don't cinch him because he is a rich man. If you do, you are a mighty mean creature yourself, you are not a good American yourself. Give him a perfectly fair show. If he is a poor man and does his duty help him, stand him up. If he whines about it and says that he ought to be carried, you may just as well make up your mind to drop him then and there.

Every man of us stumbles at times. Every man of us at times needs a helping hand stretched out to him, and shame to any man who will not stretch out that helping hand to his brother lies down you can do mighty little in carrying him. You can help him up, but he has got to walk for himself. The only way in which you can ever really help a man is to help him to help himself.

ever really help a man is to help him to help himself.

That brings me to the second set of people here, whom I have been most especially glad to see and to greet—the children. Judging by the showing that San Antonio has made today San Antonio is all right as regards both quality and quantity. I like your stock. I'm glad that it does not seem likely to die out. In passing through Texas I have been more impressed than by anything else by the evident care you are giving to education, the evident care given to training your children, the school facilities, both for preliminary and for higher education, and the way in which those facilities were being taken advantage of. Of course, it is a mere truism to say that the care of the children is the greatest task of any generation.

Real Duties of Life.

Real Duties of Life.

The worthy life of the nation, or the individual, or the men and for the women, is the life of effort for the things worth striving for, and our whole aim should be not to teach those who are to come after us to shirk difficulties and to strive to have an easy time in life; but that they are to strive to do their duty, whether that duty is hard or not, and to feel that no approval is so great as the approval of doing their duty. Of course that is my conception of the life for the nation as well as for the individual. I am not going to develop my the life for the nation as well as for the individual. I am not going to develop my theory about that. In the first place because I want to keep clear of anything that you might think touches in the faintest degree upon politics and the next place because I believe you know pretty well how I feel, anyway. We have got our duty to ourseives. We must handle ourseives so that no weak power which is behaving itself shall have cause to fear us, and no strong power of any kind shall be able to oppress us or wrong us.

We all believe in the Monroe doctrine. I have a little difficulty in getting some of my friends to accept my interpretation of it, but they will in time, because that interpretation has come to stay. We are building the Panama canal. While that will be a benefit to all the country it will be of most benefit to the gulf states. We nave duties in connection with the great position we have taken. We cannot shirk these duties. We can do them well or do them ill, but do them we must. That is one reason why I want to see a good navy,
and we have a good navy.

I am going to use a simile that I used

one reason why I want to see a good navy, and we have a good navy.

I am going to use a simile that I used a couple of nights ago in Dallas. In the old days in Texas I understand that there used to be a proverb that while you would not generally want a gun at all, if you did want it you wanted it quick and you wanted it awfully bad. That is just the way I feel about the navy. I feel that if we have it the chances are that we will not need it; but that if we do not have it we might need it awfully bad.

Let me thank you again for the attention you have given me; but I cannot begin to express to you how it has touched, how pleased I am by the way you have received me, and I want you to understand that while I think I was a pretty good American when I came to Texas, I am going to leave Texas an even better American.

The character of the cut was similar to that made on the victims of the London "Jack the Ripper." The man under arrest is James Boyne, a club steward. He told the police he was with the woman last night, but said that she had left him and he did not know how she was stabbed. When he was arrested it was found that seven of Boyne's teeth had been knocked out and that one of his eyes had been blackened by a blow.

AGAINST STANDARD SUITS

Independent Dealers in North and South Dakota File Complaints with Railway Commission.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 7.-The fight against the Standard Oil company has been carried into North Dakota by independent oil dealers of St. Paul and Minneapolis. The railroad and warehouse commissioners of North Dakota held a conference today with the Minnesota railroad commissioners at the state capitol, at which the situation was gone over.

The North Dakota commissioners said that a complaint similar to the one filed with the Minnesota commission a few weeks ago by independent dealers had been filed with them and that notices of the complaint will be sent out to railroads. It was also said that a complaint has been filed with the South Dakota commission. Nothing was said as to the possible outcome of the struggle, as the conference was held merely to compare notes and to proceedings assumed considerable of the ascertain what the conditions really are in the two states.

The police now make nocturnal visits to the cemeteries in search for these treasonable mottoes, which are promptly confiscated. But being ignorant, the policemen make curious mistakes. The other day a harmless inscription in Greek, simply expressive of sympathy, was selzed, and on Wednesday a red ribbon attached to a wreath, although on the grave of a well known official, being interpreted by the police as a revolutionary emblem, which they not only cut off, but created so much alarm that a general order was sent out to all venders of mortuary wreaths prohibiting the sale of red ribbons.

The stories of suffering on the part the widows and families of soldiers at the front are attracting general attention and the public demands aid for the sufferers. The local charities are no longer able to cope with the situation. In many places the funds raised for this purpose are entirely exhausted and the provincial papers are filled with pathetic accounts of starving mothers and children begging in the streets.

Hungry Women Beg Bread. At Nishni Novgorod, the palace of the government was besieged by a crowd of hungry women, with babes in their arms, asking for bread. The governor informed the women that he would appoint a com mission to investigate the situation. His reply aroused the ire of the local press. The Viedomostl said: "Always the eternal commission; while it is investigating the women and children will starve."

Socialisi Demonstration. workmen of the village of Smolensk nade a demonstration today, the occasion being the burial of an employe of the Pahl factory, who was killed by policemen a few days ago. Six thousand persons assembled early in the morning in a heavy snowstorm and awaited the funeral procession. There were red flags everywhere and a wreath deposited by socialists on the coffin was inscribed, "Died an innocent victim in the struggle for victory." After the interment revolutionary proclamations were scattered among the people, and a procession was formed, headed by a social ist carrying a banner inscribed: "Death to the czar, the assassin."

At this juncture a large force of military and police interfered, dispersed the mob and seized the wreaths and banners. The workmen did not attempt serious opposition and none was seriously injured.

HON ASMUS BOYSEN

TO ALL WHO ARE INTERESTED

Through these lines I wish to call your attention to the special Act of Congress which passed the House on March 2nd 1905, whereby I exchange my 178,000 acre coal lease which I held with the Shoshone and Arapahoe Indians in Wyoming for 640 acres of mineral lands, containing copper of immense value. Write for my booklet giving the full history of my valuable concess THE ASMUS BOYSEN MINING COM-PANY, incorporated, in the state of Wyoming. Bear in mind, this is one of the greate opportunities ever offered the most skepti cal investor. Write at once.
