DUBLIN, Jan. 7 .- (Special Cablegram to The Bee.)-At a meeting of the executive committee of the Irish Unionist alliance, held this week, the following statement was unanimously adopted:

The executive committee of the Irish Unionist alliance have received from members in various parts of the country, whose position and experience enable them to speak with authority, information respecting the growing lawlessness in many parts of Ireland. Such information is in entire agreement with what may be read from of Ireland. Such information is in entire agreement with what may be read from day to day in the public press, which record the violent speeches on United League platforms, combinations of a threatening character directed against both landord and tenants, the passing of intimidating resolutions, at meetings of local branches of the league, and overt acts of outrage. These reports are fully borne out by the police statistics quoted by the judges at the recent against for the provinces of Connaught and Munster. At this juncture, when the unsatisfactory condition of the when the unsatisfactory condition of the country is apparent, the executive com-nitite understand that the reduction of the royal Irish constabulary is still in progress, and that a reduction of the numtemplated. The executive committee think it their duty to again express their opinion that the reduction of constabulary is more than inopportune and constitutes a great danger to the peace of the country, and that danger they believe to be seriously increased in the south and west of Ireland by the reduction of the number of stipendary magistrates. They also desire to express their opinion that the neglect of the government to deal with public speeches inciting to violence is likely to be followed, as on previous occasions, by more serious offenses.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 7 .- Alva Adams was tonight declared by the legislature to be the duly elected governor of Colorado. The returns showed Adams 123,078, Peabody 113,-304; plurality for Adams, 9,774. A cheer greeted the announcement of the result of the election when made by Lieutenant Governor Haggott.

The republican candidates to all the other state offices were declared etected. Under the terms of agreement reached today by the various factions in the legislature ne notice of contest can be filed by Governo Peabody until after the inauguration of Mr. Adams, which is set for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. It has not yet been definitely decided by Governor Peabody whether o not he will make a contest.

Dove of Peace Appears. When the legislature convened this morn ing Representative William Griffith of Cripple Creek asked for a recess until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, giving as his reason for the request that "IPs white-winged dove of peace is about to light on the dome of the capitol." It was nine long hours before the dove came down, and many and devious had been her flights before she lit. It was a day given over to secret caucuses, to con ferences, to proposition and counter proposition. It was finally agreed at 5 o'clock in the afternoon that the vote should be canvassed, that Alva Adams should be declared governor, and that no contest should be made for any office until after his inauguration at 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning.

Throughout the entire struggle for the governorship the chief aim of both democrats and republicans has been to secure the appointment of two new judges to the supreme court. The question of whether Peabody or Adams sat in the governor's office was a secondary matter. The Wolcott republicans were insistent in their demands that they be recognized in the appointment of the judges, and it was finally agreed that the appointees should be George W. It would not declare them illegal, simply declining to pass on the mater at all. With the joint session not declared legal, all things that came from it were in the same position, and the Peabody men then agreed to compromise. It took but a short time to reach an agreement, both sides being fairly disposed and country some time ago and settled with in a conciliatory frame of mind. The republican leaders departed to confer with Governor Peabody, and the house and senate sat down to wait. At 7 o'clock all things were settled, even to the fact that Lieutenant Governor Haggott should preside over the foint session, except while the canvass was in progress, when he would give way to Speaker Dickson.

MUKDEN, Jan. 6 .- (Via Peking, Jan. 7.)-Phough the news of Port Arthur's capitulation was first generally known here today, it was surmised by the Russian army January 4, from the cheering heard n the Japanese camp along the entire line when cries of "bangai" were distinctly heard. The news created no surprise, because the army had become accustomed to the possibility of Port Arthur's fall from before the battle of Lino Yang and since. While concerned at the disaster the Russlans are lost in admiration of the wonderful and unexampled defense. Although the deaths of Generals Fock and Kondratenko was not published here, the facts regarding Fock had been accepted for six weeks and the condition of Port Arthur was known throughout. The authorities here as early as December 25 denied that relief vessels had successfully run the blockade, as reported, and candidly admitted the desperation of the heroic defenders. The Russians regarded the expectations of foreign expert visitors to Port Arthur before the war that Port Arthur would doubtless resist for eighteen months, as being too optimistic, provided there was no relief.

While it is impossible to telegraph the tenor of opinion, yet it is evident that greater events must transpire before the end of war is apparent.
