A Bride's Calendar,

Marry when the year is new.
Always loving, kind and true.
When February birds do mate,
You may wed nor dread your fate,
If you wed when March winds blow,
Jey and sorrow both you'll know.
Marry in April when you can,
Joy for maiden and for mun.
Marry in the month of May,
You will surely rue the day.
Marry when June roses blow,
Over land and sea you'll go.
They who in July do wed
Must labor always for their bread.
Whosoever wed in August be,
Many changes are sure to see,
Marry in September's shine,
Your living will be rich and fine.
If in October you do marry
Love will come, but riches tarry.
If you wed in bleak November.
Only joy will come, remember.
When December's snows fall fast
Marry and true love will last.

Strive as they will to hide it the Lenten restraint is b. coming irksome to the fashionables; they are beginning to chafe under it-and to do things, anyway. The last seven days have been really full. There has been one really large affair, a half dozen lesser things and no end of luncheons and dinners and the like, besides a lot of downtown suppers after the theater or the band concerts. But Easter will be here in two weeks-it brings a sigh of relief to think of it-and after that, well ,there are a lot of interesting things in the air and if half of them develop society will have plenty to talk about if

HURRY UP!

Everywhere one hears that expression "hurry up!" It is a genuiue Americanism expressive of the "rush" in which we live. Nothing is swift enough for us. We race against steam and lightning and find them slow. We gradge the timegiven to eating, and rush through meals as though life depanded upon our haste. Life does depend on our haste, but not in that sense. Look at the obitnary columns of the papers and see how many prominent men are carried away by "stomach trouble," "acute indigestion" and other related diseases. Their lives have in general been sacrificed to the haste and rush of haste and rush of business which over-looked the fact that food can only nourish the body when digest-ed and assimilated and that the digestive Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Dr. Pieror's Golden Medical Discovery, cures diseases of the stomach and the associated organs of digestion and nutrition. I had taken quantities of medicaises that I must say that Golden Medical Discovery has cored me, and to-day I am stouter than I have been for twenty years. I am new forty-three years old."

The Club Calendar.

MONDAY-Meeting of Daughters of the American Revolution; meeting of the social science department at 3:30; annual meeting of parliamentary practice department, 2:30; annual meeting of Young Women's Christian association.

TUESDAY-Meeting of the department of ethics and philosophy. WEDNESDAY-Meeting of oratory depart-council meeting at Atlantic City

The council meeting at Atlantic City in June ought to be only second in importance to the biernial. Though the meeting is smaller, it is none the less representative of practically all the organizations included in the larger body. It is well that this is so since the advance in the General Federation in the direction of serious national interests has been so rapid that if we depend upon a blennial meeting alone we should seem to be ages behind the times. The growth in the ideals of the General Federation is not to be described simply as progress; it is much more than that and amounts to nothing less than a revolution. A very healthy and a very splendid revolution it is, but it comes none too soon. When a legislative body of the supposed dignity of the United States serate can dely public opinion for two sessions by holding up a measure like the pure food bill it would seem to be time for all organized forces of society to take warning. Continuous sessions would be required to meet such emergencies as this. Nevertheless, the council gives us practically an annual meeting, which is a very different thing from a biennial meeting only, and we should be swift to take advantage of the added power and usefulness which can be secured through making the most of the Atlantic City session. Atlantic City session

The extent to which Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker is giving herself to the work of the General Federation is indicated by the following Rinerary which is hers for the coming two months. Mrs. Decker is a woman of ample means and with no home responsibilities to detain her, but it will be remembered that she declined to accept the presidency of the General Federation until she was able to give its work the time that she considers necessary.
