Missouri Pacific "Midnight" Tariff. Puts Eastern Roads Out of Running and Sets Freight Agents Busy Figuring.

Chicago is now lined up in an endeavor. to hold the corn market away from Omaha. In the Chicago Tribune of Tuesday is a better explanation of the Missouri Pacific "midnight" rate on corn from Omaha than has yet been given locally. of the export trade have received another blow.

They learned yesterday that the Missouri Pacific had but in another so-called "midnight tariff" from Omaha to the gulf on 1,600 cars at 13 cents a hundred pounds.

As the export rate from Chicago to the Atlantic ports is 15 cents, the impossibility of drawing any corn from the west through Chicago is apparent.

A few days ago at a meeting of representatives of the grain carrying roads the Missouri Pacific representative stated that although that road had put in "midnight tariffs" on 1,000,000 bushels of grain to the gulf at a reduced rate it would not do so any more. Now, however, the information comes from Washington that the Missouri Pacific has violated that promise and has filed tariffs on special lots to the amount of over 1,500,000 bushels in addition to the original 1,000,000.

Cheaper to the Gulf. A Rock Island man said, in commenting on he enormous gulf hauls in which the company had shared to Galveston: "We have been getting is cents for the haut and we have had about all the business we could handle. The 15-cent haul from Chicago to the Atlantic seaboard, and at 18 cents, you see, the figures were below the competing point of eastern lines. The rate to Philadelphia is 16% cents and to Baltimore 16 cents. But this rate is from Chicago on grain intended exclusively for the export business. To this rate must be added 8 cents for the haul from river to river, that is, from the Missouri to the Mississippi. This will make the lowest eastern rate 25 cents. "Besides the rate the eastern ports are obliged to overcome the shipping advantages which the southern ports have over the northern ones. The fact remains that the eastern shippers have been getting all tion, beyond the fact that the corn rate the grain they want for domestic purposes from Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska and they have not yet entered the field for the export grain. When the domestic business is out of the way and they began to buy for export trade I think you will see the grain rates of the eastern lines drop to a point that will put them on an equal basis with the southern lines, or else the gulf carrying lines will raise their rates. The eastern lines could not have handled the export and the domestic shipments and done it as promptly as the guif lines were able to handle this trade. The shipments have been beyond anything known in years and they were not prepared for this inundation of grain traffic business."

Mrs. Ida E. Comte, Separated from Her Husband, Commits Suicide by Shooting, Leaving Only a Brief Note.

Mrs. Ida E. Comte, 32 years of age, shot herself in the heart with a 35-caliber revolver. The act was committed in the kitchen at 1824 Webster street, which place Mrs. Comte rented two weeks ago for rooming purposes. The woman and her husband, Thomas H. Comte, Lincoln manager for Schmoller & Mueller Plano company, had been separated nearly two months. She saw her husband the last time about two weeks ago, and from letters found in her effects it is believed a reconciliation was thought of. Before killing herself the woman left her insurance and other papers on a table with a note to her friend, Daisy Danford. The note reads: "Dalsy, wire Mr. Comte at 135 South Eleventh street, Lincoln.' The woman is believed to have been alone when she shot herself. Miss Danford came home at noon, as usual, and called for her friend, but, receiving no answer, went to the kitchen and found the woman cold in death. Mrs. Comte was in the best of spirits apparently yesterday morning. She sent a letter to her parents by a friend at 8 o'clock.
