The preceding note, tucked in a glove that was found pinned to a tree on the banks of the Mississippi river, has led the police to believe that a well dressed stranger seen in the vicinity yesterday afternoon threw himself in the water and was drowned. The note was found this afternoon and the river was dragged until nightfall without a trace of a body being found, but the work will be resumed in the morning and continued until the remains of the are recovered or the police are satisfied their suspicions are incorrect and that the note is the work of a joker. RUSSIAN EMIGRANTS ARE LOST Party Bound for South Dakota May Be in South America.

YANKTON, S. D., March 22.-(Special.)-Twenty Russian families bound for Yankton, among them Mrs. Fred Schueler, wife of Fred Scheuler of Yankton, have gone astray somewhere between Odessa, Russia, and South Dakota. The party left Russia. over two months ago. The letter announcing their departure by the next boat has been in Yankton for nearly six weeks. Somewhere the party must have strayed off the road. A Hamburg dispatch furnishes a possible clue to their disappearance. Twenty Russian families, according to the dispatch, were by a misunderstanding on the part of the ticket agent sent to Guiana, South America, instead of to Yankton, S. D., North America. None of the emigrants can speak any but their own language and their plight if landed in South America can only be imagined, Mr. Scheuler is almost distracted from the long continued worry. He has failed to get any trace of his wife at any of the ports of emigration and has been forced to the conclusion that she was among the unfortunate party which was sent many thousands of miles out of its way into a foreign country speaking a strange language, and to what other misfortunes the anxious husband may imagine to have happened. Further efforts will be made to locate the party by inquiry at the South American ports.

Auditorium Musical Festival. Innes and his famous band, assisted by the Omaha Festival chorus of 300 voices, will conduct a grand musical festival in the Auditorium beginning April 3 and clos ing April 9. Innes and his band dedicated the Audiorium one year ago and the festival held in that connection proved to be a great success. Innes can play classical music with any of them, but he is not ashamed to play popular music also, in fact he takes great delight in pleasing the common people as well as the musical critics. Innes will bring this year the strongest organization he has ever had, as he is on the way to Portland, where he opens the Lewis and Clark exposition.

During the musical festival in the Audiorium he will reproduce his famous "War and Peace" night, which crowded the Audi-torium to its full capacity and thousands were turned away last year. In this production one seems to see the rising of the north after the firing on Fort Sumpter; one hears the camp songs, "Dixie," "Suwanee River," "My Maryland," on one side, and "My Own Columbia," "We Are Coming, Father Abraham," and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching," on the other. One hears the clash of resounding arms and the roar of artillery. You hear the "Star Spangled Banner" and the "Bonnie Blue Fing" until finally all combine is one great anthem of a reunited republic
