SHERCLIFFE MUCH WANTED

Oklahoma Sheriff Has Requisition for Him on Murder Charge.

SLIGHT DECLINE IN FRUIT CONDITION

State Superintendent Reports a De mand for School Teachers in Excess of the Supply-Good Places Vacant.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) seems in every way to be good, there is their way to the jail. one thing that is likely to stand in the way of its being issued at once, and that is records in the governor's office here show that Shercliffe was committed to the penftentiary in Utah in May of that same penitentlary there for some time. This accident sustained while in the employ week. Monday before the governor. If there is Tollefson was unloading grain from a railsimply an error in the indictment in giving the date it would seem that Shercliffe would have to go to Oklahoma. The indictment is for murder in the first degree.

Fruit Condition Good. The report of Wesley Greene, secretary of the State Horticultural society, for the month of March shows the condition of fruit to be slightly below that of the month before. The difference, however, is but 1 or 2 per cent. For the most part the condition of all fruit is good. The next report, which will be made a month later, will be on the blossom condition and will be the most important report of the year, as it will tell practically the size of the fruit crop for the year.

School Teachers Scarce. According to Superintendent Riggs there never was a time when school teachers were as scarce in the state as at the present time. He is daily receiving requests that cannot be supplied. vacancies are as much in the high salaried positions as in the lower grades," said Prof. Riggs today. "Estherville, Oskaloosa, Denison, Corning, Mason City, Mount Pleasant and other large places are looking for superintendents and are unable thus far to find men of sufficient ability to fill the positions. The schools now are demanding a more proficient grade of teachers than a few years ago. This, for one thing, accounts for the shortage."

Articles of Incorporation. Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state today by the Shenandoah Knittting Mills company of Shenandoah, with a capital stock of $30,000. The articles are signed by L. L. Lyons, Class Nordstrom, C. W. Schontz, P. H. Wentzer and several others.

Seed Corn Good.

Hon. John Cownie of the Board of Control has completed the test of the seed corn which will be planted at the state institutions. Each institution sent 100 rains from 100 ears of corn. Every grain sent from Clarinda and Independence grew, giving them 100 per cent. The others varied from $4 up to the record made at Clarinda and Independence. Mr. Cownie believes that when the ears are properly selected before planting practically every grain planted will grow.

Teachers' Examinations. Dates for the examinations of teachers to be held by the state board for state certificates were given out today as folslows; Des Moines, June 15, 16, 17; July, 27, 28, 29. The report of Bishop Kelley of the financial standing of the church created much interest, especially that part referring to Graceland college. This report shows that but $4,752.47 remains of debt upen the property, which is valued at over $44,000.

TALKS TO TRAFFIC LEAGUE Judge Grosseup of Chicago Talks on Subject of Corporations at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 8 .- For the first time in the history of the Traffic league the three aspects of railroad traffic were represented tonight in Pittsburg, the greatest tonnage originating point in the world. The occasion was the third annual banquet of the Traffic club of Pittsburg at the Hotel Schenley. Samuel Spencer, whident of the Southern rallway, spoke of railroads; Willis L. King, vice president of the Jones & Laughlins Steel company of friends there. It is thought that there will Pittsburg, represented the interests of the not be a great deal of difficulty in providmanufacturers, and Judge Peter S. Gross-Chicago, upheld the rights of the people, saying in part:

Speaking to the toast, "The Regeneration of the Corporation," Judge Grosscup said in part: We are now well into the fifteenth year since the American people started out, through the Sherman act, and the several state anti-trust acts, to destroy the so-called trusts. Are they destroyed? Are they diminished? Has any one of them, the except from causes arising within itself, been destroyed or diminished? True it is that some of them have been bitted and reined until they are agair; in the highways of the law. Some have never departed from these highways. Some are still at large. But in none that I can recall have been destroyed; none have succumbed to the full length of purpose with which, as a people, we started out to annihilate them. Whatever has been the success of our policy of measurable control, the policy of annihilation has proved a faillure—afat, sheer failure.

The reason of this is not far to seek. A corporation is only the individual multiplied. The so-called trust is nothing but We are now well into the fifteenth year

The reason of this is not far to seek. A corporation is only the individual multipiled. The so-called trust is nothing but the corporation enlarged. In these days, when enterprises have grown so large that no single individual can launch them or keep them going, the only industrial expedient that civilization has yet found of massing and co-ordinating the wealth of the many into one management, unless we accept socialism as a workable means, is the corporation. Socialism has yet to prove itself; so that the corporation is civilization's sole and only way of wielding large masses of capital. As such, as I have many times said, the corporation is here to stay. The large corporation is here to stay. To blind our eyes to this truth is to grope in the mountains in the dark. But you ask me, How can the course of things as they are now going be changed? How can the individual man be brought back into proprietorship? My answer is: Take the corporation at once and forever out of the list of suspects. Put the corporation, as national banks and trust companies are now put, under the supervision and control of law, to the end that it be-and control of law, to the end that it become a faithful steward. Make it, for instance, impossible for the promoters of the street railway, the case I have mentioned, to have diverted from replenishment the earnings that under any honest administration ought to have gong to replenishment. That would have been no stretch of supervision beyond what is exercised now in that of banks, insurance campanies and savings societies; and it would have saved the invester in these street railway securities from the financial morass into which he was led, and the public any cause for justifiable indignation.

Make it impossible to capitalize corporations at figures that can have no purposes other than that of artificial and temporary inflation—an inflation that on collapse leaves the victims holding the bag.

Make impossible the geologic capitalization—the capitalization laid in layers, one on top of the other, the last kept green for a little while only by dividends snatched from the air, or abstracted from the assets, and then, when the object has been attained, allowed to dry up and perish from the earth.

The great heart of the world has always been with the man who works. To him

The great heart of the world has always The great heart of the world has always been with the man who works. To him now, more than at any time in previous history, is turning also the world's great brain. All over our country are springing up examples of labor taken into partnership with capital—examples of the men who create and the multitude who carry out these creations, making common causes. Make it possible to give corporate form and governmental security to this kind of just and helpful industrial affiliation. In short, as I have just said, take kind of just and nespital industrial amilia-tion. In short, as I have just said, take the corporation out of the list of suspects; make it medium of ownership into which the principles of justice enter, and the in-stinct of our people, always alert to help us, man for man, to an individual inde-pendence, will do the rest.

South Omaha has three Ancient Order of United Workmen lodges. No. 66 is the largest, with a membership of 866; No. 227 has 400 members, and No. 328, the last one organized here, has 150 members in good standing.

All meetings of the grand lodge will be held at Workmen temple, Twenty-fifth and M streets. Elaborate badges for delegates are being made and these will be issued to delegates as fast as they arrive. In order to avoid confusion on the date of opening the convention, May 9, the committee on credentials will meet on May 8 and be prepared to make a report when the first session of the convention is called to order South Omaha merchants will be requested to decorate their windows with Ancient Order of United Workmen emblems, and as many of the business men belong to this order the request will doubtless be complied with.

Those in charge of the entertainment of delegates expect that a large number will be accommodated in private families. Some will stop at hotels in Omaha or with ing sleeping accommodations for the visicup of the United States circuit court, tors, but the noon-day lunch and supper will be quite a problem. In order to provide lunch and supper the Degree of Honor proposes opening a restaurant during the time the convention is in session.

The convention is expected to be a great thing for South Omaha, as so many strangers will visit the city. Among the entertainments to be provided will be a banquet at the Exchange hotel. The dining room at the hotel will comfortably seat the delegates and grand officers. Grand lodge officers will be elected at this convention. Jacob Jaskalek has been at the head of the organization for four years and is a candidate for a third term.

at Berlin. BERLIN, April 8.-The speech of the French foreign minister, M. A point of pride appears to be the only actual barrier between Germany and France.
