Something You Can See in Any Restaurant or Cafe. A physician puts the query: Have you never noticed in any large restaurant at unch or dinner time the large number of hearty, vigorous old men at the tables; men whose ages run from 60 to 80 years; many of them bald and all perhaps gray, but none of them feeble or senile? Perhaps the spectacle is so common as to

If you will notice what these hearty old cellows are eating you will observe that they are not munching bran, crackers nor gingerly picking their way through a menu eard of new fangled health foods; on the contrary they seem to prefer a juicy roast of beef, a properly turned loin of mutton, and even the deadly broiled lobster is not altogether ignored. TOKIO, Feb. 14.-(10 a. m.)-In discussing a report that colliers had refused to accompany the second Russian Pacific squadon on its way north, a member of the Japanese naval staff sald today: "Our commanders will fire upon and sink any olliers found in company with the Russian warships, regardless of nationality." Vice Admiral Togo departed from Kure yesterday, February 10, his destination being kept secret. It is presumed, however, that he is proceeding south.

Reports from Liao Yang place the total the total Russian force between the Shakhe river and Harbin at 450,000, of which 28,000 re on the fighting line. The condition of the prisoners and of the bodies of the dead ndicate that the Russians are short of shoes and winter clothing. Some of the officers are wearing Chinese shoes. It is believed that the exposure to the cold is greatly increasing sickness among the Russians. Later estimates of the Russian losses at Heikoutai place the number at ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 14.-The official returns for the first year of the war, not ncluding the Port Arthur statistics, show that 130,439 officers and men passed through the hospitals going north, of which number 1,710 officers were wounded and 1,308 were sick; 53,890 men were wounded and 72,581 were sick; 4,007 subsequently died in hospitals: 6,474 wounded and 11,248 sick were invalided; 9,429 returned to Russia and 21,554 are still in hospitals. Over 77,000, therefore, presumably returned to the ranks. The figures do not include the numpers of those killed on the field of battle nor probably those slightly injured who remained temporarily in field hospitals. The showing is considered remarkably The proportion dying in hospitals s very low, the total loss to the active army in wounded and sick being a little over 50,000, of whom almost half have still chance of returning to the ranks. The other half will be invalided or returned to Russia. The killed in battle are estimated to have numbered between 40,000 and 50,000. Prices on the Bourse today were strong on rumors of peace.

PARLIAMENT IS NOW

House of Lords the king was received by the high officers of state and passed in procession to the robing room. Thence, accompanied by the queen, his majesty repaired to the House of Lords, preceded by the crown and other regalia, carried by their hereditary bearers, and by the heralds announcing the approach of the sov ereigns.

In the House of Commons W. A. Mount conservative) moved and Samuel Roberts (conservative) seconded the address in eply to the king's speech. The first division approaching party line occurred in the House of Commons when Mr. Dalziel (liberal) moved that the house censure Lord Arlington for breach of priv ileges by his action in the North Dorset election. Premier Balfour said nothing could be gained by continuing the discussion, and moved the previous question, which was carried by 257 to 191 votes. Among the first of the bills of which notice was given in the House of Commons were Home Secretary Akers-Douglas' alien bill and the bill of Mr. Long, president of the local government board of relief of the unemployed. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the liberal leader in the house, speaking on

Mr. Mount's motion, bitterly assailed the government, which, he said, was evading the fiscal question, as shown by the failure of the mover and seconder of the address to mention this important subject. He added that the opposition would shortly endeavor to secure a straight answer from Mr. Balfour showing whether or not he was in agreement with Joseph Chamberlain's proposals. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman spoke a great length, attacking the government's policy in Thibet and South Africa and in fact at all points. He continued speaking almost up to 7:30 p. m., when Str Edgar Vincent (conservative) took up the debate audience assembled to hear the illustrated and was speaking when the house sus pended its sitting.

The first hour and a half of the night session was taken up with desultory speeches in the debate upon the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Premier Balfour's Reply.

Premier Balfour rose at 10:30 o'clock to reply to Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. Mr. Balfour justified the government's action in Thibet and said it was the ministry's earnest desire to maintain the friendliest relations with Afghanistan and that negotiations to that end were proceeding satisfactorily; touched on Chinese labor in South Africa and repeated Lord downe's pronouncements with regard to the future of South African colonies. He also defended the sugar convention. Replying to Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's as ertion that the government was too feeble to carry out an effective policy, Mr. Balfour said the decision lay entirely with the House of Commons whether it could Colorado of today, with its wealth of min-eral, agricultural and horticultural products people and the duties entrusted to it by the Mr. Balfour protested against bringing the fiscal question before this Parliamen and said it was entirely irrelevant. He was unable, he said, to make his po sition clearer than he already had done. He taunted the opposition on the existing confusion concerning its future program. In conclusion, Premier Balfour said Sir Campbell-Bannerman's attack in some particulars, especially where he atwhose annual report to the members of tributed improper motives to Mr. Lee, the the company is published elsewhere in this civil lord of the Admiraity, in his recent Eastleigh speech was most unnecessary and ungenerous. The House of Commons adjourned a
