it is a question whether the measure will stituents. He said he would be in favor the executive approval. The bill of doing anything to help the farmers that was made a special order for 11 o'clock he could, being himself a farmer, but this and it was after 4 before the vote was bill was clearly contrary to the constitutaken. Senator Cady made the leading tion. fight for the bill and he was ably assisted by Fries of Valley. Mockett, Haller, Gib- the men who were to spend the money for son, Whaley and Sheldon made speeches the plant were not even required to give against the bill.

In one of his speeches Mockett said: "I $200,000 of the state's money merely as a believe politics is the impetus that has side issue. pushed this bill along."

In his concluding remarks, Senator Cady, in answer to this statement, said: "This bill should be looked upon as a political mensure. Every good measure should, and the political party that passes a good this morning and was reported to be inmeasure will receive its reward for it." At the afternoon session considerable of Gibson made to the committee. the ground which had been gone over at The Sheldon tolephone bill the morning session was traveled again.

Fries of Valley, in an able speech for the bill, said it was the only favor left which the legislature could grant to the farmers. He told how they had wanted to elect their own precinct assessors and how the legislature had denied them this. He explained that the bill provided for the expenditure of only $50,000, the remainder of the appropriation being used to buy material which would always be on hand and worth the money.

In defense of the bill, Senator Cady said there was some objection to the state making a radical departure and going into the manufacturing business, but Nebraska, he said, would by no means be a pioneer in the business. He gave the history of the installation of plants in various penitentiaries and in every instance, according to the reports he had from these institutions, the movement had been a pronounced success. Minnesota was the first. having established its plant fourteen years ago. According to the reports from this institution the investment had paid 50 per cent profit and now in the fund created by the income from the sale of twine was The plant was now making the state of Minnesota $40,000 a year, his reports showed. Minnesota manufactures 11. 000,000 pounds of twine annually. Kansas, he said, was the next state to get in line, and its plant had been in operation for four years. In three years the profit to the state had been $68,000 and the farmers had been saved from 21/2 to 4 cents a pound on twine. North Dakota has a plant, he said, penitentiary; Missouri had just installed a plant and new Illinois was going to install

The fact that the Binding Twine trust was opposing the bill and had opposed the installation of plants in all the states, he said, should commend it to the legislature of Nebraska.

He appealed to the members of the senate to pass the bill in the interest of the agricultural classes. Legislation had been enacted, he said, in the interest of corporations, not especially for their benefit, but at least for their assistance in doing business, but this bill, he said, was the only real legislation that had been attempted especially for the farmers. Senator Cady called attention to the number of letters the farmers had sent to the members praying for the passage of the measure, and said that should appeal to the members. He explained that the original house bill had been amended so that $200,bonds should be issued, to be bough by the permanent school fund, which fact, he said, should silence the opposition to the bill because of the state's financial condition. These bonds, he said, were to draw a per cent interest and should run ten years, with option to buy them up within two years. The installation of the binding twine plant, he said, would not interfere with the broom factory. The present contract which the state has with the broom factory called for the employment of 125 consequently there would be no lack of laborers to run both concerns, Senator Cady paid a nice tribute to the ability of Warden Beemer and expressed regret that he should oppose the bill. He opposes it, announced the senator, because he does not like to assume the responsibility, but someone must assume responsibillies when they arise.

In answer to a question by Gibson, Sen-ator Cady said Kansas the second year made a profit of $22,782; the third year, $19,970; the fourth year, $25,513, while at the same time Kansas farmers were paying 8% cents for twine which Nebraska farmers were paying IS cents for.

if not already taken. Pressure Comes from Without. WASHINGTON, March 23 .- The sudden growth of the sentiment in Russian official circles in favor of peace is not at all surprising to the officials here because it is in line with the predictions of the American embassy in St. Petersburg when last heard from on this subject. In fact it was gathered that the real obstacles in the way of beginning negotiations to this end was to be found rather in the jealousies of European powers outside of Russia than in the czar's own court. There have for some time been substantial evidence that by the execution of quiet pressure from the outside upon the St. Petersburg government it might be induced to break the deadlock in the situation which results from the reluctance of each belligerent, as a matter of pride to making the first overtures for peace. But just at this point the efforts of the real friends of peace are said to have been negatived by the fear of some of the European powers that their interest might suffer in a settlement which they did not themselves arrange. There is reason to believe now, however, that the great financial interests of London, Berlin and Paris looking to their own salvation and the security of their enormous Russian loans. have risen above national lines and that to the exertion of their powerful influence is due the present promise of peace in the near future.

> Secretary Shaw and Senator Allison Visit New York and Confer Regarding the Question of More Revenue.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, March 21 -- (Special.)-The proposition to restore the customs duty on coffee continues to be liberally discussed at the capitol. The fact that a duty on coffee of 21/2 cents per pound was levied in the first tariff act of 1789 and that it always paid a duty ranging from 2 to 5 cents a pound until exempted under a special act of 1872, has been given as a reason why there should be no objection to a small duty on it now, in view of the ne cessity of raising more revenue. Some of the democratic senators indicate sympathy with the proposition, probably because if coffee were raised in the United States at all it would be in the southern states. Louisiana and Texas have been specially mentioned as having lands adapted to coffee culture. At the same time, as a prominent democratic senator remarked today: "To advance the placing of a duty on an article which is now on the free list would be a departure from the traditional policy of the democratic party. All democrats are anxious and willing to help the Filipinos and Porte Ricans, but would have to consult with my coffeagues as to the policy of the party before committing myself one way or the other."

Senator Bailey's View. Senator Bailey of Texas apparently thinks the republicans will be compelled to impose a duty on coffee whether they wish to do so or not. In discussing the subject today Senator Balley said: "The expendi tures of the government are certain to exceed its revenue during the next fiscal year, and congress at its next session will be brought face to face with the necessity of reducing appropriations or increasing collections. Those who are familiar with the tremendous pressure for even larger appropriations than are now provided understand the impossibility of curtailing public expenditures; and it is certain, therefore, that more money must be raised. More money cannot be raised by increasing tariff duties, because they are already so high that to raise them would reduce importations and thus diminish the revenue No party in time of profound peace would dare to impose stamp taxes, because they are vexations as well as burdensome; and the only thing left for a republican congress is to impose taxes upon tea and coffee. They claimed much credit for the 'free breakfast table' of the McKinley bill: and as the necessities of the government have already required them to subject sugar to a tax, so the impending deficiency will require them to subject coffee and tea to a tax, and thus the 'free breakfast' table' of which they boasted will entirely disappear."

In this connection it is interesting to note that during the past seven months there has been an increase of over $30,000,000 in the imports of articles of food over the corresponding period of the last fiscal year, the greatest increase being $17,000,000 coffee, due to the enormous increase in consumption of more than 100,000,000 pounds per year. "As sugar bears a duty on both

It is not Senator Allison's intention, as the second man on the finance committee, to call the committee together during the absence of Senator Aldrich, and he does not know the intention of Senator Aldrich in the matter. Shaw Visits New York. NEW YORK, March 23.-Secretary Leslie M. Shaw of the Treasury department has visited this city and, together with Senator Allison of Iowa, consulted with slocal interests, it is said, concerning proposals connected with suggested tariff revisions to be considered by a special session of congress in the fall. Senator Allison, who is ranking member of the senate finance committee in the absence abroad of the chairman, Senator Aldrich, has been here since Monday conferring with representatives of various traders as to possible effects of reductions in schedules affecting their products. While planning to leave the city early today, he will return from time to time during the next two months to meet other members of his committe and of the house committee on ways and means. Meanwhile members of the committees will consult interests in other cities and states in order to get a clear idea as to the best method of solving the questions involved. Senator Allison would not discuss the trades to be affected, but it is intimated by the Herald that in order to make up the deficiency in revenue through reductio of certain tariff schedules, several of the least obnoxious of the internal revenue taxes imposed during the war with Spain will be revived.

I am proving that my PAW-PAW and my inhaler positively cures Catarrh. No matter how chronic or how long standing; or how many doctors have failed to CURE; I know that I have the most rational and positive cure that has ever been found. I know that my Paw-Paw will not only cure Indigestion and CATARRH of the stomach, but that it will positively eradicate every particle of catarrhal poison from the blood. I make this statement on the testimony of thousands it has cured. Its vitalizing forces immediately build up the whole nervous system. It digests almost everything that it touches. You can't be despondent, you can't have dyspepsia, you can't be nervous, you can't have insomnia if you will take Paw-Paw, but there are certain forms of catarrh, such as CATARRH of the nose, head and throat, that positively must have local treatment. Nothing that has ever been discovered is doing so much for the cure of Catarrhal deafness as this treatment. It allays the inflammation of the Eustachian tubes, so that the swollen and inflamed membrane is reduced and the hearing is gradually but positively restored.

To make my Catarrh treatment complete

To make my Catarrh treatment complete in every respect, I am giving away my 81.00 Inhaler, also a package of Paw-Paw Pills and a package of Catarrh Tablets, absolutely free with each bottle of Paw-

Wounded Shot in the Back. WARSAW, March 23 .- 7 p. m .- The shooting of peasants at Lamenta has aroused intense excitement in the whole district. The action of the authorities in shooting down unarmed peasants is angrily criticized and a deputation of residents of Kutno is prolation, and it would be improper for the ceeding to Warsaw to lay complaints before the governor general. The troubles began a week ago when the nobilization of horses was ordered. The peasants refused to comply and March 21 about 150 peasants gathered on the road near Lamenta, when the chief of police of Kutno arrived on the scene with a company of infantry and ordered the crowd to disperse. The people refused to obey and the chief of police then ordered the soldiers to fire. The peasants, not understanding Russian, remained in the road until the soldiers aimed. Then they broke and ran. The troops fired three volleys at the fleeing crowd and fifty peasants fell, two of them dead. All the wounded were shot in the back. It is said that the chief refused to allow the wounded to be removed and that he finally ordered them to be taken to Kutno, six hours' journey, in carts, with the result that owing to lack of medical attention eight of the wounded died while on their way to Kutno and the doctors re port that nine others are in a hopeless con

DEATH RECORD.

Judson C. Webb. FREMONT, Neb., March 23 .- (Special.) The remains of Judson C. Webb, a former esident of this city and for years a well known circus man, were brought here today for burial and interred in Ridge cemetery. It had been announced in the local papers that funeral services would be held from St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church and a great many of the acquaintances of the deceased went there this morning only to find that it was not to be held there. Bishop Scannell of Omaha had learned that the burial was to be in a Protestant cemetery and notified Father O'Sullivan not to permit the services to be held in the church and the remains were taken direct to the cemetery. Mr. Webb was 55 years old and a resident of Nebraska since 1874. He was employed for some time with Barnum's circus, and for about twenty years, with the exception of a short time when he was in business in this city, had entire charge of the transportation of the Forepaugh show, and was considered one of the best circus transportation men in the United States. About eight years ago ill health compelled him to resign his position. He leaves a widow, two sons and two daughters.
