GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Russian Disturbances May Strengthen the Wheat Market.

VISIBLE SUPPLY NOT YET AT MAXIMUM

Corn Rate Reduction May Be Bearish, but Crowd Think Southern Roads Have All the Grain to Move.

OMAHA, Jan. 23, 1905.

The Russian disturbances, if they have any effect on the wheat market, will strengthen them. Any large internal disruption will greatly lessen the Russian export and will increase the demand in other countries and in Russia also. As the American market is above the foreign, however, it is probable domestic conditions will continue to rule. The market today opened with a spread of ⅞, with the highest figure $1.14¼. The high point of the day was $1.14⅜ and the low point $1.13⅝. The market was rather nervous. It reached $1.14⅛ at noon, with an upward tendency. The July was dull.

The visible wheat supply continues to increase and it now looks as though the high point for the crop could not come before the 1st of February. A week ago it was thought the top was reached and the visible would begin to decrease and not increase from then on. The farmers, however, in both the northwest and the southwest are moving out enough to make an increase this week. Argentina is increasing about normally and both Argentina and Australia sent out a million bushels each last week. With this condition it is improbable European markets will advance soon so as to affect the American situation.

The wheat visible supply decreased 302,000 bushels for the week. The English visible decreased 906,000 bushels, against 225,000 bushels last year. The northwestern receipts for the last week were 2,735 bushels, 2,424 bushels for the preceding week and 2,622 bushels for the same week in 1904. Minneapolis receipts today are forty-two cars of Canadian wheat. Broomhall's world's shipments of breadstuffs are 7,056,000, against 7,232,000 the preceding week and 10,436,000 last year. Milwaukee reports its largest mill closed for bad flour demand and Saturday's wheat carried over. Omaha wheat stocks are 343,380 bushels.

It is the general belief the reduction in eastern rates will not affect the corn situation for this winter. The gulf roads had already made contracts covering the greater part of the corn which is likely to move out during the winter and early spring. If the reduction has any effect it will be bearish as it will tend to hold corn in Chicago until the opening of navigation. The corn market is dull and steady. The large shorts are not pressing the market. Country acceptances are reported larger. Armour continues to be the seller with a fair buying by commission houses. The visible supply increased 235,000 bu. and the Omaha stock is 333,659 bu. The primary receipts are 794,000 bu. against 723,000 bu. and the shipments are 346,000 against 407,000 bu. The corn afloat is 4,578,000 bu. against 3,480,000 bu. the preceding week and 3,614,000 last year.

The oats visible supply decreased 949,000. The Omaha stocks are 214,337 bu. The market seems to be based on supply and demand and without speculative backing. Some authorities claim a better movement late in the week.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Disorders in Russia May Result in Decrease of Shipments.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Possibility of a decrease in shipments from Russia as a result of disorder caused a strong finish in the wheat market here today. At the close the May delivery was up ⅞c. Corn is up ½@¾c. Oats show a gain of ⅛c and provisions are up 5@17½c.

The strength with which the wheat market closed was not in evidence earlier in the session. At the opening the sentiment in the pit was inclined to bearishness in spite of the bullish tenor of weekly statistics. World's shipments were considered small and the amount on passage was correspondingly light. As an offset, however, receipts in the northwest showed decided increases. In consequence the market at Minneapolis was extremely weak. Traders here were more inclined to be governed by domestic conditions than by the foreign situation. Opening quotations on May were a shade higher to ⅛c lower at $1.13⅝@1.14⅛. While the pit crowd generally was bearish the desire on the part of many traders to sell wheat short was here in check by a rumor that a leading bear was supporting the market. Selling was likewise restrained by the critical condition of affairs in Russia. A fear was entertained that further violence might result disastrously to Russian commerce and perhaps cause a stoppage of grain exports from that country. After trading was well under way sentiment became a little firmer, May advancing to $1.14¼. Weakness of northwestern markets, however, was a constant drag on prices here and with the announcement of liberal primary receipts commission houses turned active sellers. Under this pressure May declined to $1.13⅛. Late in the day, however, the market developed considerable activity with a sharp rise in values. News from the southwest was bullish. Reports from Kansas City stating that receipts there would be small in the near future, inasmuch as country millers are paying from 5@6c per bushel more than the market price. Dispatches from St. Petersburg also added to the anxiety of shorts, advices asserting a renewal of disturbances at the Russian capital. From $1.13⅛ May quickly advanced to $1.15⅜. The market closed almost at the highest point of the day, the quotation on May being $1.15. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 66,000 bushels. The amount on passage decreased 1,356,000 bushels and the visible supply decreased 302,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 828,800 bushels, compared with 789,500 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 961 cars, against 676 cars last week and 461 cars a year ago.

Influenced by larger receipts than expected pit traders were quite free sellers of corn early in the session, resulting in some weakness. Later the market became somewhat firmer in sympathy with the advance in wheat. On the whole the volume of trading was very small. May opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower at 44⅜c to 44⅝@44¾c, sold up to 45c and closed at the top. Local receipts were 347 cars with 3 of contract grade.

A steady tone prevailed in the oats market and trading was largely of a scalping character. May opened unchanged to a shade higher at 30⅝@30⅞c to 30¾c, sold between 30⅝@31c and closed at 30⅝@31c. Local receipts were 142 cars.

A gain of 5c in the price of hogs at the yards caused fairly active covering of provisions by shorts, resulting in a firm market. At the close May pork was up 17½c, at $12.95. Lard was up 5@7½c, at $7.02½. Ribs were 10c higher, at $6.85@6.87½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow were: Wheat, 66 cars; corn, 337 cars; oats, 165 cars; hogs, 27,000 head.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Revolution at St. Petersburg a Disturbing Factor on Wall Street.

SPIRIT OF HESITATION AND SUSPICION

Settlement of Threatened Pennsylvania Difficulties and the Fall River Troubles Have Cheering Effect on Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The revolutionary aspect taken on by affairs at St. Petersburg over the Sunday interval proved a disturbing influence today in all of the world's markets. The effect was quite as acute in Wall street as on any other market, although the results to be expected in New York would be less direct than in European markets. But the Russian crisis proved to be the deciding factor in a tendency which was already growing up last week in New York towards a spirit of hesitation and suspicion. In fact, when our market opened the day was already so far advanced in St. Petersburg owing to the great difference in time that the more tranquil conditions there were known to be established. The early weakness on foreign stock markets had also passed away to some extent and effective recoveries had been achieved. Yet prices here broke all the way from 1 to 2¾ points for the prominent active stocks in the first few minutes of trading and the feverish contest between the opposing tendencies was not directed in favor of the recovery until the first hour had expired. There was some substantial effect on the side of depression in the shape of selling for European account in this market, which reached unusually large proportions.

The settlement of the threatened Pennsylvania strike and the resumption of operations in the Fall River cotton mills contributed cheering influences from the industrial situation. The local traction stocks in their advance in sympathy with the rise of Interborough Rapid Transit on the curb to a new high record helped to inaugurate the rally and Consolidated Gas joined the group on the strength of its annual report.

The selling in the last ten minutes seemed due to dread of unavoidable developments over night and it made sudden inroads upon the afternoon recoveries. The closing was weak. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $6,670,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.
