

STEWART BROS. COMING OVER

Wholesale Grocers Will Remove from Council Bluffs to Omaha.

ALLEN BROS. OLD STAND IN COMMISSION

Old Established Firm Seeks Field that Gives it Greater Advantage for Trade in its Own Line.

Stewart Bros., wholesale grocers at 24 and 28 South Main street, Council Bluffs, are about to remove their business from that city and come to Omaha. They have completed the lease of that section of the Ames estate building on Jones street, between Ninth and Tenth, which is next to the Kingman Implement company establishment. The firm will open up for business on this side of the river about May 1.

For about a year there have been rumors that the Council Bluffs grocers would come to Omaha and establish their business here. At that time the Kountzes became interested in the firm and Ben Cotton became a partner. The Stewart house has been in business in Council Bluffs for about thirty years and has always been a conservative firm, enjoying a good business. It has been handicapped by its location from the fact that Council Bluffs does not offer a real grocery market. Retailers from western Iowa and from Nebraska who come to the Omaha market, where they have several large grocery jobbing houses to make a complete market, would not cross the river to inspect the house there. For this reason, it is understood, the Stewarts have finally decided to bring their business to Nebraska soil.

The new grocery house will have the building formerly used by Allen Bros. The building has been reconstructed and the work has been completed but recently. It is now thoroughly up-to-date, with electric elevators and other conveniences and accessories, which will make it satisfactory quarters for a grocery house. The Stewarts will have a frontage of forty-four feet on Jones street and will occupy the entire five floors of the building.

It is understood also that Mr. Dick Stewart will build a handsome residence on the fine piece of ground next to the residence of Luther Kountze at Thirty-ninth and Dewey avenue.

A Machine for Women should be the best obtainable. The Singer sewing machine is acknowledged the lightest running, most durable and convenient of any. Look for the red S. 164 Douglas street, Omaha, Neb.; 48 North 34th street, South Omaha.

A Correction. A great many of the Omaha public are under the impression that I am still at the old stand that I managed for so many years. I am now located at 15-20-22 & 15th st., two-story building on the west side of street, just across from my old location, which, being a corporation, is still run under the name of Heyn. I am the only photographer by that name in Omaha. People desiring work of the genuine Heyn standard will have to call at my new location.
