Railroads, he said, are financed, built, operated and owned as a unit; their earnings come as a unit and they must be taxed as a unit. He said the Burlington, for Instance, could not live on the traffic that originated and ended in Omaha and hence terminal taxation was a fallacy. He attacked the bill and the motives back of it as selfish and arraigned the Omaha Real Estate exchange as promoting the proposition from a mercenary standpoint, but did not go into the array of figures cited by the pre-

Mr. Pollard followed Mr. Greene. The burden of his address, which was brief, was the prime argument urged two years ago against the proposition, namely, that a terminal taxation law for cities would divert taxes from the country districts. He cited an array of figures showing what taxes the railroads now paid and said that another tax could not be levied without injuring the rural districts. Mr. Clancey let the cat entirely out of the bag when he spoke and proved that the railroads' scheme is the same as two years ago, to pound on that one argument of injuring the country districts and thus array the rural membership of the legislature against the bill.

Jones of Polk led Mr. Clancey into a little trap which created considerable amuse-

This bill required that when a saloonkeeper of Omaha made application for a liquor license he should deposit with the clerk of the Board of Fire and Police commissioners $5 to pay the cost of publication in an official paper to be selected by the board. Saunders, in favor of his bill, said it would put an end to the fights which are indulged in every year by the newspapers over the publication of the licenses and to prevent the saloonkeepers from having to advertise in the three papers. Thomas of Douglas moved that the bill be amended to compel the papers to file their circulation with the Board of Fire and Police commissioners, and the paper having the largest carrier circulation should be designated the official paper in which the notices were to be printed and also that the $5 proviso be knocked out. Thomas explained how the board had heretofore falled to designate an official paper and that his amendment would simplify matters for the board. He thought also that the senate was not so interested in saloonkeepers as to regulate the price of the publication of notices by making it $5, especially when he had heard of no saloonkeeper objecting.

Saunders then objected to the amendment because, he said, it places advertising in Omaha on a different basis from that of other countles. "I don't see the need of specifying the carrier circulation,' he said.

> DENVER, March &-A committee was apcointed today by the general assembly of Colorado to investigate charges of bribery in the contest of the governorship. Charges have been made and published in the local newspapers to the effect that a fund had been raised by corporations and is being used to purchase votes for James H. Peabody, who seeks the office held by Alva Adams, but no notice of them was taken by the general assembly.

Today, immediately after the joint con rention, which is hearing arguments in the contest, was called to order, Senator R. W. Morgan (rep.) of Boulder strode down the aisle holding aloft a paper which he handed to the presiding officer and which was read to the assembly by a clerk at the request of the writer. This communication was as follows:

To Jesse F. McDonald, as president of the senate, and as presiding officer of the joint convention of the Fifteenth general assemconvention of the Fifteenth general assembly:

Sir: I have to inform you that on the 2d day of March, 1905, one Jomes M. Herbert and Daniel Sullivan offered and promised to pay the undersigned the sum of $1,500 to vote for Alva Adams for governor in the contest now pending before this joint convention. Of this sum said James M. Herbert paid the sum of $750. This money I have given to George Stidger, district attorney for the city and county of Denver, for his official use. I have also given to him such information as he requires in his official capacity.

I also desire to lay the matter before the people of the state, the senate and the joint convention, as it affects the question now pending before this convention.

R. W. MORGAN.

Committee Will Investigate. The convention for several minutes after the reading of Senator Morgan's statement remained quiet. Then Representative B. J. O'Connell, a democrat, expressed surprise that the members of the republican majorty apparently did not propose to take any action on the charges and he moved that a committee of five be appointed by the chair to make a thorough investigation of the whole matter and report before a vote is taken in the contest.

After brief debate, in which several republicans joined in the demand for an investigation, the motion was unanimously carried. Lieutenant Governor McDonald named Senator Cornforth and Representatives Sherwin and Bromley (republicans) and Senator Ballinger and Representative O'Connell (democrats) as the investigating committee, The committee organized this afternoon by electing Echator Cornforth chairman and began its investigation this Herbert and Sullivan Give Bond.

James M. Herbert, whom Senator Morgan charged with having give: him $750 as a bribe, is vice president and general manager of the Colorado & Southern railroad and stands in the foremost ranks of railroad officials in the United States. Mr. Herbert issued the following state-

Mr. Morgan car.e to my rooms in the Brown Palace hotel last Thursday with Daniel Sullivan. Mr. Morgan stated that he and his people were for the seating of Mr. Adams; that Boulder county had gone for Mr. Adams, and the laboring people in his section of the state were for Mr. Adams, and he told Governor Adams the same thing; that the pressure was so great from the Peabody people that they might drive him out of the state if he did not vote with them, as they were brown-beating and buildoxing many republican members of the legislature and making threats against them in business and in politics; that he legislature and making threats against them in business and in polities; that he was convinced the Peabody people had no case. Mr. Morgan stated that he had been offered $3,000 by Peabody people and he ought to have $3,000 if he stood by Adams and incurred the enmity of the Peabody people. I told him that I would not pay any member of the legislature to vote one way or the other in the governorship contest. Mr. Morgan was very insistent and finally said he would take $1,500. I absolutely refused to have anything to do with him and he went away. Mr. Sullivan was present during the entire conversation.

"Senator Morgan approached me severa days ago," said Postmaster Sullivan, "and told me, in the presence of witnesses that he was anxious to vote for Governor Adams, because Peabody had failed to make a case. I told him that I had always believed that he was tied up to the Peabody side, but he vehemently denied the charge He pleaded with me to take him to Mr Herbert, and while I suspected that he was not honest with us, I could see no harm in permitting him to have a talk with Mr. Herbert. Fortunately, I was in the room during the conversation and heard him solicit the bribe and Mr. Herbert emphatically decline to consider it."

Adams Doubts Charges.

"I do not believe the charges," Governor Adams said in reply to a question, "and I believe that they are made simply as part of the political game.

"Senator Morgan came to see me of his own accord on March 2, the day on which he says a bribe was offered him, and he volunteered the information that he would vote for me. I thanked him for his vote, and he said that he was convinced that I was honestly elected and entitled to the vote.

This afternoon Postmaster Sullivan assaulted Richard Broad, a Peabody worker, on the street, striking him in the face with his fist. Several bystanders interfered, preventing further hostilities. Sullivan says that Broad and other lobbyists instigated Morgan to make the charge for the purpose of influencing legislators in favor of Peabody and denies that there is any truth in Morgan's statement.
