

THE IDEAL WIFE

Shapes the Destiny of Men—The Influence of a Healthy Woman Cannot Be Overestimated.

Seven-eighths of the men in this world marry a woman because she is beautiful in their eyes—because she has the qualities which inspire admiration, respect and love.

There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature. The influence of women glorious in the possession of perfect physical health upon men and the civilization of the world could never be measured. Because of them men have attained the very heights of ambition; because of them even thrones have been established and destroyed.

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley

What a disappointment, then, to see the fair young wife's beauty fading away before a year passes over her head! A sickly, half-dead-and-alive woman, especially when she is the mother of a family, is a damper to all joyousness in the home, and a drag upon her husband.

The cost of a wife's constant illness is a serious drain upon the funds of a household, and too often all the doctoring does no good.

If a woman finds her energies are flagging, and that everything tires her, dark shadows appear under her eyes, her sleep is disturbed by horrible dreams; if she has backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness, whites, irregularities, or despondency, she should take means to build her system up at once by a tonic with specific powers, such as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This great remedy for women has done more in the way of restoring health to the women of America than all other medicines put together. It is the safeguard of woman's health.

Following we publish, by request, a letter from a young wife.

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley of 611 South 10th Street, Tacoma, Wash., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Ever since my child was born I have suffered, as I hope few women ever have, with inflammation, female weakness, bearing-down pains, backache and wretched headaches. It affected my stomach, and I could not enjoy my meals, and half my time was spent in bed."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel so grateful that I am glad to write and tell you of my marvelous recovery. It brought me health, new life and vitality."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for every woman who is in poor health and ailing.

Its benefits begin when its use begins. It gives strength and vigor from the start, and surely makes sick women well and robust.

Remember Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of women's ills. This fact is attested by the thousands of letters from grateful women which are on file in the Pinkham laboratory. Merit alone can produce such results.

Women should remember that a cure for all female diseases actually exists, and that cure is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Take no substitute.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

ARGUMENT ON THOMAS' MOTION

Attorney Will Present One Phase of Dennison Libel Suit to Court.

This morning at 10 o'clock argument is to be heard in Judge Estelle's court on the motion of attorneys for Elmer E. Thomas and others to strike out certain portions of the petition of Thomas Dennison in his suit against Thomas and other members of the Civic Federation for $50,000 for damages to name any fame alleged to have been sustained by reason of certain words and acts of defendants.

Notice of the intention to argue the motion to strike out had been served by Attorney Connel for Dennison on T. J. Mahoney and B. G. Burbank, the latter the attorney for L. W. Carpenter, one of the defendants.

How to Prevent Fire Loss

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 23, 1905.—To the Editor of The Bee: There has been a great deal said and printed in regard to the fire department and its needs, as well as fire protection needed, but nothing has been said about fire escapes and shutters. In the recent fire at Eleventh and Howard streets the shutters on the Kirkendall building kept the fire out, the fire burning down through the roof, and if the building had been equipped with fire escapes on the front and alley side, with ladders reaching to the roof, the fire department could more easily have reached same with their hose. The damage that was done to the building and the goods would thus have been prevented. The small additional cost to buildings for the best fire shutters and for fire escapes having ladders to the roof will save lives, assist the firemen in fighting the fire, and prevent conflagrations, which fact has been proven many times. Yours truly,
OMAHA SAFE & IRON WORKS,
G. ANDREON, Prop.

SNYDER TELLS ANOTHER TALE

Self-Confessed Perjurer Says He Lied in Court on Thursday.

HIS FIRST TESTIMONY WAS TRUTH

Now Accuses Lulkhart, Ennis and Odell of Terrifying Him Into Giving Contradictory Statement to Court.

Alva Snyder, the self-confessed perjurer, has again retraced his retraction and now confesses that he was forced by threats into the commission of perjury on Wednesday in the United States court room Thursday morning.

Snyder's last retraction was made Friday evening at A. W. Jeffers, one of the attorneys appointed by Judge Munger to investigate the matter of tampering with witnesses.

He said to Mr. Jeffers that the statement that he made to District Attorney Baxter in his office in the presence of Assistant District Attorney Rush and Dave Dickmographic report at the time, and to which he (Snyder) testified on the witness stand on Tuesday morning, was the absolute truth and the whole truth. He now states that on Wednesday he was coerced and brow-beaten by the two defendants, Lulkhart and Ennis, and Odell and other witnesses for the defense, to change his testimony as he did on Thursday morning. On Wednesday he went with the defendants Lulkhart and Ennis and other of the witnesses to W. S. Summers' office and there made the statement sworn to on Thursday morning. This was done under fear and threats made against him by defendants and their witnesses, and he was so terrified he did not know what else to do. In the meanwhile Lulkhart and Ennis, he said, "stuck to me like a leech. I was taken to the theater and soaked up with whisky and beer until I did not know what I was doing."

In brief Snyder completely recants everything he swore to on the stand Thursday morning, and stands by the story originally told to District Attorney Baxter, and to which he testified Tuesday morning.

Too Late to Use in Trial

In speaking of his last retraction of the witness Snyder, Judge Munger said last evening: "It is, of course, too late to do anything in the matter now. I learned of the retraction from Mr. Jeffers too late in the afternoon to have it introduced into the testimony yesterday afternoon. Judge Munger in questioning the witness Odell yesterday morning touched on the ground, but the full nature of Snyder's retraction was not known at that time. The testimony given by Odell in answer to the questioning by Judge Munger and Judge Munger corroborates Snyder's confession of last evening to Mr. Jeffers."

Snyder is held in $2,000 bail, which he is unable to furnish, pending investigation into his case.

The fifth day of the saloon conspiracy trial before Judge Munger began with W. S. Mansfield, government witness, recalled for the defense to state the purposes for which the bull pens were built in rear of the saloons, which he said were for toilet purposes.

Tom Dumond, a bartender, denied having sold liquor to Orr or Featherlegs for resale to Indians, and Joe Meaney, another bartender, made a similar statement. Easton, a farmer, testified to the existence of crowds on the streets of Homer on trading days and the necessity of bull pens for toilet accommodations.

Charles Meaney, a nephew of Joe Meaney, was brought over from the county jail where he is held under indictment for selling liquor to Indians. He is also under indictment for conspiracy with Lulkhart and Ennis, but is out on bond under that indictment, having been arraigned under this indictment to which he pleaded not guilty. Meaney testified as to the conversation had in the county jail on Thursday of last week with Lulkhart, Ennis, Frank Orr and John Lindsay, the latter one of the attorneys for the defense.

John B. Lindsay also testified as to the conversation at the county jail on February 18. Lulkhart first talked with Orr, but the witness was too far distant to overhear distinctly just what was said between them. Orr told witness afterward that he never had a contract with Lulkhart to sell liquor for him to the Indians.

Odell's Experience with Snyder

At this stage of the proceedings District Attorney Baxter asked that William Odell be recalled for recross-examination. His examination was in reference to his acquaintance with Alva Snyder, the confessed perjurer, and his relations with him while in Omaha. Witness stated that he had gone back to Homer to remain over Sunday, returning to Omaha Monday night and stayed with him Monday night at the Dodge hotel, and witness paid the hotel bill for both. He saw and talked with Snyder on Washington's birthday as well as with Ennis, Lulkhart and Rasmussen, one or two others. Witness did not think that Snyder ate dinner with them at the restaurant, but he remembered seeing him and talking with him immediately after dinner on the street near the restaurant. Later, during the afternoon of Wednesday, witness, Lulkhart, Ennis and Rasmussen went to Mr. Summers' office, and while they were there "Snyder came in." Witness was present in Summers' private office when the conversation between Snyder and Mr. Summers took place.

Examined by Mr. Summers, the witness stated that it was Rasmussen who said that Snyder wanted to see Mr. Summers and that Mr. Summers replied "To hell with Snyder." Snyder was insistent and came into the private office and said to Mr. Summers: "What I told you on the witness stand Tuesday wasn't true and I want to make it right." Mr. Summers told Snyder to come back in an hour or two.

Court Asks Questions

Judge Munger here observed that "This looks as if talking on the nature of an investigation," and he proceeded to question the witness Odell. He asked Odell if he did not pay Snyder's bill at the Metropolitan hotel and ask Snyder to come and stay with him at the Dodge hotel. The witness denied that he had paid Snyder's bill at the Metropolitan, neither did he invite Snyder to come with him to the restaurant that day, nor did they eat together, nor did he pay Snyder's bill at the restaurant. He further denied knowledge of Snyder being in the restaurant Wednesday or that Snyder had talked with him in the restaurant after dinner. He stated that witness met Snyder on the street in front of the restaurant. It was after this that the entire party went to Mr. Summers' office. "Yes, a very short time afterward," suggested Judge Munger.

Lulkhart Denies Everything. Edward Lulkhart, one of the defendants, was the next witness to testify. His entire testimony was a general and specific denial of all the allegations in the indictment charging him with conspiracy, or that he had ever sold liquor to Orr or Featherlegs for the subsequent sale to Indians, or that he had ever entered into an agreement with Orr, Featherlegs or anyone else to sell liquor to Indians, or that he had ever knowingly sold liquor to an Indian not a citizen. Referring to the conversation at the county jail of February 18 with Orr, Featherlegs, Charles Meaney, Ennis, Lindsay and himself he stated that Orr told him that neither witness or Ennis had ever sold liquor to him to sell to the Indians, but that

Spring 1905 Hats for Men

New Spring Hats are now on display. The hat is the most essential article of man's apparel. This store stands pre-eminent as the best equipped store in Omaha to assist you in this particular branch of men's wear, as we are not confined to any one line or style—but a purchaser of all the best the world produces. Our newly enlarged hat department is the largest hat store in this city. It is brim-full of all the newest spring styles—displaying all the new blocks and latest conceptions in coverings, emanating from the most successful hat builders of the world. We are the foremost distributors in the west for the celebrated "John B. Stetson Co." hats; we show the largest variety of styles. "Stetson's" world famous hats are the standard of quality. We sell them for $3.50. They are as good and in many cases better than most $5 hats. Our "popular price grades" at $2 and $2.50 are far ahead of anything that will be offered this season. We show them in the new pheasant brown and tan shades. These shades will be very popular this season. Our "Nebraska Special" Hats at $1.50 is the same grade hat that is offered by exclusive hatters at $2.50.

CLOTHES FOR MEN AND WOMEN

"John Sidde and the other fellows down in the office said they would send me to the penitentiary for two or three years unless I testified that way, and that I do not think that Lulkhart and Ennis knew that I sold liquor to Indians."

Witness was cross-examined by Assistant District Attorney Rush. He told of his entering into partnership with Ennis, that he went home every Saturday night. He first saw Orr at Rasmussen's saloon and afterward saw him in his own saloon. He heard that Featherlegs and Orr were bootleggers, but never knew Orr gave or sold liquor to Indians in bottles. Orr sometimes bought a drink in his saloon, but he never sold Orr any liquor to sell to Indians.

But little was evolved from the cross-examination of the defendant Lulkhart yesterday afternoon, other than a reticence of his general denial of all the charges preferred against him. He stated that he did not go to the county jail on February 18 to see Orr, but to see Charles Meaney, and that his meeting with Orr there was simply an incident.

Defendant Ennis on Stand

Sherman Ennis, another of the defendants, was the principal witness of Friday afternoon. His testimony was in all respects similar to that of his partner Lulkhart, and related to their partnership arrangements. He gave a version of the visit to the jail on February 18 to see Charles Meaney and the meeting there with Orr.

On cross-examination he stated that he never saw more than one or two Indians in the bull pens back of the saloons, and denied that he had ever sold liquor to Indians or that he had sold liquor to any one else to sell to Indians, and that he never made any sort of an agreement with either Orr or "Featherlegs" to bootleg for him. He denied that he had ever said to Orr "that he had 'slides fixed' so that he would not interfere with Orr's bootlegging business. He admitted that there were some pony races at Homer on the Fourth of July, 1903, and that there were lots of Indians in town that day. He admitted that he was indicted in 1903 for selling liquor to Indians and that he came to Omaha voluntarily to plead to the indictment and that he pleaded not guilty and gave a bond for his appearance on January 4, 1904, and that the case against him was dismissed by Assistant District Attorney Rush, and never came to trial. He denied that he had ever been arrested for selling liquor to Indians, but that he had put in his voluntary appearance without the form of arrest.

Witnesses in Rebuttal

Alonso Shaw, "Featherlegs," was called in rebuttal to the denial of Ennis and Lulkhart that he had been employed by them to bootleg for them. The defense objected to the testimony of the witness being taken, and the court sustained the objection.

Mr. Summers here moved that the court direct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty for the defendants, as no evidence had been produced to show that any act charged in the indictment had been proven against the defendants.

The court promptly overruled the motion. Father Schell was then called by the government in rebuttal. His testimony was very brief and was merely to testify to the good reputation of the witness George Riechill.

Mr. Summers asked him if he was not talking with Riechill out in the hallway just before he was called in to testify. Father Schell replied that he did not talk to the witness nor did he tell him what to swear to.

Arguments Under Way

The case has thus far occupied six days, during which forty-three witnesses have testified for the government and defense combined.

Assistant District Attorney Rush began his argument to the jury at 4:30 o'clock Friday evening, and concluded at 5:10. Mr. Summers will open for the defense this morning at 9 o'clock and District Attorney Baxter will close for the government. Each of the speakers will be given three-quarters of an hour for his argument.
