MR. MURPHY'S BODY AT HOME

Remains Arrive in Omaha Under Charge of Nephew, Frank Hamilton.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD FROM CATHEDRAL

Prominent Citizens Arrange for Public Meeting to Express Sorrow and Sympathy Over Sad Event.

The remains of Frank Murphy, who died in New York Monday, arrived in Omaha at 8 yesterday morning over the Northwestern, accompanied by Frank Hamilton, nephew of the dead capitalist, who left for the east upon telegraphic receipt of his uncle's death.

At the Union station when the express pulled in a score of close friends and business associates of the deceased were gathered. Fred and C. Will Hamilton, nephews of Mr. Murphy, were there. Others present included G. W. Wattle, W. E. Rhoades, Charles W. Lyman, William Wallace, Lewis J. Read, Luther Drake, Luther Kountze, W. V. Morse, W. H. Smith, George E. Pritchett, G. W. Clabaugh and Dr. Victor Coffman.

When the casket was removed from the train and taken from the shipping box the men named, acting as pallbearers, carried it to the house and the procession started for the Murphy home, 2304 St. Mary's avenue. There were six carriages in the escort. Reaching the late residence of Mr. Murphy, the pallbearers carried the casket in and deposited it in the parlors of the mansion, where it was opened and the remains viewed by the family.

At 9:30 this morning the remains will be taken to St. Philomena's Catholic cathedral, where the funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock. Rev. Father McGovern will conduct the services. The burial will be in Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

Two passengers who got left on the Overland Limited yesterday succeeded in holding the train at South Omaha until they overtook it, something some of the most influential people of the country have not been able to do.

Three little children are indirectly responsible for the unusual achievement. Among the passengers on the train were E. A. Bloom and family, who are on the way from Chicago to San Francisco.

Just before the train pulled into the Union station Mr. and Mrs. Bloom went into the diner for a lunch. They were informed that the diner would be left off here but that they would have twenty minutes before the change was made. They left the children in the sleeper, where they had three sections, but when they started to return to the train they found that it had pulled out. The train was late and did not wait in Omaha the usual time.

Mr. Haney did not lose any time. The telephone between the depot and the Union Pacific headquarters was kept busy for a few minutes and hurried orders were sent out over the telegraph wires.

The train was caught at South Omaha and stopped. A coach was coupled on to a switch engine and Mr. and Mrs. Bloom were given a ride in a special train and hustled down to South Omaha at the rate of about fifty miles an hour.

People frequently get left on this train, but usually it is the fault of the passenger who has to wait until the next train and pick up his effects at the station along the way where the conductor may have happened to throw them off. The children were responsible for the unusual action of the Union Pacific officials who could not steel their hearts against the thought of three fearful little faces speeding alone and uncomfortable across the country.

WILD CHASE FOR NOTHING
Iowa Citizen Tries to Run Down Street Car, Thinking His Grip is on It.

M. P. Lynch of Ayrshire, Ia., is another man who thinks man and woman were made to mourn and lose their baggage checks. Mr. Lynch lost his baggage check in Omaha Thursday afternoon. As soon as he had discovered the loss he hastened to the Union station to report the matter.

When the policeman caught up with Lynch he did not know what the conductor thought, and neither did he care. He was after his suit case, and that was all he thought of. The distance between the car and Lynch was widening, but Lynch hoped and ran. A policeman took up the chase behind Lynch and a number of citizens followed the policeman. The odds were against Lynch, who was overtaken by the policeman.

NEARLY FOUR INCHES OF SNOW

First of Season Spreads White Coat Over Nearly Entire State.

OMAHA GETS LIBERAL PROPORTION

City Starts Street Forces at Once to Making Arteries of Commerce Passable—Stock Traders Will Be Benefited.

The first snow worthy of the name this season in Omaha fell Thursday night and Friday morning, attaining an average depth of about four inches. The snow began falling about 8 o'clock in the evening and continued throughout the night.

When Omaha awoke yesterday the entire city was covered with a mantle of snow. All outdoor work, except shoveling snow off the sidewalks, was suspended. The city authorities went at the snow with commendable alacrity. The snow plow was early put in operation on Sixteenth street and a large force of men was put to work cleaning the snow off the street crossings.

Volume of Precipitation.
The precipitation was but 2 1/2 inches. The temperature yesterday morning at 7 was 25, a rise of 8 degrees since Thursday morning. Apparently the heaviest of the snowfall is through this section of the Missouri valley, and between here and Sioux City. There was no snow in Kansas for Missouri, except a slight trace at Council Bluffs.

Parties in from the northeastern part of the state occur in the wish for a big snow fall up there for the benefit of the wheat. One man from the vicinity of Valentine said:

"We have been having some fairly cold weather up there, but the stock is not suffering much. The farmers want snow badly for the wheat. We have had a little snow, but not to amount to any good. We want all we can get if it will only come down straight."

Mortality Statistics.
The following births and deaths were reported at the office of the Board of Health up to noon December 16:

GIRL NEEDS SIREN VOICE

South Dakota Maiden Spurns Parental Advice and Now Occupies Capital Avenue Resort.

Her name is Marion Burgess. She was arraigned in police court on the charge of being a disorderly woman and fined $5 and costs. She pleaded guilty to the charge.

But behind these few facts lies a story that is ever new, yet ever old. Miss Marion Burgess says she is 19 years of age and her address is 902 Capitol avenue. She says her parents know her age, but do not know her address. She would not have them learn her address for the world, she says.

She appeared in police court in a thin, sandy gown, the habitment of the woman of the world. She yet has the girlish face, although the lines of abandonment are beginning to show themselves.

The story of Marion Burgess is not long, neither is it new, yet it appeals to human sympathy.

Miss Burgess is a graduate of the high school at Huron, S. D. She is pretty of countenance and of a confident nature. She left Huron, near which place her parents have a farm, to accompany a man to Omaha. She listened to what she thought was "the sweetest story ever told."

At a recent meeting of the Real Estate exchange the matter of "booming Omaha" was discussed. Probably now that a demand is developing for Omaha literature the exchange may carry out its plans.

WINDOWS AND MOON CRACKED

Former Sufferer from Raid and Captain Dunn Holds the Heavenly Body Responsible.

An epidemic of window breaking broke out in Omaha Thursday evening, when five persons were arrested and taken to the city jail on charges of cracking window glasses.

Chief of Detectives Dunn is of the opinion that the recent crack on the face of the moon is responsible for this local outbreak. Captain Moore of the police station says the moon has nothing to do with the matter and that the matter is merely a coincidence.

OMAHA'S FAME WORLD WIDE

Information of City's Resources Sought by Man of New South Wales.

Commissioner McMann of the Commercial club has received a letter from Fred C. Jackson of Sydney, New South Wales, asking for a plan of Omaha and any books and pamphlets that would give an idea of the resources and industries of this city.

JUDGE AVERTS HAIR PULLING

Police Magistrate Settles Dispute Between Inmate Women Who Make Things Warm.

It was only the calm judgment of Police Judge Berke that prevented a riot call being sent from police court to the city jail.

Now it came to pass that Mrs. Rosen did not love Mrs. Brown, nor did Mrs. Brown love her neighbor as herself. Mrs. Brown beat Mrs. Rosen in police court and filed a complaint against the woman. The case was being argued in police court, when the atmosphere became so oppressive that City Prosecutor Lee had to open the window to relieve the situation.

"She called me a cat." "No, I didn't, Judge." "She threw a tin can into my yard." "She lies, Judge." "She said I had false teeth." "Oh, what a lie, Judge. You know I didn't say it." "She said I wasn't respectable." "I didn't say any such thing. She came over to my yard and counted every piece of washing on my line and said she had heard all about me."
