

WINCH WILL CASE ON AGAIN

Effort to Secure Admission of Copies of Missing Document to Probate.

ELMER E. THOMAS LAST HAD ORIGINAL

Taken by Him from Grand Jury Room, the Document on Which Much Property Depends Is Now Missing.

Judge Vinsonhaler has before him again the Seth Winch will case. This time the hearing is on the petition for the probate of a copy of a will made by Mr. Winch and which was lost. The will was last seen in the office of Elmer Thomas, when the latter was assistant county attorney, after it had been before the grand jury of Douglas county. If the copies of the will, there being two identical in wording, shall be admitted, that fact will put an entirely different face on the disposition of the Winch property. It is now in possession of his natural heirs, but the will disposes of a good deal of it in other ways than to the heirs who now hold possession. Mrs. Miranda J. Steen, who was formerly Mrs. Winch, will come in for a share, as will other parties, among them some public institutions.

Attorneys Wapich and Shoemaker, who witnessed the will on November 30, 1891, testified as to their signatures, but they differ as to the place where they had signed the instrument. Mr. Wapich said it was signed in Mr. Shoemaker's office in the New York Life building. Mr. Shoemaker said it was signed in his office in the Range block, before he moved to the New York Life. Both gentlemen are positive as to the place where the will was signed. Alfred Norman, business manager for Mr. Winch during his lifetime, testified as to the fact of the will having been in his possession until he had surrendered it in the grand jury room. He had afterward seen it in Mr. Thomas' office, and since then does not know what became of it. There is quite an array of legal talent present to represent the different parties in interest and objections to questions affecting the sanity of Mr. Winch at the time he made the last will are plentiful.

Announcements of the Theaters. Manager Burgess announces that he has secured the Perley Opera company for a return engagement of one night, and that "The Girl and the Band" will be repeated on Sunday evening at the Boyd theater. This will be welcome news to Omahans, with whom the company and the play made a most tremendous hit.

The seat sale for the engagement of "Mother Goose" is going ahead nicely, and the interest shown indicates that the performance will each be watched by large assemblages. This great undertaking is in many respects the largest ever attempted by Klaw & Erlanger, surpassing even that of "Ben Hur" in extent and novelty. It is from the Drury Lane theater of London, and has been in America but two seasons, the first of which was spent entirely in New York City. The spectacle was offered in a number of the larger eastern cities early in the winter, and was then taken across the continent, where it was given a most enthusiastic welcome on the coast. A stay of one month in San Francisco broke all records for attendance. The company is now at Denver, the first stop since leaving San Francisco, and comes from Denver to Omaha. Probably the most interesting feature of the performance is the flying ballet by the Grigolietti, but this is only one of a number of novelties, while the spectacular features are pronounced to be perfection in point of beauty and gorgeousness. The engagement in Omaha opens on Monday night and continues until after Saturday, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Lodge No. 531, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, will attend the orphan today. This enthusiastic aggregation of the warriors of the antlers hall from Council Bluffs and this being the first Elks' night they have ever given at the theater it is their intention to make it a big, merry, social event.
