Chief Donahue Gets Word from Young Man Who Has Two Desperate Criminals Under

Surveillance,

of remains every now and then for a little out-of-the-way town to spring into sudden prominence on account of some even of wide-spread interest occurring within its boundaries. The citizens of more than one obscure hamlet have gone to bed in the evening "unwept, unhonored and unsung," and awoke in the morning to find the name of their town printed in large type in the school geographies and talked of down at the county seat. Not a few telegraph stations have become division headquarters in one day and one-night stands have been made week stands at the stroke of a pen-And all these transformations have occurred at times through the instrumentality of one man or one man's actions.

Unless all signs fall there lives over at Mason City, Iu., a young man who bids fair to rescue his native heath from oblivion and to write the name of his home town on three-sheet posters across the Hawkeye skies. He has confided in Chief. of Police Donahue his suspicions of two men who are at large in Mason City and who, if captured, would be able to clear up the "diamond robbery,"

The fact of the business is the young man has ambitions to become a detective and for years has been using his energies in rerreting out clues, measuring foot prints and learning the rudiments of the business. Now he feels he is ready to "come out" and wants to come out in Omaha. All'he wants as an inducement to come to the Gate City is railway fare both ways, a job on the Pinkerton agency, star, credential papers, two warrants for the men under suspicion, two pairs of shackles and a reward for the arrest of the two The young man's letter to the chief

The young man's letter to the chief of police is as follows:

MASON CITY, Ia., Feb. 17, 1965.—To the Chief of Police, Omaha: In regard to the diamond robbery, suspicion has been aroused to me by two men. In regard to this, will say that if you will reward me and get me in the Pinkerton Detective agency I am sure I can bring the two men if warrants are made out, except names, and star and warrants put in my hands I will bring them there, for things are going on here with the two men that they must belong to some gang. One of them made the remark he would have to look out what he is doing and he seems to be careful what he is doing and he seems to be careful what he is doing not to let too many next. But there must be a leak somewhere, or it looks so any way. They are selling things too cheap to become by them honestly here, but no one knows this but just a few. They sell things below any firm s cost price I ever heard any thing of. They are selling jewelry, shoes, clothing and groceries and anything you want, and are even selling barber supply stuff. They seem to be leary of the truck some way or another, as they watch things closely, so if you want them send me a star and authority card and two warrants and railroad fare and my return ticket. But don't send any officer whatever you do, or you never will get them here. I can bring them both if you want me to. If you send the warrants send two pairs of shackles and I will do it right. Notify me at once what to do, but don't address any letters to me, for they are suspicious, especially one of them. Address Elmer J., Mason City.

The local authorities are in the dark as to the diamond robbery referred to and of police is as follows:

The regular program of the Oratorical society was postponed because John Cavanaugh, who represented the college at Grand Island Friday night, gave his oralish and the newly elected officers were installed. John Brady, the newly elected vice president, made an extremely impressive speech, in which he brought out the object of the society and the good that could be derived from it if every member would enter into each meeting with an earnest spirit. Georgo McCrackin gave a talk on the necessity for early preparation for the South Dakota debate, which is to take place the latter part of April. William Sternberg and William Mullen gave short but impressive addresses.

Lindquist enlisted at San Francisco in August, 1992, and was assigned to the coast artillery stationed at Fort Rosencrans, Cal., and joined for duty on August 29, 1992; he disappeared the same day and with him went a watch and $45, the property of another enlisted man. He again made his appearance at the recruiting office, San Francisco, in May, 1994, enlisting for the Twenty-eighth infantry, dropping the Swedish mame of Lindquist and assuming the Irish name of Kelley; deserting from the Twenty-eighth infantry on June 10, 1994, he managed to work his way as far as Atchison, Kan., where he stole several articles of merchandise from the rallroad freight house at that place. He next appeared at Lincoln. Neb., in December last, applying for enlistment at the recruiting office at that place, but the military authorities at Washington decided that they did not want Lindquist, alias Kelley, as a soldier, but would take care of him as a prisoner for a while. The recruiting officer at Lincoln received instructions to hold Lindquist until a guard from Fort Crook would arrive to take care of him. On arrival at Fort Crook Lindquist put up a big bluff, saying that the military authorities had the wrong man, but when his case came for trial he pleaded guilty to two desertions and one fraudulent enlistment, and received a dishonorable discharge, forfeiting all pay and allowances and three and one-half years' confinement at hard labor.

Fort Riley, Kan.

FORT RILEY, Kan., Feb. 18.—(Special.)—
Much inconvenience and considerable damage has been caused by the extremely cold weather of the past week. On Monday the thermometer registered 28 degrees below zero, the coldest, with but one exception, on record. Several soldiers sustained severe frost bites. All week the quartermaster's force of workmen has been kept busy repairing the broken water pipes, and considerable damage was done by the flooding of houses and cellars. A good many plants and flowers, some of them rare and valuable, in private conservatories, were destroyed. Instruction of the class in equitation had to be discontinued during the fore part of the week as the riding hall was too cold to be used for that purpose. Two horses, one belonging to the Sixth cavalry, field artillery, and the other to Troop K, Eighth cavalry, sustained broken legs by zilpping on the lee and were killed by order of the surveying officer.

Colonel E. S. Godfrey. Ninth cavalry, commandant, spent the fore part of the week in Leavenworth, attending a reunion of the Loyal Legion.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Second Lieutenant W. A. Meccain, Eighth cavalry, to Miss Jennie Earle, Lieutenant McCain, who is a nephew of Assistant Adjutant General Henry P. McCain, is a capable young officer, and is very popular. Miss Earle is a sister of Mrs. Dean, wife of Captain Elmer A. Dean of the medical department.

First Lieutenant Duncan Elliot, Eighth cavalry, having been granted leave of absence for four days with the privilege of applying for an extension of ten days, has gone to Kansas City for dental treatment.

Major L. P. Hunt, Thirteenth cavalry, has been datailed as summary court for Novel Scene in Judge Kennedy's Court During an Inquiry.

ATTORNEYS MAKE FURTHER ARGUMENT

Trial of Hascovek Against Street Railway Company Finally Ends in a Verdict for the Defendant.

An exhibition of a perplexed jury at work was given to a limited audience Saturday afternoon in Judge Kennedy's court. The jury in the Hoscovek personal injury suit had come into court to have certain questions answered, to-wit:

First-Was testimony given at the first trial by Miss Hoscovek admitted in this trial; and if so, was she asked if she got off the car before it stopped, and did she answer yes?

Second-Should consideration be given to assertion of Mr. Connell to his argument. Second—Should consideration be given an assertion of Mr. Connell in his argument that plaintiff had gone to a certain man and offered to settle for 31,50?

Third—If the jury is inclined to believe that one witness testified falsely, should that fact have any bearing on the testimony of other witnesses on the same side?

The court answered questions two and three in the negative. On question one a gone to Kansas City for dental treatment.

Major L. P. Hunt, Thirteenth cavalry, has been detailed as summary court for the cavalry subpost.

An organization of minstrels has been formed among the enlisted men of the Ninth cavalry squadron. The troops will consist of sixteen men (colored), and the rehearsals already held have demonstrated the presence of sufficient ability to furnish a first-class entertainment, the first one of which they are planning to give at the post within the next two or three weeks. It is probable that later on they will also give entertainments at Junction City, Fort Leavenworth and elsewhere. Captain F. S. Armstrong, Ninth cavalry, is in charge. consultation was held in the judge's cham ber between the attorneys and the court Afterwards the court instructed the jury to the effect that no such testimony was admitted on this trial as was specified in the question. To the form of the court's instruction Mr. Connell, for defendant, took strong exception.

Attorneys Have a Talk.

Then for a few minutes it was nip and tuck between Attorneys Connell Weavery with the court cutting in occasionally. Connell wanted the reporter's captain F. S. Armstrong, Nature (availy) is in charge.

First Lieutenant S. B. Pearson, Ninth cavairy, judge advocate of the general court martial now sitting at Fort Riley, has gone to Great Bend, Kan., to take depositions in connection with the trial or notes read. Weaver insisted the jury did not want to hear them, as the foreman had so stated, and the court modified the language of the instruction. He also gave a case.

Corporal Joseph C. Rodgers, Sixth battery, field artillery, has, at his own request, been reduced to the grade of a private.

Among a number of new phonograph records recently received by the Young Men's Christian association at this post are several selections recited by Miss Helen Gould of New York. Peculiar Interest attaches to these records by reason of the fact that the phonograph, a very fine instrument was presented to the organization by Miss Gould.

Private Hubert E. Carver. Seventh batway to Connell's importunities to the extent that the jury was asked individually to express their desire. Some wanted the notes read and the court ordered the reporter to read. And again there was a consultation in the judge's room concerning just what should be read.

It was while the judge and the attorneys were out in consultation that the jurers got busy in an animated discussion of the evidence and facts in the case. There was play of many a right band into a left one. shaking of heads in emphasis and several groups of two or three were earnestly engaged in argument. The foreman was approached and consulted by other jurors, and unconsciously the twelve men were as hard at work on the matters of difference between them as if they had been in their own room. Through it all the colored member of the jury sat back in meditation, taking no part in the discussion, but listening interestedly to his fellows.

Spectators Enjoy the Scene.

Acting Mayor Zimman and two or three others who happened to be present, found the spectacle quite interesting. Of course no one went near the jury box, as the bailiff was keeping an eagle-eyed watch on his charges, but to an outsider the keenness of the argument seemed to presage a long siege before an agreement. Shortly after 4 o'clock the jury reported Cemetery.

charged with opening a mail pouch entrusted to his care at the post and stealing had agreed on a verdict. As soon as the judge and the attorneys were on hand the jury's verdict was received. It was for the defendant

On the first trial of this case the jury gave plaintiff a verdict for $4,000. She was then suing for $10,000. Before the second trial the amount claimed was raised to ring $25,000. On this trial the jury disagreed. The jury on the third trial returned a verdict for $2,000 for the plaintiff. As fn the case of the first verdict the defendant company secured a new trial.

Payment of the command was made at 1:20 o'clock February 16.
The post school is progressing nicely. Corporal Jackson of Company M. Eleventh Infantry, has been relieved as teacher. The attendance at school is good and both pupils and teachers seem to take personal interest. Licutenant D. D. Tompkins, Tenth Cavalry, is the officer in charge.
A certain cavairy trumpeter conceived the idea that one cavalry sergeant major's quarters needed scrubbing, but he, being of the lesser rank, could not order the sergeant major to scrub. Through the kindness of the sergeant major he was permitted to obtain water from his quarters, and one morning while the thermometer registered 12 below zero the trumpeter who went to obtain water for the office of the adjutant, decided that it was his duty to cause that floor to be scrubbed so he took up his bucket without turning off the water and walked out. At noon the sergeant major found water shoe-top deep. Trunk, locker and other articles floating. The broom was put in play, and plenty of water with a good broom and swift handling is what it requires to clean a floor, but the sergeant major thought that mopping would have been better than scrubbing, but the trumpeter had goue, and as humane mops are scarce the sergeant major was forced to use the broom and the trumpeter to get water elsewhere.

Two horses hitched to a carriage became frightened and ran away in Post Monday morning. Fortunately none of the occupants of the carriage were hurt.

Mrs. Apple, wife of the post commissary sergeant has been very sick with lagrippe but is improving at this writing.

Curt F. Anderson, civilian employe in the quartermaster's department, has entirely recovered from a severe attack of la grippe and is about his dutles again. A physician puts the query: Have you never noticed in any large restaurant at lunch or dinner time the large number of hearty, vigorous old men at the tables; men whose ages run from 60 to 80 years; many of them bald and all perhaps gray. but none of them feeble or senile?

Perhaps the spectacle is so common as to have escaped your observation or comment, out nevertheless it is an object lesson which neans something.

If you will notice what these hearty old fellows are eating you will observe that they are not munching bran, crackers nor gingerly picking their way through a menu

Nervo-Sexual Debility.

What a vast amount of wretchedness, misery and sorrow this disease brings upon a man, and often due to his folly or his ignorance. It is a serious thing that men contract or inherit disease or weakness, but the most serious results are sure to follow neglect or improper treatment. It seems strange that some men will defer treatment day after day, racked in body and wrecked in mind, when there is a safe, certain and sure way to escape. We offer you this aid, this help, this certainty of restoration.

Private diseases and weaknesses of men have been the means of blighting the most radiant hopes, rendering marriage unhappy and business a failure. Weakness unfits a man for his home, where men should find their happiness. It unfits him for business, where men should meet with success. It unfits him for friendship, and leads him to shrink from companionship. The magnetism that wins men is absent. The manness that attracts women is displaced by a shrinking weakness, and the victim, knowing this, seeks solitude.

Nervo-Sexual Debility numbers among its victims the best of men. Their youth promised success and their qualifications deserved it. Their manhood brought failure and poverty, and for no other cause. There are thousands upon thousands of men who would marry save for this debarment. There are those who are married and whose keenest affliction lies in the feeling that they are disqualified and that the one whose admiration means most must know it.

For a speedy cure of the diseases that so insidiously destroy the intellect, strength and very manhood, secure the services of the eminent specialists connected with the State Medical Institute. They will stop these unnatural drains with their terrible results and restore to sound health the pitiable victims of nervo-sexual debility, brain fatigue and wrecked manhood.

We cure quickly, safely and thoroughly

Stricture, Varicocele, Emissions, Nervo-Sexual Debility, Impotency, Blood Poison (Syphilis), Rectal, Kidney and Urinary Diseases,
