census of Council Bluffs for the compenpervisors were referred by County Auditor | recognizance. Cheyne to A. H. Davison, secretary of the state executive council. Mr. Davison sought the opinion of Attorney General Charles W. Mullan and a copy of the attorney general's opinion was received yesterday by Mr. Cheyne.

While the epinion of the attorney general is not entirely explicit the county auditer infere from it that in the event of Mr. Hardin still declining to take the census he will be required to resign his office as assessor, to which he was elected by the people of this city last spring. However, the attorney general in his opinion states that the compensation for taking the census, which shall be fixed by the Board of County Supervisors, shall be 'reasonable and adequate for the amount of work required in taking such census." This consequently leaves open the question of whether the $500 allowed Mr. Hardin by the supervisors for this work is "reasonable and adequate." Mr. Hardin contends that it is not and that to do the work for this sum would result in a heavy loss to him. Mr. Hardin insists that he should be paid not less than $900 for taking the census and moreover states he will refuse to resign the office to which he will refuse to resign the office to which he was elected last spring. Discusses Freight Rates. Judge J. H. Richards of Webster City made fun of all the bills before the present congress on the interstate commerce question at the meeting of the Grant club, at which he was the principle speaker last night. He claimed that the Hepburn bill was the climax of ludicrous legislation. Judge Richard's idea is that the Interstate Commerce commission should be given authority to fix rates and that the courts should have authority only in case of "manifest error of law." He thinks it is ridiculous to suggest that the courts fix rates. On the other hand, he held that Congressman Haugen was attempting to shut the courts out entirely and declared that it was impossible to take such a course and give the Interstate Commerce commission authority that the courts had no right to inquire into.

Experts Ready to Commence Work Checking Up Treasurer's Books.

TAX PAYMENTS ARE UNUSUALLY HEAVY

Police Suggest Those Who Have Clothing Available for the Poor Leave it at the Station for Distribution.

William Rowley and W. G. Bentley are the auditors and expert accountants whom the city has employed to check the books of the city treasurer for the year 1904. In talking of his work yesterday afternoon. Mr. Rowley said that owing to the large receipts of taxes due to the scavenger law the work of checking the books would hardly be completed for two months. City Treasurer Howe has made the statement that of the 1904 taxes he has collected $100,000, which is about 70 per cent of the total. This is something out of the ordinary, as the city taxes for the 1904 levy did not fall due until October 1, and became delinquent on January 1. These large tax payments show that South Omaha peo ple are prosperous. Another feature is the rapid collection of delinquent personal taxes. Yesterday Mr. Ridgeway, the personal tax collector, started out with two distress warrants and was ready to call the van upon refusal. He came back to the office in a short time with the money Several distress warrants are hanging on the hook in the treasurer's office now and unless a settlement is made soon the van will have to be called out.

Declares Tax Levy Illegal. City Clerk Gillin was notified yesterday afternoon that Judge Sutton had declared the special taxes assessed for the laying of wooden sidewalks on Thirty-ninth street dragged her body into a woodshed and was from Q to S streets illegal. These walks preparing to sever her head from the body were laid in 1893, under a contract with J. D. Bennett. All of the property involved paid the tax with the exception of Joseph Duffy, A. J. Harder and S. K. Quigbaum. These three brought suit to prisoner to the county jail at the point of test the validity of the tax. The property owners who have paid this tax have no recourse now, as moneys paid into the city caped lynching. He partially answers the treasury without protest cannot be recov-

> The almost spontaneous increase in the number of members of the Young Men's Christian association has led the membership committee to think it is possible to make it 500 in the next ninety days. They have planned a series of monthly clubs which should add to the interest of the canvass and also provide for the social needs of the members. The January clubwhich will include all new members of that month and the ones who brought them inwill be invited to the committee lunch the first Thursday in February. A social hour will be provided after lunch.

The Board of Directors is making the annual canvass for subscriptions to support the association. In the face of the fact that a splendid growth has been made along almost every line, and the rooms crowded with young men, the earnings for the past twelve months have not met the expenses.

The boys' "Get-One" banquet was held Thursday evening. Sunday afternoon Rev. J. B. Priest will speak at the men's meeting. Rev. Mr. Priest has been chosen to conduct the first week of the union evangelistic meetings at the Baptist church, beginning Sunday evening. The Mozart club will furnish music for the meetings. The high school gymnasium class will have charge of the "Open Night" Saturday A fine program has been provided, a basket ball game with the Omaha High school, and refreshments. Everybody

John Zalondik Discharged. A crowd gathered in police court yesterday afternoon to listen to the testimony in the case against John Zalondik, charged with assaulting John Hubert and Charles Williams on last Sunday night. The plaintiffs were both colored. Zalondik testified that the colored men bought whisky in his saloon and then stole two glasses off the bar When they refused to return the glasses he struck them with a piece of rubber hose filled with shot. Judge King figured that men with cash enough to buy whisky ought to be able to purchase glasses and he discharged Zalondik. The charge of being drunk and disorderly filed against Williams and Hubert was also dismissed at the same time.

Fowler Wants Help. J. M. Fowler, the day jailer at police headquarters, said last night that much good could be accomplished by those who have children's clothing to send the same to some designated place, where the garments could be distributed. Major Fowler said that he has calls every day for children's clothing and suggests that the charitably inclined people of South Omaha form some sort of an organization and secure temporary headquarters, where shoes, stockings, underclothes, etc., for children could be dispensed to those in need. Those who are interested in such a movement may communicate with Major Fowler at police headquarters by calling telephone

Plan Now for Your Son

Buy him an irrigated farm in the Big Horn Basin or in the North Platte Valley. There are no crop failures in farming irrigated lands. Do you know where you can buy farm lands in the region of rainfall at $25 an acre, where a paying crop is absolutely insured from year to year? You do not. But you can buy irrigated land now under a full water supply at that price, today. The Big Horn country is as large as the state of Massachusetts and is a coming commonwealth; one of the greatest surprises in the West's development will be unfolded in the next few years in the Big Horn Basin for the coming generation of farmers and prospectors.

Get interested; make inquiries; read Big Horn literature; watch that locality and its irrigation enterprises. Compare the annual crop returns from the farms up there with the present cost of an irrigated When you realize the absolute certainty of farming by irrigation, you will get interested. Where and how will the next generation get good farms in this country? Seven hundred thousand emigrants come annually to our shores;-udd to that our natural increase, compare this growth of population with the limited acreage of new farm lands and it ought not to be difficult to figure out the future value of a good farm.
