severely injured. Large numbers were arrested. Not since the riots of 1901, when Cossacks, reaching across the Nevsky prospect from building to building, charged down the boulevard from the Moscow station to the Neva, has the Russian capital lived through such a day of excitement as The authorities last night got wind of the big anti-government demonstration planned for today by the social democratic labor party to demand an immediate end of the war and the convocation of a national assembly and every leading paper this morning in black-faced type was an explicit warning to the people at their peril to desist from congregating in the Nevsky prospect near the Kagan cathedral. At the same time extensive preparations were made to quell any disturbances. The police on the Nevsky prospect were sextupled and the dvorniks, or house porters, were marshaled in front of their respective buildings. Half a dozen squadrons of mounted gendarmes were massed in the rear of Kazan cathedral and battalions of reserve police were stationed in several court yards out of sight. Minister of the Interior Sviatopolk-Mirsky gave strict orders, however, that no Cossacks should be used, and Fullon, chief of police, issued explicit directions to avoid harsh measures unless it should become absolutely neces-

Red Flags Are Raised. Toward 1 o'clock the workmen and students seemed to swarm the corner of the Hotel Europe, opposite the Kazan cattedral. The police, recognizing that the critical moment was approaching, tried in valu to keep back the human tide. The intense excitement lasted about ten minutes, after which mounted squads of the gendarmes patrolled the streets and the policemen devoted themselves to keeping the crowd moving.

Considering the flerce fight the rioters had put up the police acted humanely with the crowd, avoiding brutality in keeping the throng moving and showing more consideration than the police of many American cities would do under similar circumstances. Meantime those confiened in the court yards, who were recognized as agitators, were arrested, but others were allowed to go quietly home, the wounded first having their injuries dressed. There probably a hundred broken heads and several were severely wounded, though none fatally so far as ascertainable. Se fare there have been over 100 arrests. BERLIN CLEAN AND WICKED is Claim Boastingly Made for German Capital by a Resident.

BERLIN, Dec. 11 .- (Special Cablegram to The Bee.)-In foreign ears Berlin has an fron sound. It suggests a grim city and a dull existence-a place of gloom and severity. But in truth Berlin is a bright city. Its streets are wide and dignified; its business houses gay and fresh. So far as outward appearance is concerned, the German capital may almost be compared with Paris. As regards naughtiness, the French capital might even blush to find itself in com parison with Berlin. "In the whole of Europe," said a resident here this week, not without a touch of pride, "there is no city so wicked as Berlin."

By daylight this large city wears massive and almost splendid aspect. The giving notice to those not appraised of the buildings are stately and regular. WILL DROP WARSHIP'S RAM Change in System of Fighting Makes Former Useful Wespon Undestrable.

LONDON, Dec. II .- (Special Cablegram The Bea.)-It is proposed to omit the ram into general use with the Hotspur class. These were battleships of 4,000 tons, with a placement and speed might have many oppotunities of ramming an adversary, but the service men of today regard the weapor as a troublesome encumbrance.

"Take a ship like this," said the captair of one of the county cruisers this week "Here is a bull with a dead weight of 10.0% tons and a maneuvering speed of eighteen knots. Work out the momentum of such a blow as we could give, and the figures will make your brain reel. Before you can ram your ship you must catch it. With the high speed tactics of the present day, this is practically an impossibility. You could only catch it if it were disabled, and no man would ram a helpless ship

"Suppose, however, for the sake of argument that you got home a square eighteenthrough your opponent-nobody doubts that for a minute. But what state would you be in afterwards? Your hull might sustain the impact, although I should predict a general bursting up of plate rivets "Half the bollers, whether they were box-ended or watertubes, would blow up with the shock. Every steam pipe would give out. The bedding bolts of the main engines would be wrenched free and the whole mass of machinery would be slung into the fore stoke hold. Your heavy guns would jump clean out of their cradles. In fact, I would just as soon set light to the BOLL magazine room as use the ram in this ship, for similar results would be accomplished rather more quickly."

Returning with his interpreter two hours later, he found the bodies of the crew, believed to be eight in number, laid out on the beach, the heads in each case having been cut off.

WEEVIL CONVENTION Planters Will Discuss Ways and Means of Getting Rid of the Cotton Pest.

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 11.-Delegates are arriving here in large numbers to attend the national boll weevil convention which meets in the opera house at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The convention has been called for the purpose of giving full discussion to the boll weevil problem in all of its many phases, and, if possible to devise a practical plan looking to the extermination of the cotton pest.

Reports from many districts in Texas and Louisiana indicate that the ravages of the weevil are spreading to large areas.

The convention will be called to order by Hon. J. O. Pugh, chairman of the local executive committee. There has been, according to the attorneys, no evidence so far elicited showing that Mrs. Chadwick obtained money on these notes in any other manner than through the attestation of Iri Reynolds that he had seen the notes and considered them good. CRAZY ITALIAN RUNS AMUCK

Man at Grand Rapids Injures Three Policemen and Damages Church Organ to Extent of $1,500,

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 11.-Clad only in his underclothing, a raving maniac from an attack of typhoid fever, James Delatto, an Italian, 32 years of age, with an axe held seven policemen at bay for over two hours in the Fifth Reformed Dutch church shortly before the morning service today.

Before being captured he jumped on top of the big pipe organ and policemen were compelled to climb into it from overhead to capture him. In the capture three policemen were cu with the axe and Delatto was shot through the head, but may recover. The organ was damaged to the extent of $1,500 and other damage was caused in the church by the axe. Two officers were first sent to the church when the police were notified that Dewas there. They could do nothing with the man and more were sent for. When reinforcements arrived, Delatto armed with the axe, crawled up on top of the pipe organ. The officers then procured ladders to climb up after him, but as fast as the ladders were placed against the organ the maniac cut them down. Tiring of this he jumped down into the organ among the pipes, in a narrow space not more than four feet square. Officer Spring seized one of the pipes which had been knocked loose and jumped in after him. There the two men fought, one with the axe, the other with the pipe. Spring was hit a glancing blow in the face with the axe, being cut through the chin and losing several teeth. Officer Steed also plunged into the pit, the axe was finally wrenched from him, but he fought with tooth and nail until Steed's face is hardly recognizable. WOMAN STOWAWAY ARRIVES Jeanne Caroff, Aged 65 Years, Found Hidden in Steerage of La Lorraine One Day Out.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 .- A woman stow away is rare on the Transatlantic liners, but one was discovered on La Lorraine which has just arrived here. The woman, Marie Jeanne Caroff of Bretagne, is 65 years old and decrepit. According to the officers of the steamship she boarded La Lorraine at Havre, and hiding in the steerage was not discovered until the ship was a day out on its way to this port. Owing to her age and infirmities she was not obliged to work her passage, but was fed and cared for by the officers of the ship. She wanted to get here to reach her nephew, who lives near Scranton, and tomorrow and I have been told that the who in frequent letters has asked her to live with him. She started without wait ing for money. She is held at Ellis Island. A hearing will be held on her case later in the week.

Small Craft Take Refuge in Rear of Boats Protected by the Red Cross.

TOKIO, Dec. 11.-4 p. m.-The Japanese ontinue to batter the Port Arthur fleat and there is little ground for expecting that it will ever again engage the Japanese. The battleship Sebastopel continues at anchor outside, but possibly returns to the harbor at night and anchers inside the outer boom, which protects it from torpedo boats. The recent heavy weather has given added protection to the vessel. Naval experts are discarding the theory that the Russians themselves sank any of the ships. The fact that the vessels first showed lists while in exposed posttions and the efforts made to save the Sebastopol are regarded as conclusive evidence against the theory of their being sunk by the Russians. A majority of the sunken warships lie headed northward. They received the bulk of the fire across their port sides and the fact that at least two of them showed lists to starboard gives rise to the theory that Japanese shells exploded inside the ships and against the starboard armor, driving the armor outward and causing leaks. To make sure of the destruction of the Russian warships the Japanese continue to drop shells into the sunken hulks.

Looking for Torpedo Boats. The whereabouts of the torpedo boat destroyers continues doubtful, but it is thought they are sheltering outside the harbor. The weather prevents a good observation being made, but the Japanese are sending a searching fire into the nooks which are not observable from 203-Meter hill and other heights. The observers report a number of tugs, launches, dredgers and small craft anchored near the hospital ships in the west harbor, where they evidently have gone for the purpose of obtaining protection. It is suggested that the besiegers notify Lieutenant General Stoessel to separate these vessels from the hospital ships or take the consequence. The Japanese are exercising care to avoid hitting the hospital ships, which frequently are in the direct line of fire. Japanese Losses Are Heavy. LONDON, Dec. 11 .- An unofficial report from Port Arthur, according to a Tokio dispatch to the Daily Mail, says that Japanese torpedo boat destroyers attacked the Russian battleship Sebastopol at the mouth with what result is not known. The Daily Telegraph's correspondent before Port Arthur reports, under date of counters last week. The beiligerents, the correspondent adds, mutually recognized the Red Cross and collected the dead and wounded during temporary suspensions of fighting.

The Daily Telegraph's Tien Tsin correspondent learns from official Japanese ources that the Japanese casualties at Port Arthur the latter part of October were 3.000 killed and 10.000 wounded, the losses in more recent engagements being much heavier. The same correspondent has heard that continual fighting is proceeding south of Mukden. Real Winter in Manchuria.
