

WORK OF DEAD LETTER OFFICE

Bureau at Washington Great National Clearing House for Derelict Mail.

ALSO TROUBLE DEPOT OF POSTAL SERVICE

Many Remarkable Transactions and Voluminous Documents of Divers Kinds Pass Through This Workshop of Uncle Sam's

The dead letter office at Washington is the great national clearing house where derelict mail matter of all kinds is received and, wherever possible, returned to the writer.

The report of the superintendent of the dead letter office of the year ending June 30, 1904, is most interesting and summary when given a little perusal.

This report shows the total receipts of the several classes of undelivered matter, from all sources, were 16,523,239 pieces for the year, which is about 7 1/2 per cent increase over the previous year and in proportion with the growth of the postal service.

Seven Millions Unclaimed. Of the above total 7,471,709 were ordinary unclaimed letters addressed to places within the country.

WOMAN IN CLUB AND CHARITY

The Civil Service Reform committee of the Massachusetts Federation has sent out the following list of pertinent questions to clubs and state federations through its chairman, Miss Perkins:

- 1. Have you read the circular letters from the Massachusetts Federation...
2. Have you arranged for a study class?
3. Do you realize that an intelligent interest in this subject is spreading among the clubs in all the state federations?

The following account of the evolution of the Texas Federation, as told in a Dallas paper, may well be said of women's clubs in general as well as that enterprising organization of Texas:

It almost takes one's breath to contemplate the evolution of the Texas Federation. Seven years ago the word "culture" comprehended its broadest meaning, and a lady of the name of "Mrs. Green" was the first to introduce the word into the vocabulary of the club.

Now the federation counts its philanthropies by the scores—libraries and schools, music and art for the enjoyment of the domestic help, the clearing of the streets, the patriotic endeavor, work for home and school, and for that unfortunate element of the population known as the "paupers," at all those popular gift libraries that once cemented the friendship between old and new.

The department of ethics and philosophy will present the program at Monday afternoon's meeting of the Woman's club. There will be music by Miss Alice Fawcett, Miss Josephine McHugh, this department will be the subject of the afternoon, Miss Florence McHugh to present its structure and Mr. Charles Elgutter the ethics.

The current topics department of the Woman's club has issued a neat little outline of its winter's program. The leaders for the various meeting days are announced, with the dates, and the names and addresses of the hostesses for the week-end Washington afternoons arranged for the winter.

For over four months the Visiting Nurses' association of Philadelphia has maintained a nurse in one of the downtown schools of that city and as a result all but fifty-one of the 584 cases of illness or disorder that would otherwise have been excluded from the school were cared for by the nurse and the pupils kept in their classes.

The Woman's Christian association which maintains the Old People's Home, will hold its annual meeting Tuesday at the First Baptist church. Dinner will be served for the members and their guests at 12 o'clock, the afternoon session will convene at 2 o'clock, opening with scripture reading and a invocation by Rev. Robert Yost.

The woman of the Second Presbyterian church will serve dinner from 11:30 to 2 o'clock Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the Young Men's Christian association.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL BRIDGE

Completion of This Valiant Undertaking of Long and Bitter Warfare.

FIGHT FOR COMMERCIAL EMANCIPATION

Takes Place of Old Wooden Bridge Thrown Across the Missouri River When Roads Were at War.

The Illinois Central bridge will be thrown open about the first of the year. Its completion recalls a remarkable fight for commercial emancipation which was waged by the citizens of this country.

The bridge was begun in 1892 and completed in 1893 as the result of a public agitation remarkable especially for its bitterness and intensity. Up to that time the Union Pacific practically controlled the traffic over the Missouri river.

In 1890 the Milwaukee and the Rock Island entered into a contract with the Union Pacific whereby they were to have the use of the viaduct for $40,000 each year. Subsequently the Gould interests secured control of the Union Pacific and refused to recognize the contracts which the rival lines had made with the road.

The result was a long and bitter warfare. The respective committees in charge of the approaching date and the annual Christmas entertainment are getting matters in excellent shape for a big time at both events.

NEW WAY TO FORCE STEEL

Method of Repairing Broken Engine Wheel Without Taking it Apart.

UNION PACIFIC TESTS IT AT SHOPS

First Time Any Such Innovation Has Been Tried in United States and Officials Are Enthusiastic Over Results.

At the Union Pacific shops in this city the finishing touches are being put to one of the most remarkable tests that has been made with steel. This is the repairing of a broken engine frame without taking it apart.

The steel arm appeared to be ten inches high and six inches wide, but it had been forged into a solid section of steel with the composition of the iron uniting with the aluminum and leaving the molten iron. The chemical affinity of the aluminum and oxygen is so powerful that an enormous heat is generated.

Superintendent McKee showed a number of large steel and iron bars which have been joined together in one solid piece by means of the invention. These tests are the first of any consequence that have been made with the new process in this country.

HOLD "LAST CUSTER SURVIVOR"

Police Arrest Man Who Claims to Have Been on Little Big Horn.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—William McGee, who claims to be the sole white survivor of Custer's command in the famous battle of the Little Big Horn, is under arrest here charged with homicide.

Late Thursday night he got into an argument with Frank Mitchell, a salesman, over the proper method for cooking a kidney steak. McGee, who is a white man, attacked each other with kitchen knives, the fracas having occurred in Mitchell's flat.

McGee, who lived on the western frontier forty years, declared Mitchell attacked him first and by practicing the old trick he felled his opponent, not however, until he received a severe scalp wound.

Mitchell did not appear badly off at the time, but he died two hours later. McGee was arrested meantime in a newspaper office where he had gone to get the editor regarding the killing of the man.

In telling of his service in the army, McGee declared he was detached by Custer, just before the massacre, to carry a message to Major Reno, who was to have made a joint attack with Custer's troops on the Sioux.

McGee bears the scars of many wounds which he claims to have received before he reached Reno's forces. Recently he came here from Texas and has been canvassing for a magazine.
