the terrific battling of the Dane. Corbett was all but out in the ninth round and his seconds threw up the sponge to save him from further punishment.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 people witnessed the spectacle and it is estimated the recelpts will approximate $15,000. For the first time in his fistic career Nelson entered the ring a favorite in the betting, the result apparently of his previous victory over the ex-lightweight champion. The odds were 10 to 8 in his favor.

Fight by Rounds.

Round i-Corbett danced about, looking confident, while Nelson wore a more serious air. Corbett continued to dance for fully a minute, trying to draw Nelson on Then he quickly shot a straight right over the heart and missed a second attempt. The lefts for the head went wild and a straight right landed high on Nelson's chest. More sparring followed and Nelson planted left to the stomach and Corbett drove his left hard to the face, bringing a thin stream of blood from Nelson's mouth. Corbett put two lefts to the body and then drove a hay-making right to the body. Nelson then sent Corbett back to the ropes with straight right to the forchead. Then they mixed it fercely, Corbett landing a vicious left to the face and a right high on the body as the bell clanged. The advantage was with Corbett. Nelson throughout acted on the defensive.

Round 2-Nelson crouthed low. Corbett waded in, mixing it flercely, but did not land. They kept at close quarters, Corbett insiding left and right, short arm rights and lefts to the jaw. They fought desperately at close quarters, Corbett resting his head on Nelson's chest, but failed to worry Nelson. The crowd yelled "break." and the referee separated the men. Again they went to close quarters, Nelson uppercutting Corbett on the jaw with right. Corbett then planted a flerce right to the body, but Nelson kept after the Denver boy and forced him to cover. Corbett jabed two lefts to the face and just previous to the gong swung a hard right to the face. It was a desperate round, both men roughing it considerably with Nelson the chief offender.

Third Round is Corbett's

Round 4-Corbett waded right in and they fought in a mix to the center of the ring. Separating, Corbett sent left to the head and a right to the ribs. Then they exchanged light lefts to the face and Corbett, backing away, swung left lightly to the face. Another clinch followed, the crowd yelling "Break!" Both missed left swings for the jaw and a left hook by Corbett went wild. Corbett landed two rights and a left to the jaw and a left hook by Corbett went wild. Corbett landed two rights and a left to the jaw and a left hook by Corbett in a mixup, both landing telling blows. Corbett broke it up with a vicious right to the stage, both men showing the effects of ft. As the bell rang Corbett planted a fearful left flush on the jaw that sent Nelson quickly to his corner. It was an even round.

Round 5—They went to close quarters immediately. Nelson then chased Corbett about the ring, but Corbett drew him to a clinch. Corbett swung twice with left to the face, but Nelson countered with right to the head. Corbett then uppercut with left to the chin and Nelson countered with right and left to the face and body. Corbett then hooked his left to the jaw and 'ii a mix Nelson uppercut him with left to the jaw and drove in a forceful right to the jaw and drove in a forceful right to the jaw. Nelson followed his advantage, sending in right and left to the face, dazing Corbett and bringing blood from Corbett's mouth. Corbett fought back wildly, trying to find a vital spot with a knockout punch, but the Dane kept himself covered. Corbett was extremely tired as he went to his corner, while Nelson was very cool. It was Nelson's round by a wide margin.

Round 6—Corbett looked worried as he toed the scratch. Nelson forced him to a corner, but Corbett wiggled out. Then they went to a clinch and Nelson shoved Corbett to the floor. Arising Corbett uppercut with left to the chin and missed a victous right for the head. Nelson kept boring in, forcing Corbett to the ropes. He then landed left and right swings to Corbett's face and blocked attempts at victous counters. Corbett then ran into a straight left on the face and Nelson landed left and right to the jaw and face, sending Corbett about the ring like a feather. Corbett fought back gamely, but Nelson was loo strong and planted right and left to the jaw as the bell rang. It looked very serious for Corbett set is the bell rang. Corbett going to his corner groggy. Nelson was very careful, however, and took no chances of receiving Corbett's blows, which still had steam behind them.

The ex-champion was again buffeted about the ring and a right to the jaw sent him to the ropes. Suddenly Corbett shot two straight rights to the jaw, but Nelson never budged an inch. Corbett rallied again, driving left and right to the jaw. They worked to the center of the ring. Corbett finally going to the floor from a straight right which caught him on the jaw. He took the count, got up, but was so groggy he could scarcely got up, but was so groggy he could scarcely stand. ### The Vital Question

Most Names by Which Diseases Are Known Are Merely Technical Terms to Distinguish Slight Differences.

Chronic maladies are due to two conditions: First, to poor blood and disordered circulation; second, to a lack of nervous force and unequal distribution of it. In other words, we may look to the blood and nerves for most of the lingering ills that weaken, plague or wreck human kind. This explains why Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food cures so many diseases that bear distinctive names. It puts the blood and nerves right, and through them the whole system comes right. This concentrated Food is a blood builder, which so improves the vital fluid that it thoroughly nourishes every part of the body. It is also a powerful vitalizer, that gives an abundant store of energy to the nerve centers, which is distributed to every part, according to its needs. Price 50 cents, five boxes, enough to give it a fair trial, $2.00. Weish yourself before taking it. Book free.

ATHLETICS IN IOWA COLLEGES

But he had built great hopes on Etta, who is now only 13 years of age, and when he learned that she had come to Omaha, began at once to look for her. With the aid of the Bureau of Associated Charities he located her and took her to his home at in a letter to her mother. Mrs. Cody denies

Yale and Harvard crews held in New London arrangements have been made for the and the statement in the telegram was a result of statements written by Arta to the same effect jest six days before her death of the Bureau of Associated Charities he located her and took her to his home at in a letter to her mother. Mrs. Cody denies located her and took her to his home at | in a letter to her mother. Mrs. Cody denies that a telegram was prepared in which Cody was denounced as the murderer of Arta. Mrs. Cody said that she thought that Arta's death would make the colonel realize that the daughter's death would be hard to bear and result in permanent reconcilation, but at Omaha, enroute to Chicago with the dead daughter, Mrs. Cody said. "My husband passed me by; went to other men; never noticed me," and tears almost welled to her eyes as she related it Mrs. Cody denies that she said that she Are Free From Some Form of Indigestion would create a scene at the grave and denounce Cody as the murderer of Arta, and declares that she had no conversation with Powell all the time she was at Rochester, thus contradicting the statement of Powell that she had said she would bring the Codys so low that the dogs would not bark at them and denounce Cody at the grave,

Story of Poisoned Dogs. At the time Cody's dogs seemed to be affected and to die from poison Mrs. Cody relates that the hired man had asked for some poison to put out at the barn for the rats, which were so had that they were eating the harness and even would come into the house and jump upon Mrs Cody's lap when she was peeling potatoes and the hired man put poison about the barn and she put some under the house. Mrs. Cody says that she never punished Irma with a horsewhip or any other than a small whip and that only when Irma. who was an impulsive child, needed chastisement. Neither did she put a burning match in Irma's face. She never corresponded with a fortune teller at Battle Creek, Mich., or with any other person in that city other than a reputable physician. The only time she ever had anything to do with clairvoyants was when Mrs. Goodman, Cody's sister, took her to voyant, for amusement, Afterwards, also for amusement, she got the horoscopes of Arta and Irma, and the colonel knew of it and read them and was as much amused the body) and keep it at this temperature

Mrs. Cody says that she never told Mrs. Elder that she could not become the mother of children by Cody any more, and that she never told Dr. Gillam that she would have nothing "to do with the old reprobate," referring to Cody. She denied also saying to John Evans that she had the Goodmans off the ranch, the land deeded to herself, the colonel home sick and that she was now ready to die. In 1901, at Christmas time, when Cody ame, she met him at the train and he kissed her and said: "Mamma, I'm glad to see you." He presented her that Christmas with a diver-beaded hand satchel containing $50. When asked as to her present feeling oward Cody and the terms of a reconiliation upon which she would agree, Mrs. Cody said with moist eyes; "I love him. He is the father of my children. I love the colonel yet," and if he would retract the charges of attempted murder she would forgive all and be willing to have and would desire permanent reconciliation. At 5 in the afternoon the deposition was ontinued until tomorrow afternoon, when it will be completed. The direct examination of the witness is almost done
