VON HALLER'S FATE AWAITS

Jury Now Has Case in Private and is Deliberating on Verdict.

CHILD IN COURT ROOM A FEATURE

Daughter of Defendant Plays About During Closing Argument of County Attorney and Draws Much Attention.

At 11 o'clock Saturday morning County Attorney Slaughter concluded a long and forceful address to the jury in the Von Haller murder trial. Fifteen minutes later Judge Day had finished the reading of his instructions to the jury and the twelve men went to dinner. Afterward they moved into one of the basement pens which are called jury rooms and began their final consideration of the case.

Under the judge's instructions the jury may find the defendant is guilty of murder in the first or second degree, or of manslaughter, if they please; or they may turn him loose if the proposition of self-defense appeals to them, or if the other plea of congenital epilepsy seems good. The jurymen were plainly tired and considerably worried when they went out, and as they filed through the court room there was little or no notice taken by the twelve arbiters of a man's fate of the concentrated stare of the crowd in the court room.

Child Plays in Court Room. While the county attorney was urging a hard rapping out of the scroll of her father's life the sunny-faced little daughter of the defendant was sitting on her mother's lap, to the kind-mannered bailiff, bringing a cup of water to a lady she knew in the audience; and anon her voice would ring out in the corridor as she played with the letterers. She is a very busy and a very lovable little body, who did not at all comprehend the absorption of her parents in the denunciation of crime and criminals being poured out by the state prosecutor. While sitting in her father's lap, where she had crept when she noticed that he was more thoughtful than usual, the child watched the movements of the county attorney with wondering interest, at the same time mechanically folding up a large sheet of paper into a cornucopia form. The father hugged her close before she slipped away to her mother's arms. Mr. Shoemaker patted her and as she passed his chair; and through it all the little one carried the heart-breaking smile of innocence and abounding life even while her sire shuddered seriously within the comprehension of the law's supreme vengeance. At an early hour this morning the jury had been locked up for the night without having reached a verdict, and the chances are no further effort will be made in that direction until they have had breakfast.

BENSON SALE IS BIG SUCCESS

Messrs. Brandeis Take Care of an Unusually Large Crowd on Saturday.

"The sale of the Benson stock at our store Saturday was the biggest sales day ever taking place in Omaha," said Mr. Emil Brandeis of J. L. Brandeis & Sons last evening. "It far exceeded our expectations and far surpassed any sale ever made in our establishment, and you know we have had some pretty big ones." This statement is borne out by the enormous crowds that thronged the store from the opening hour Saturday morning until the doors were closed at 10 o'clock last night. "The success of the sale," said Mr. Hugo Brandeis, "is owing to the well known excellence of the Benson stock. It was admirably selected, a fact that was well known to all Omaha shoppers and all were eager to take advantage of it. Nor were our patrons wholly Omaha people. There were buyers from all parts of the state. This was evident to us from the many strange faces and from the additional fact that our check rooms showed a vast number of packages and shopping bags that were checked in the check room. The interesting feature of the sale is that it showed the general trend of prosperity and that the people had lots of money and were willing to spend it. The sale will continue from day to day until

MOISE APPLICATION DENIED

Police Board Refuses to Allow Him to Move His Firm's License.

At a meeting of the Board of Fire and Police commissioners held last evening the application of Walter Moise & Co., for a change of location from 216 South Fourteenth street to 1815 Dodge street was refused and the protests against the latter location were sustained by the board. One of the protests against the proposed location at 1815 Dodge street was signed by Hugh McCaffery and thirty other nearby property owners, while the other was signed by Father M. J. Dowling, president of Creighton university, on behalf of property owned by the university adjacent to the location applied for. After a short executive session the board decided to sustain the protests and deny the application. The protests were made on the usual grounds, namely, that the location of a wholesale liquor house at the new location applied for would be detrimental to public morals, etc.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Workmen Begin to Talk of Entertaining the Grand Lodge Session.

NO ACTIVE STEPS HAVE BEEN TAKEN YET

From Thousand to Fifteen Hundred Expected and Local Workmen Will Have Their Hands Full.

Local members of the Ancient Order of United Workmen are discussing the arrangements of the local committees for the meeting of the grand lodge in this city next May. The meeting is to be held in the Workmen temple in this city on May 5.

Thus far very little preliminary preparation has been made. A committee is soon to be appointed by the local lodges of the Workmen to perfect arrangements, or rather to lay some of the first plans. Then the members will have to get down to business, for fully 1,000 delegates are expected to attend the meeting.

It is stated, too, that many of the delegates at the coming meeting of the grand lodge are to be accompanied by their wives and it may be that the number will be swelled materially by the time the date of the convention comes. Then it will be that South Omaha people, whose homes are large enough, will be asked to entertain some of the visiting strangers, and in a city of 1,500 Workmen and their families it is safe to predict that a great many of their brothers will find shelter and entertainment during their stay. South Omaha is a great fraternal city, and in this respect is still growing. There are as many lodges represented in South Omaha as in any city of its size in the union, it is said, and the membership is very large. Especially is this true of women's organizations of the fraternal spirit. Hotel accommodations are hardly capable of taking care of 1,500 or more people at one time, but the Workmen convention held here two years ago was conducted without complaint, everybody getting plenty to eat and enjoying the affair as well as anywhere. The Workmen temple is a most delightful building in which to hold such gatherings, and the local Workmen will see to it that it is well and handsomely covered with appropriate decorations.

Democrats Make Nominations.

The democrats met at the Workmen hall yesterday and nominated for the Board of Education Dr. W. S. White, Dr. C. M. Schindler and P. J. Beck. Resolutions by H. B. Fiehrly were presented and adopted, expressing the usual good resolutions to economize, etc. A. M. Gallagher was chairman of the convention and A. L. Hunter secretary. There was a mere handful of democrats present. The three candidates live within a stone's throw of each other in the first ward and are well known, being old citizens and active men in the community, as are the three republican candidates, Messrs. Jay Lavery, Dana Morrill and Dr. W. I. Curtis. Ordinarily, the ticket nominated by the democrats would be considered formidable, but the republican ticket is exceptionally strong, and the record of the board under the Lavery-Morrill leadership has been very popular for economy and good school management.

To Extend Street Railway.

City Engineer Rosewater of Omaha was in the city yesterday, and took a drive south to the county line and on to Fort Crook to take a hasty look at the proposed route for the extension of the Omaha street railway line. Mr. Rosewater stated to friends that there was talk of extending those lines to Fort Crook the coming summer, and that in all probability a surveying party would be started to work Monday morning on the proposed line. Street railway officials have said little about the proposed extension, but it is authoritatively stated that this will be the next step in the line of improvements of the company in this part of the county. Street cars to Fort Crook have been wished for a long time by South Omaha people, and it is now believed their dreams are to be realized the coming summer.

Moving to High School.

The work of removing the effects of the high school to the new building has occupied the last week almost entirely, but the work is now almost completed. Superintendent McLean was well tired out with the work last evening, as were all those engaged in it. Secretary Lavery said yesterday that the board had not as yet taken any action toward remodeling the old building, and in all probability it would be continued in use as a school building until the vacation time. The new high school is now about ready for occupancy. The work of painting and decorating is on in earnest. The building is to be formally opened to the public March 24.

Magic City Gas.

Horses clipped. Electric machine. Brewer's barn. Phone 30. The funeral of Lewis Wagmann will be held this afternoon from St. Mary's church at 3 o'clock. The Marceches will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock to arrange for the funeral of Lewis Wagmann. The condition of Dr. James A. Kelly, although yet very grave, was reported slightly improved last evening. Senator Gibson denies the report that he spoke in favor of annexation as applied to Omaha and South Omaha, publicly, privately or ever. The local Ancient Order of Hibernians an entertainment will be given at the Workmen temple Friday evening, in honor of St. Patrick's day. A party of friends surprised Frank Dworak Friday night at his home, Twenty-third and M streets, and presented him with a handsome gun and hunting case. Armour & Co. has another order for bacon to the amount of 1000 pounds, to be shipped to Vancouver, B. C. It was ordered by the commissary department.

TOM JOHNSON LOSES A POINT

Refusal of Electric Company to Produce Books at Bribery Investigation Sustained.

CLEVELAND, O., March 11.—Judge Beacom, in common pleas court, today granted the petition of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company for a perpetual injunction restraining the city council, Mayor Johnson, City Solicitor Baker and the city of Cleveland from enforcing or attempting to enforce any order on the company to produce its books and papers at the councilmanic bribery investigation. The books were wanted to prove the alle-

WIFE WINS IN DAMAGE SUIT

Saloonkeeper Held by Jury Because of the Husband's Death.

OUTCOME OF A HARD FOUGHT CASE

Anton Bazar of South Omaha Assessed $5,000 for Selling Liquor to Man Who Was Afterward Murdered.

Anton's Bazar, a South Omaha saloonkeeper, and his bondsmen, Vac Dicks and Robert Forkel, were held for $5,000 damages in the suit of Mrs. Rezek, heretofore detailed in The Bee, for the loss of her husband by reason of being stabbed by Paddy Shea two years ago. The jury in its verdict acquitted Goldstein and Klein, two other saloonkeepers, and their bondsmen, of any liability, apparently for the reason that the man who did the killing had spent all of the afternoon of the day when the quarrel occurred in Bazar's saloon and the dead man had come there in an intoxicated condition and had been sold liquor. The verdict of the jury for $5,000 was returned into court after 9 p. m. Friday night and after the jury had been out over twenty-four hours. Counsel for defendants will move for a new trial and if this is denied will appeal to the supreme court.

No Change in Missouri.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 11.—The forty-fourth ballot for United States senator resulted as follows: Cockrell, 55; Niedringhaus, 37; Kerens, 18; McKinley, 3; Bartholdi, 3; Warner, 2; Dyer, 1; Cook, 1. Total vote, 113. Necessary to choice, 61. A. A. Rezek, who voted yesterday for Warner, was charged with bribery. A majority voted for Mr. Cook of Howell county. Only one ballot was taken today.

DETECTIVES COMMENCE WORK

San Francisco Officials at Honolulu Seeking to Solve Mystery of Mrs. Stanford's Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—Captain of Detectives Burnett said today that he would take no decisive action in the case of Mrs. Stanford until the receipt of a report from the officers sent to Honolulu to fully investigate the circumstances connected with her death. The police deny that any more discoveries of bicarbonate of soda or of strychnine have been made among the Stanford effects. No strychnine, they say, has at any time during the investigations since January 14 been found anywhere in the Stanford house in this city or at the Honolulu hotel where Mrs. Stanford died, beyond that reported to have been found in the chemist in the bottle of mineral water in this city and in the bicarbonate of soda bottle at Honolulu. Some time ago small quantities of old bicarbonate of soda were found in the Stanford house in California street, but this is not regarded either as extraordinary or of any value as evidence for the fact that Mrs. Stanford's frequent use of bicarbonate of soda has long been known to all persons closely associated with her.

HONOLULU, March 11.—Detectives Reynolds and Callender, who are engaged in investigating the cause leading to the death of Mrs. Jane L. Stanford, say the immediate developments in the case are not to be expected. The officers are working in company with each other. A report published here that another detective was among the Alameda passengers inconclusive has not been borne out by an investigation. President David Starr Jordan and Timothy Hopkins today called on Governor Carter.

Dr. C. W. E. Wood, one of the surgeons who performed the autopsy, considers as absurd the theory which has been advanced that Mrs. Stanford died of angina pectoris. He says that the presence of strychnine, which is foreign to bicarbonate of soda, in the bottle disproves the theory that Mrs. Stanford died from natural causes.

At the request of Dr. David Starr Jordan, Governor Carter will be an honorary pall bearer in the funeral procession here.

Oklahoma Bank Falls.

LAWTON, Okla., March 11.—The Bank of Lawton, capital $100,000, controlled by Muller Bros. of this city, closed its doors today and has been placed in the hands of Paul F. Cooper, the territory bank receiver. The city had $25,000 on deposit in the bank. J. S. McDuffie, the cashier, is also city treasurer.
