CITY LIMITS TOO CLOSE IN

Omaha Appears Too Small for Street Car Company and Certain Family.

The city of Omaha is not large enough for both the Omaha & Council Bluffs street railway and John Boesen and his family.

Mr. Boesen on October 15 was given a verdict against the company for $4,000, after the case had been heard at least four times. This verdict was for an accident at South Omaha, where a car ran off the track and jolted Mr. Boesen into a state of insensibility on the pavement.

Just twelve days before the verdict was given the wife of Mr. Boesen, together with a certain Annie Blomer, driving the family horse of Mr. Boesen, was upset by a street car at Thirty-second and Dorcas streets. Because of this three petitions in damage suits have been filed, each asking $5,000 from the company. One of these is by John Boesen, who claims to have sustained that much damage through the illness of his wife following the accident, which made the service of a doctor, a trained nurse and a servant girl necessary and which resulted in the perhaps permanent injury of Mrs. Boesen. The second suit is brought by Mrs. Mary Boesen and the third by Annie Blomer, who was the other occupant of the buggy.

Mathew Bradley, by his father and next friend, James Bradley, is the latest candidate for damages from the street car company. He sets forth he was knocked down at Fourteenth and Douglas streets November 5 by the carelessness of the motorman and injured to the extent of $5,000.

STOLEN RIG IS RECOVERED

Horse and Buggy Taken from Omaha Are Found at Calhoun Farm.

The horse and buggy hired from the barn of L. H. Potts, 613 South Fourteenth street, last Saturday evening and not returned, has been located four and one-half miles southwest of Calhoun. The rig was left at the home of a farmer named Ed Otson by some one who stole Mr. Otson's overcoat during the absence of the family and left the rig in place of the coat. Detective Ferris went to Calhoun and drove the horse to Omaha.
