The cow market also showed considerable improvement and cows and heifers could be quoted active and 10@15c higher. All kinds joined in the advance, but of course the greatest demand was for the more desirable grades and consequently they showed the most improvement. From the way buyers acted there was not enough on sale to go around, which was just the opposite of the way they acted yesterday. Practically everything changed hands at an early hour. Bulls, yeal caives and stags were also a 1. the stronger.

Bulls, yeal calves and stags were due to 1. the stronger. There were no new developments in the stocker and feeder market. Very few were offered and prices held just about steady with yesterday. The advance in the price of fat cattle took a good many of the warmed up cattle out of the reach of feeder buyers, but still they were competitors on some of the better quality shortfeds.
