation, made from extracts of medicinal plants. It contains no alycine or boric acids, or other preservatives likely to injure the digestive organs, but every single ingredient has its value in restoring the vital forces to sick girls and women.

If your daughter is thin, pale, weak, unable to stand much work or play, listless, tired, expressionless and seemingly without much interest in life, she needs Wine of Cardui to build her up.

If she is nervous, irritable, highly strung, excitable, a creature of moods and habits, with twitching of the eyes, face, muscles, fingers, arms, legs or feet, studies too hard, etc., she needs Wine of Cardui to relieve that high strung tension on her nerves.

If she suffers pain, such as headache, neuralgia, backache, dragging-down sensations, monthly abdominal pains, etc., she needs Wine of Cardui to relieve the pain and cure the weakness which causes the pain.

In short, for growing girls, Wine of Cardui is a necessity, whenever there is the least sign of vital weakness or nervous trouble.

It is the finest tonic and builder that was ever prepared for sick girls.

Girls who exhaust their brain and nerve force by over study, or who are weak from childhood up, will never be fit for wifehood or motherhood.

Mothers should realize that their first duty to their growing daughters is to fit them for life's pleasures, duties and trials.

Experience, in a million cases, proves the truth of what we say, viz: that Wine of Cardui will do what cannot be done by any other food, medicine or treatment.

It will build up nerve and vital force, of girls and women, relieve all their pain and suffering, enrich their blood, create new bone and sinew, and make of a frail, pale, thin creature, of ghostly appearance, a magnificent woman, with the bounding pulse, flashing cheek, strong nerves, sparkling eye and beautiful figure, of perfect vitality and health.

Build your daughter with Wine of Cardui, and do not forget that it is as good for you as for her.

Large 500 bottle sold by all druggists. For free advice, on any woman's ills, is afforded by our staff of specialists. All letters confidential. Address, Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.
