Conkling Waives Hearing.

Charles C. Conkling, the young man who attempted to pass several checks bearing the forged signatures of well known business men of the city, waived a preliminary hearing in police court yesterday morning and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. In default of bail, placed at $500, he was committed to the county jail.

W. B. Conkling, the young man's father, arrived from Des Moines yesterday and the meeting between the white haired father and wayward son was a most affecting one. The father said that his son a few years ago was severely injured in an elevator accident and he did not think he had been mentally bright since. He has hopes of securing a bond for his son. Yesterday Mr. Conkling called upon the men whose signatures his son had forged and they all are inclined to deal leniently with the young man, and it is possible he will escape prosecution.

These costs are thrown onto the defendant in addition to the judgment and the case is now ended for good, as the amount involved precludes it being taken to a higher court.

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO HELP GREENLAND

H. H. Guy, a Des Moines Man, Refuses a Title and a Large Salary from Japanese Government.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Jan. 21.—(Special.)—Four Ottumwa liquor dealers who claim they kept their saloons open July 4, 1903, to test the law and find out whether or not the day was a legal holiday under the mulct law, were denied a remission of their fines by Governor Cummins today. The saloon men claimed they kept open to test the law just as business men in other lines sometimes test the law. They showed that they had consulted an attorney, who advised them that there was some doubt about the matter. It was also shown the governor that it had been necessary for the people to raise a subscription in order to prosecute the cases and that Judge Roberts had doubled the fine of one of the liquor dealers because he had kept open July 4, 1902, and had been fined then. The citizens of the city and officers of the court were opposed to executive interference.

Greenland to Penitentiary.

Frank A. Greenland of Decatur county must go to the penitentiary for three years for the theft of three head of cattle, Governor Cummins today having refused to interfere and stay the serving of the mittimus further. Greenland is a man of enormous physique and rough, hardy, frontier nature. He manages a farm of several thousand acres, which belongs to himself and his father and brothers. He keeps about him at all times a crowd of rough young fellows who are attracted by his rough nature. Greenland's defense is that he did not steal the cattle, but that some of his men did it. The supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower court and this week refused a rehearing. Greenland asked for a stay of execution and for a pardon on the ground that he was engaged in other litigation which would be interfered with by his imprisonment. Both Judge H. M. Towner and County Attorney Olsen advised Cummins that there was no reason why executive clemency should be shown and every reason why it should not. The governor has made it a rule to not extend clemency unless the court advised it. The serving of the mittimus was temporarily suspended by the governor's office Wednesday. Today the order was forwarded to the sheriff and clerk of the court to proceed with the service. Greenland will be taken to Fort Madison at once, as there is no further action that can be taken to stay the execution.

Spiritualists in Convention.

It being a strict rule of the hotel that women receive no gentlemen in their rooms, Mrs. Kizer was expelled. The convention had a stormy debate over the question of vaccination. Resolutions were offered, declaring it a barbarous custom. Some defended it and a compromise was finally effected opposing compulsory vaccination.

DEFEATED AFTER HOT DEBATE

Lower House of the South Dakota Legislature Tables County Superintendent's Bill.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—The house today broke loose from the peace and calm which have prevailed from the beginning of the session and several members developed considerable heat over the resolution to allow county superintendents to hold more than two terms. This measure developed the first general discussion of the session, and finally went to the table on the motion of Demalinon by a vote of 44 to 24. Bralerud, Hebal, Carroll and Bowell supporting the measure, while Madison, Countryman, Craig and Turner opposed it, giving the reason that it had been twice submitted and both times voted down.

The bringing up of the bill to appropriate $8,923 for the deficiency at the soldiers' home was opposed by Vanosdel, who took the ground that there is a legislative provision making it criminal for any institution to incur a deficiency and that he believed that the deficiency was brought about by extravagance at the home. Clark and Turner defended the bill, declaring that the incurring of this deficiency was simply a matter of absolute necessity, and the bill passed with about four negative votes, Vanosdel not voting.

The house passed bills fixing the beginning of the terms of county auditors as the first Monday in March, and to make the terms of officers of mutual insurance companies three years.

The penitentiary twine plant received its first attention today in two bills, one of Thorson of Minnehaha to appropriate $75,500 for the plant and machinery, and the other by Hebal of Deuel, which carries an appropriation of $150,000 for the purpose. Other house bills introduced were: By Chaney, to make the office of township marshal appointive instead of elective; by Pennington, cutting out all exemptions from a single man; and by Turner of Brown, preventing druggists in no-license towns from selling liquor except on prescriptions.

The house committee reported unfavorably on the bill to appropriate $15,000 for the state fair grounds at Huron.

A joint meeting of the capitol building committees of both houses was held today, the members of the committees going over the proposed site with an architect to familiarize themselves with the situation.

In the senate a resolution was introduced by Cook memoralizing congress for the election of United States senators by popular vote, and bills by Cordill, to require steam engines on highways to give right of way to teams; by Wagner, to provide for the collection from parents for the education of children. The bill legalizing liquor licenses granted the past two years where no license election had been held was favorably reported.

Governor Elrod signed his first law today, it being the one providing for legislative expenses. The pen used was donated to the State Historical society.

Six new residences were built at a cost ranging from $5,000 to $8,000, while there were any quantity ranging from $1,500 to $4,000. HEPBURN OFFERS HIS BILL

Act to Regulate Freight Rates Introduced in the House.

CREATES A NEW COURT OF COMMERCE

Five Circuit Judges of the United States Are to Compose Tribunal to Sit at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Representative Hepburn today introduced his bill amending the interstate commerce act, which has been under consideration some time and which has been submitted to the president and attorney general and other members of the administration.

Upon complaint the Interstate Commerce commission shall declare and order what shall be a just and reasonable rate, which order shall take effect in sixty days, the carrier having an appeal to a court of commerce to have the order of the commission reviewed. Pending the review the court may suspend the order, requiring a bond from the carrier, for the payment of all damages incurred by shipping. The commission is also authorized to fix a joint rate in case two or more carriers fail to agree, orders affecting these rates being subject to review by the court of commerce. The president is authorized to appoint an assistant attorney general for the enforcement of the act. The Interstate Commerce commission is authorized during a judicial review of its order to modify or suspend the order under review. Carriers refusing to obey an order of the commission are subject to a penalty of $5,000 a day.

An appeal from the court of commerce can only be taken to the supreme court of the United States. The present Interstate Commerce commission is abolished and a new commission created, composed of seven commissioners at $7,000 a year. The terms of the commissioners shall be ten years.

A court of commerce, composed of five circuit judges of the United States, is created which shall hold four regular sessions each year in Washington. The court shall have exclusive jurisdiction over cases brought by the Interstate Commerce commission. The chief justice of the supreme court of the United States is authorized to designate on the first of each year five circuit judges, who shall constitute the court of commerce. The president is authorized to appoint an additional circuit judge for each of the judicial districts of the United States, who are authorized to perform the duties of the judges of the circuit court.

The bill consists of twenty-one sections, much attention being given to the details and methods of procedure under which the commission and the court of commerce shall proceed.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE

Indian Appropriation Bill is Passed —Tribute to the Late Senator Ingalls.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The house today passed the Indian appropriation bill and then devoted several hours paying tribute to the late John J. Ingalls of Kansas.

The appropriation bill was amended only in minor details, $50,000 being added for Indian schools.

The exercises attendant on the acceptance of the Ingalls statue were participated in by many members who spoke feelingly of the late Kansas senator.

The house this afternoon passed the Indian appropriation bill.

Speaker Cannon announced the appointment of the seven managers on the part of the house to present to the senate the Swayne impeachment case, as follows: Representatives Palmer (Penn.), Powers (Mass.), Olmsted (Penn.), Perkins (N. Y.), Clayton (Ala.), De Armond (Mo.) and Smith (Ky.).

The first four managers are republicans and the remainder democrats. All but Messrs. Olmsted and Perkins are members of the judiciary committee.

A resolution was agreed to directing the clerk of the house to present to the senate the articles of impeachment.

During the debate on the Indian appropriation bill the appropriation for the maintenance of public schools in the Indian Territory was increased from $100,000 to $150,000.

With the statement that over $100,000 of the trust funds of the Indians had been paid out to the Catholic church during the past year for the maintenance of mission schools, Mr. Stephens (Tex.) endeavored to have the bill amended by providing that no such funds should be used for such purpose in the future.

A point of order was made and sustained against the amendment.

The house concluded the senate resolution of acceptance.

At 5:40 the house adjourned.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE

Eulogies Delivered Upon the Late John J. Ingalls.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—After a day devoted to listening to eulogies upon the late Senator John J. Ingalls of Kansas, and to the consideration of the bill making appropriations for fortifications, the senate, just before adjournment, received from the house notification that that body had named managers to conduct the impeachment proceedings against Charles Swayne, United States district judge for the northern district of Florida. The senate immediately adopted a resolution saying that it was prepared to proceed with the matter.

The Ingalls eulogies were delivered in connection with the official presentation by the state of Kansas of the statue of the late senator for Statuary hall. The principal address was made by Senator Long of Kansas.

The fortification bill was read, and pending the consideration of an amendment to strike out the provision for insular fortifications the senate adjourned.

A resolution authorizing the committee on interstate commerce to sit during sessions of the senate, in order to permit the taking of testimony of the railroad rate question, was passed.

Mr. Dietrich presented, but did not read, an article written by himself in support of his bill giving local self-government to Alaska.

The senate then entered upon the ceremonies incident to the acceptance of the statue of the late John J. Ingalls, for eighteen years a member of the United States senate from Kansas, which has been placed in Statuary hall. There were seven addresses, but before they were begun Mr. Long presented a letter from the governor of Kansas tendering the statue and a resolution of acceptance. Pending the adoption of the resolution Mr. Long addressed the senate. He devoted the greater portion of his address to a consideration of the reasons why Mr. Ingalls was not re-elected in 1891, and said:

And then, as if in some measure to atone for the injustice they had done him, the people of Kansas provided that his marble statue should stand forever in the hall near the chamber in which his great work was done. Past political affiliations were forgotten when the resolution was passed. In the legislature were some who had belonged to the party which was organized to retire him from public life. They joined his old friends and supporters in preserving his stately and imposing figure in the capitol of the nation, and today Kansas will be gratified to know that while the voice of John James Ingalls will be heard no more, yet in cold marble, in striking, in perfect likeness, he has ascended his pedestal in the old hall of the house of representatives, there to remain for all future time as a worthy and fitting contribution to that historic assemblage.

Mr. Long called attention to the fact that tomorrow Kansas will celebrate the forty-fourth anniversary of its admission to the union, and to the fact that Mr. Ingalls had made an unavailing effort to have John Brown's statue placed in the national capitol. The other speakers were Messrs. Allison, Cockrell, Platt (Conn.), Platt, Spooner and Daniels.

In the galleries were Mrs. Ingalls and her daughters, Mrs. Senator Long, J. L. Bristow, formerly fourth assistant postmaster general, and Mrs. Bristow, Judge Thomas Ryan, assistant secretary of the Department of the Interior; the wives of Kansas members of the house; Sheffield Ingalls of Atchison, a son of the late Senator Ingalls; H. D. Schick of Philadelphia, a son-in-law of the late senator, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Nelson and Miss Nelson of Kansas City. There were also a large number of other Kansas citizens.

YELLOW FEVER ON ISTHMUS

Several Cases Develop Among Newly Arrived Americans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Unofficial advices received here from representatives of the government in the Panama canal zone, dated at the end of the first week in January, are to the effect that while the current reports of the prevalence of yellow fever on the isthmus are exaggerated, the pest does exist there, and some apprehension is expressed that if it continues to spread there will be a wholesale exodus of the canal builders. The cases so far developed are said to have probably been preventable had proper precautions been adopted. But the large influx of people of the north unacquainted with tropical climatic dangers and the best means to avoid them undoubtedly has afforded great opportunity for the spread of yellow fever. The American women particularly are said to be careless and they don the lightest white muslin shirtwaists in the evening and almost surely bitten by the poisonous fever-bearing mosquito.

SORENSON JURY DISCHARGED

Panel Reports that it is Unable to Agree—Two Jurymen Said to Be Friends of Defendant.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21.—The jury sitting on the case of George Sorenson, tried for attempting to bribe former United States District Attorney Hall in an effort to have him hush the land fraud cases in this state, reported to Judge Bellinger today that it was impossible for the jurors to agree upon a verdict. In discharging the jury Judge Bellinger called the attention of Francis J. Heney, who is prosecuting the land fraud cases for the government, to the failure of the jury to agree on a verdict in the face of evidence which Judge Bellinger said warranted but one verdict—that of conviction. The court urged Mr. Heney to summon the members of the jury before the federal grand jury that a thorough investigation of the matter might be had. It is reported that two of the jurors are friends of the defendant, Sorenson.

OUR LETTER BOX

Equality in Taxation.

OMAHA, Jan. 21. To the Public and Parties Who were Complained of by the Willis Land Company for Not Paying Taxes on Personal Equal to Real Estate: It is not a pleasant job, but a duty we owe ourselves and families and community. The home owner is taxed at full value, very often more than what he gave for his home; vacant lots owned by us, and we having been paying taxes on for thirty years, are now on scavenger list and offered for sale. We must hire more money to put in them or lose the accumulation of years to two generations. "Why don't you improve or sell?" they will say. Can't at assessed valuation; can't improve because must hire money and pay double taxes—that is, the improvements will be assessed at more than the cost, and the parties that loan the money make us pay the tax on the mortgage as it is assessed. The tenant cannot afford to pay it all, and if we improve we lose labor and land. Our houses need repairing, painting; if I put on $50 worth of paint I am raised $500 on assessments; if I beautify my grounds, which of course takes money and labor, our taxes are raised.

When I was a young man I did not give the subject so much thought—I did the labor myself. Now, I am older and more feeble, I must buy labor and then be assessed for more than it cost me. If we could live long enough and be able to pay the present exorbitant taxes, our property no doubt would raise to the value given by our tax commissioner, but we can not live that long, unless we get at all personal property and reduce vacant real estate to real value. Most all of our old land men who were wealthy twenty years ago are bankrupt and gone, and many in poverty, to their last resting place.

Let those great department stores, stock owners, street cars, railroads, gas and water, bond and grain speculators, who have got all our wealth, pay their taxes or show their hands (books) as law provides. The wealthy professional gentlemen should be cited, doctors, lawyers, many men whom I know, who are laying back with stock enough to elect them presidents of banks and holding $10,000 a year positions, and with mortgages assigned to escape taxes that should be brought before the equalization board, to show why they should not pay taxes the same as the laboring man, who has a little home earned by labor at $1.75 to $2.50 per day, and paying these doctors $2 to $3 a visit for services. I know of doctors who last year gave $15,000 in mortgages who this year gave a few hundred for taxes—mortgages were assigned to escape taxation. Others who have $10,000 to $30,000 in bank, specialists who get any price they choose to ask—lawyers same. Make them bring their bank books; that's the only way, then perhaps books might be fixed for the occasion.

Mr. Wattles, in a speech in public a few days ago, said: "We have had enough of tax agitation." Yes, some of us have more than enough. The little house owner and the unimproved land owner. Now let the bond man, the grain speculator, yes, all the gamblers who get rich off of the producer, pay taxes equal to the man who owns a home. Why, the man who builds a home on building and loan association stock has to pay the tax on the bond as well as 8 to 10 per cent interest, and they will not allow him to vote his bonds for election of officers, but they hold them as a further security for the loan. The present legislature should look into the building and loan association laws and
