actively engaged in the manufacture of his prescriptions. His fully-equipped laboratory has grown and expanded until now it is the largest and most complete one known. Dr. Pierce's success is real. There is a steadily increasing demand for his medicines, proving conclusively that they are not nostrums, but reliable remedies for diseases. Specially educated for the medical profession, he early supplemented his studies by extensive and original research in its several departments. In these specialties he has become an authority and recognized leader. Many of his remedies have been adopted and prescribed by leading physicians in their private practice.

These attacks have been all met with dignity by Dr. Pierce. It was only when definite charges of fraud were made by a leading periodical that Dr. Pierce retaliated by instituting a suit for $200,000.00 damages. Upon the filing of this suit, an inves-

her brought to Omaha.

Noble thinks Miss Jefferson left the city with a man who ence drugged him in Denver and was in the girl's company while he was stupid from the poison. This vivacious girl has been doing some uick work in railroad traveling. Sunday evening she arrived in Omaha with her in-NEBRASKA CITY-Sheriff C. E. The police of that city finally found her.

Noble is Bowed With Grief.

While she has been traveling, George Nole, a respectable-looking, middle-aged man, has spent much of the time talking to himself in an agony of grief. Part of the time he sits in the police station with hend howed in his hands, waiting for news of her who has proven false to him. But most of his hours he spends walking back and forth on Dodge street, north of the station, with unseeing eyes and a look of nitiful dejection in his countenance. The girl left him with 45 cents in his pocket. Monday evening he spent 5 cents of it to get something to est. The next morning he spent a part of what was left. He is too proud to accept anything at the hands of others and refused the offer of the police matron to give him his breakfast. Sunday night he spent sleepless on cot in the matron's department. He has telegraphed home for money.

Moans His Lost Love.

"I am afraid I shall go crazy," he noaned at the station. "Why did she have b leave me? I was as kind to her as any man could be and I have loved her for three years. The thought that she loved me was what has made me happy. I do not care what becomes of me now."

Mr. Noble now believes that the girl never intended to go with him to Chicago when they left Denver, and is certain that she did not expect to marry him in Omaha. He regrets that he did not make arrange ments to marry her in Denver, although he admits that the opposition of the girl's parents made that plan very difficult of fulfillment. In order to avoid suspicion she had to do her work as saleswoman in a dry goods store Saturday, and Noble had but little chance to talk to her. She thought it was best to be married in Omaha.
