eccupying a private room, he needs nothing further, everything being provided by the institution. Because of sickness and accidents I have had to be put into hospitals at various times for repairs or recuperation and so have come to know a good deal about the ways and methods of these beneficent institutions. To a patient ecupying a private room a hospital can be more nearly likened to a hotel with a free medical department attached than anything else I can think of. "At the same time there is thrown about the occupant of the private room in a hospital, as well as about the occupant of a cot in the general ward, a restraint that is absent in a hotel and which is even faintly uggestive of a jail. You cannot enter a hospital at will, nor can you leave it wholly at your own pleasure, as you can with a hotel. The hospital authorities exercise a certain necessary discretion as to the admission of patients, pay as well as free, and also as to their leaving. It frequently happens that a patient, tired of the sefore he should. He usually finds that ome essential part of his street apparel. his shoes or his coat is missing. President of Rural Letter Carriers Talks on President's Order.

Frank H. Cunningham, president of the National Rural Letter Carriers' association, arrived home from Washington yesterday. The greatest dicrease in the production of Mr. Cunningham said that for a time at gold in 1908 was in Colorado, where the least he would maintain his office in South production fell off $5,928,600, or 20.82 per cent. The above figures are taken from a report on the production of gold and silver in 1903, which is published by the United States Geological Survey in its annual volume of mineral resources. The total statistics of the production are furnished, as in previous years, by George E. Roberts, director of the mint. The statistical canvass made by the survey resulted, however, in some differences in the distribution of the product among the several states and territories. "Fourth Assistant Postmaster General."
This ruling has been interpreted as being binding upon the carrier after his day's work has been completed and he is off duty, and is it not in direct violation of the constitution of the United States, which guarantees to every American citizen the right in million to constitution of the United States is as follows:

"Congress to make no law respecting an establishme of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble

right of the people peaceably to assemble the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of and to prove the proses; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to be a government for a redress of glevances."

Has Russia been moved to America, and is Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow the czar? Is the constitution still in force? Does the constitution of the United States mean what it says? Or does it mean what Mr. Bristow thinks and wants? The right of pelition was a right guaranteed by the founders of our government—a government for all the people. Mr. Bristow, apparently, would have one kind of rights for letter carriers, and another kind of government and rights for other citizens. When a rural carrier takes his eath to support the constitution, must he make a mental reservation to support only such portions as Mr. Bristow approves of? Is the rural carrier a free moral agent? Is the rural carrier a free moral agent? Is he a citizenship and forfeit his constitutional rights when he becomes a carrier? And why is it these petitions are not wanted? If hundreds of thousands of patrons, believing they are right, and desiring to correct an injustice, want to sign a petition regarding rural free delivery, and if they wish the rural carrier to circulate this petition for trem, why should he not do so, as long as he does not let the doing so interfere in the sightest with his duties? Why are these petitions of thousands of honest, taxpaying patrons be suppressed? Is there anything in the truth which should be conceiled? Why did the petition last winter to cause such constornation? Why was the effort made to minimize their magnitude until it could not be more clear. The poole of the common people, the unheard, taxpaying consuming population of the United States desired that the only branch of the federal government that came in direct only by paying a living wage could this efficiency of the self-cient, and they plainly saw that only by paying a living wage could this efficiency of the self-cient, and they plainly saw that only by payin bills in the committee chairmaned se Overstreet is a direct annulment will of the people. If the past affords any basis on which to forecast future conditions, what have the rural carriers to hope for or expect? The resignations among the rural letter carriers, because of their inadequate pay and miserable condition, have been thousands upon thousands annually, amounting to nearly 5 per cent of the chire carrier body; and now, since the election is over, they are to be persecuted and dismissed from the service should they dare to make known their intolerable condition and assert their rights of citizenship, even though they have their last dollar invested in horses, wagon, harness and other equipment with which to perform the service. Congressman Hearst, however, has introduced a resolution in congress, making inquiry into these dismissals and the matter will likely be tested in the highest courts to determine whether or not letter carriers have any constitutional rights or citizenship.

This is the case wherein the city of Columbus seeks to reopen a street in this city known as "M" street and which was vacated and deeded to the Union Pacific railroad many years ago. The case was tried before Judge Munger at Omaha last April and the railroad was given a judgment. The case was then appealed and is now set for hearing. alternate plans, Mr. Wallace said:

At Gamboa the elevation of rock on the site of the proposed dam is at sea level, and numerous borings taken at that point, entering the rock twenty to twenty-five feet in depth, would indicate that at Gamboa there is no question as to the ability to find a satisfactory foundation for a dam at a maximum depth of sea level. The probable method of construction of the Gamboa dam or even of the Bohio dam would be the construction of a core of concrete and the filling in with the waste dirt out of Culebra cut. The Gamboa dam can be constructed cheaper than the Bohio dam on account of the fact that the foundation is much nearer the Sulface and the dam site much nearer the Culebra cut.

Upon the economical and efficient handling of the material from Culebra cut depends the cost and the time it will take to complete the canal. Every other question and every other problem connected with the engineer work is subordinate and inferior to the problem of the excavation and disposal of the material from the Culebra cut; that is the principal problem of this work. The control of the Chagres, the construction of the various dams, the construction of harbor improvements and all other works are relatively less important.
