SHORT SESSION OF BURNS CASE

Doyle is Under Cross-Examination

But a short session of the Doyle-Burns trial was held yesterday. Judge Thornell at the request of counsel on both sides adjourned court shortly after noon until Monday morning.

The cross-examination of Doyle, which occupied the short session, developed nothing new. Mr. Thomas directing his efforts mainly yesterday to show the discrepancies between Doyle's testimony in the present case and that given by him in the suit brought in Colorado by John D. O'Haire against Burns.

Senator T. M. Patterson took no part in the cross-examination of Doyle yesterday and was in the court room but a short time. In the afternoon he left for Denver, having been absent from home for three months.

Judge Thornell left to spend Sunday at his home in Sidney, but will return in time to reconvene court Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

LITIGATION OVER VACCINATION

Attempt to Enforce Order Will Cause Appeal to Courts.

Up to last evening Secretary Zurnuehlen of the Board of Health had not received any vaccination certificates from the parochial schools, although notices had been served on them the same on the 15th of the month by City Marshal Richmond.

The 4,000 certificates turned in by Superintendent Clifford of the city schools will have to be checked over for two purposes: First, to ascertain what pupils have not been vaccinated.

Only certificates of external vaccination, as declared by the Board of Health, will be recognized and all pupils not vaccinated in this manner will be debarred from the schools. The result of enforcing this regulation will be an appeal to the courts by the adherents of the internal method of vaccination.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gas and impurities, always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. It improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it cleanses the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal is that which is made from the best quality of wood charcoal, and which is purified by other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges. The charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that it is possible here can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from indigestion and bowels, and must not be so soon as they get their breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although it is some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe it gets more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."
