In accordance with his agreement with the mayor and city council Mr Rosewater will be paid $1,500 for making the surveys and the plans for the sewers Small maps showing the routes of the sewers have been furnished each member of Sanitary Inspector Talks.

Some time ago the attention of the city authorities was called to the piles of manure being dumped on stock sards property near the old standpipe. The council directed Frank Jones, the city sanitary inspector, to investigate. In company with Councilman William McCraith and Councilman Klewit the so-called dump was inspected. It was decided by these officials that no nuisance was being committed and the inspector was directed to make a report to the council. In talking of this dump Mr. Jones said: "It is not the odor that is a nuisance but it is the looks of the dump that seems to annoy certain people. There is not a residence within 300 feet of the dump. The smell is not nearly as bad from this pile of stock yards refuse as it is from the glue factories at the packing houses. I have talked with the officers of the stock yards company and they told me that a high board fence was to be built around this property soon. There really is no cause for complaint against the stock vards company for using this ground for dumping refuse from the pens at the yards.' No further attention will be paid to the complaints by the city officials, as the 'incident is considered closed. Filing Expense Accounts.

Under the law all candidates must file an account with the city clerk of expenditures during the campaign. Dr. W. S.

White, a candidate on the democratic ticket for member of the Board of Education, was the first to file. Dr. White declared that his campaign assessment was $75 and that he spent $12.50 for advertising blotters. His total expense was $98.40. Other candidates are expected to file soon, as the law says that such filings must be made within ten days after election. New School Board Members. The recently elected members of the school board, Morrill, Laverty and Schindel,
